Members of the Chowan Herald staff have received numerous awards following the judging in the 2003 North Carolina Press Association Best Ad Contest. Formal presentation of the awards will take place during a banquet hosted by the NCPA.

Awards received, and the recipients, were: Second Place, Best Full Color Real Estate Ad (for United Country Real Estate) sold by Mia Noble and designed by Debbie Collins; Second Place, Best Full Color Food Ad (for Family Foods/IGA) sold by Mia Noble and designed by David Taylor; Second Place, Best Spot Color Restaurant/Entertainment Ad (for Mario's Italian Restaurant) sold by Zenetta Purvis and designed by David Taylor; Third Place, Best Full Color Home Furnishings and Appliances Ad (for Edenton Furniture Company) sold by Mia Noble and designed by Debbie Collins.

"I am so very proud to see our talented ad and graphics staffs receive this prestigious recognition among community newspapers in this statewide competition," said Publisher David Crawley. "We invite and encourage interested area businesses to contact us today and let us help them with all their advertising needs."

Chowan Night at 'Colony' set

MANTEO, NC—Friday and Saturday nights, July 18-19, have been designated as Chowan and Gates County nights at The Lost Colony outdoor symphonic drama. Residents of the two counties will receive a 25 percent discount on adult general admission tickets for performances on these nights. Children get in for half price every Friday and Saturday.

Discount tickets are available only through the box office at Fort Raleigh National Historic Site near Manteo on Roanoke Island. Pasquotank and Perquimans residents can call (252) 473-3414 or purchase tickets at the box office which is open from 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. show time. Purchasers should request the discount and will be asked for their address to confirm county of residency.

Years ago The Lost Colony offered special nights for counties across North Carolina. This season the practice is being revived.

The drama is performed nightly, except Sundays, at Waterside Theatre which opens at 7:30 p.m. Show starts at 8:30 p.m.

Lawrence earns honors

Lindsey L. Lawrence, son of Larry and Angela Lawrence of Edenton, has been chosen to receive a number academic honors.

First, he has been nominated for inclusion in Who's Who Among American High School Students, 2002/2003 in recognition of his "consistent commitment to excellence". The nomination allows Lawrence, a rising junior at John A. Holmes High School in Edenton, to qualify for one of 127 scholarships totaling over $200,000. His biography will be published this fall in Who's Who.

"For over 36 years, Who's Who Among American High School Students has been recognized as a reliable herald of future success," said Parke H. Davis, chairman of National Academic Affairs for Who's Who. "The great majority of honorees have gone on to distinguish themselves first in college and then in their careers and throughout their lives."

Lawrence has also been selected to attend a 2003 Congress-

sional Student Leadership Conference. Chris M. Salamone, executive director of the Congressional Student Leadership Conference, noted in Lawrence's acceptance letter that "By attending the Congressional Student Leadership Conference, you will join other outstanding student leaders from high schools across the country and around the world for an experience in leadership unlike any other."

He went to to say that the CSLC "offers a diverse curriculum of academic-based leadership programs presented by a distinguished faculty of university and graduate level professors and scholars. "At the CSLC," Salamone noted, "you'll have the opportunity to delve into a particular field of study, engage in thought-provoking simulations and attend special briefings and lectures by prominent leaders in each field."
