ACES

burly 'Canes pushed forward aggressively, repeatedly applying pressure in Edenton's red zone. The Aces generated dangerous counterattacks; but the Red and Black drew first blood with a sixteen yard lazer by Victor Caldera in the fifth minute.

But the Aces drew even at 12 minutes with an elegant finish by Marsel Zidan on a ball played through by Jovanni Plata. A few minutes later Marsel again earned a chance, sprinting onto a ball slid through by Jonathan Salinas, and finishing sweetly to provide the first Aces' lead. In the 20th minute a surgical strike from 14 yards by Jonathan "the Cobra" Bermudez, on a deft assist from Zidan, provided a little breathing room.

But the Aces struggled throughout the first half with the 'Canes' physical prowess. The Red and Black brought a distinct advantage which they leveraged often and threateningly. The 'Canes' Victor Caldera and Jose Cirisa, in addition to physicality, possess superb close control, the capacity to hold the ball in congestion, and a cannon shot that was unleashed dangerously and often. Caldera, with a howitzer on a quick turn from 22 yards, pulled Hatteras back to a one goal differential at the 34th minute.

"Our only half time adjustment was to emphasize the old 'pressure, cover, balance' system to our interior middies," said Coach Tom DiMartino. "Our middies were getting too flat, just a straight line across the field. So when the ball changed, we didn't have a deep middle to help on the defensive side, and were outgunned on Hatteras' breaks. And on offense, we didn't have the depth we need to possess and swing the ball and change the point of attack. And we told the boys to remember what the game feels like when it's fun; when we're binging the ball with one or two touches, moving the ball quickly and sharing it."

The second stanza opened brightly for Los Lobos, with a couple of minutes of good ball movement, possession, and pressure in the Canes' end. But then, lightning struck from a blue sky; and on a quick counter Victor Caldera sprinted the field, held off his mark with strength, and finished a rocket off the right foot to collect his hat trick, and level the count at 3-3.

The Aces, unrattled, began the demolition of the Canes. In the 43rd minute Marsel put Los Lobos ahead to stay, assisted by "Cobra" Bermudez. After ten more minutes of relentless pressure in the Red and Black's end, Marsel returned the favor. On perhaps our most beautiful goal of the season, after a lovely and sustained build-up and a deft assist from Marsel, the Cobra drove a bender just inside the right post to stretch the lead to 5-3.

There was no looking back. Throughout the rest of the second stanza Los Lobos dictated the flow of play, unleashed 15 shots, notched five more goals, and cleared the bench. Zidan tallied twice more and Hutch Winborne drove one home from eight yards to complete the count: Aces 8, Hatteras 3.

and it kind of keeps growing," Lee said. He noted that his wife worked with what is now PNC Bank for 41 years.

Besides flowers, the couple enjoys traveling to find unique pieces to fill their shop. Some are new, while others are "gently loved" items from yard sales that the couple cleans up and repairs.

"We put whatever pieces we find that are unique in the store," Lee said. "We find them all over the place. We love to get out and look for things. We love to do a lot of thrifting and yard sales."

The furniture acts as way to showcase Bass' beautiful floral arrangements. The walls are lined with saddles for all seasons in colorful shades of red and blue, as well as door hangers and fall-themed wreaths and garlands.

"We've already got a lot of things for the holiday," he said. "So when the fall season is over, all of this will become Christmas."

The store is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and by appointment.

"My wife and I wanted something that wouldn't tie us down. So that's why we offer phone appointments. We're really flexible."

The store also features the handiwork of one of the Bass' three grandchildren, Kailee Chappell, 17; of Tyner, who runs Kailee's Threads.

Bass noted that the business, which has been open for about two months, has been blessed, after noting a door hanger with the initials RLB.

"We were in Greenville walking around and went into this shop. I found this hanging and those are my initials. My wife said she knew it was going to go home with us right then. A lot of things were given to us," Bass said while pointing to the store's front counter. "The Lord has really blessed it."

floral arrangement that decorated the altar at St. Paul's Episcopal Church on Sunday. According to the church bulletin, the flowers were given to the "Glory of God and honoring all those married 49 years or more and who would do it again." I like that sentiment.

Walk for Hunger starts at 2 p.m. Sunday; begins and finishes at Colonial Park. Funds/donations raised support the Edenton-Chowan Food Pantry.

D.F. Walker Principal Michelle White played the flute Monday - "Joy to the World" - as the kids walked to their classes at the start of the day. A multi-talented educator, White's performance brightened the day for students, staff and parents alike.

Superintendent Rob Jackson and Assistant Superintendent Michael Sasser bicycled the length and breadth of Chowan County on Sunday - 80 miles. That's inspiring.

And Carlos Carrera ran the Crawlin' Crab Half Marathon on Sunday. He finished 124th overall with a time of 1 hour, 47 minutes. That too is inspiring. Carrera even ran a few miles on Monday morning with the F3 group - that's stamina.

Granville Queen Inn, that most impressive bed and breakfast, is poised to close its doors in January. Located at the corner of S. Granville and W. Queen, the inn is one of the crown jewels of Edenton thanks to the loving care from its owners, Robert and Eula Beasley. Story is developing, so more on this in a future edition.

Metanoia - a transformative change of heart; especially: A spiritual conversion.

On that note, my two young sons and I are running a few mornings a week - dark o'clock early - with a group known as F3, which stands for Fitness, Fellowship and Faith. It's a good workout that mentally focuses the mind and soul not only the day ahead, but life itself.

Mary Baker passed away Oct. 2 - she was that nice lady who worked at Blount's Mutual Drugs. RIP.

Speaking of drug stores, John Mitchener, a longtime pharmacist, now retired, talked to me Sunday about the end slices on a loaf of bread. He said some folks throw them away. I said that's crazy. I was raised by my great-grandmother who endured the Great Depression. Throwing perfectly good bread away was not something she or I would do.

Mitchener said his father, John, also a pharmacist, would use the ends of the bread to make a cheese sandwich at the family pharmacy. Think I'll have a cheese sandwich for dinner.

Spoke to Mitchell Ayers before the Peanut Festival parade Saturday morning. He designed the new multi-million dollar addition at Regulator Marine. Smart man. His daughter Carolyn was in the parade.

Also spoke to Hal Burns of Jimbos Jumbos fame at the parade. He told me and my 8-year-old son Joseph about a spot on King Street next to the wall where you can create an echo. Thus my son and his enabler, me, yelled at the walls to make echoes.

Nice! People probably thought we were crazy, and there might be some truth to that.

On that note, if you see me muttering to myself at various intersections, it is because I'm practicing my story-telling so as to be prepared for the Historic Edenton Ghost Walk. Tour is scheduled for 6:15-8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Oct. 18-19, walking tours every 15 minutes, Golf Cart Tours at 6:15, 7:15, 8:15. Ghost Harbor Brew is a sponsor offering selections of itscraft brew for purchase once returning from the tour. The Friends of Historic Edenton State Historic Site will also offer wine, s'mores and hot chocolate selections for purchase as well.

Funds raised for programming, costuming and enhancements of the buildings and grounds. Tickets available from the Visitor Center, 108 N. Broad St., 252-482-2637 - $10 walking tours and $20 for the golf cart.

A family-friendly haunting event!

the recent storm waters had done to the weeping cherry tree and recommended the Club wait until the following spring to see if it would survive. Last year, the huge tree in the center of the garden died. The town graciously cut it off at ground level, rather than dig it up and ruin the garden.

In the past few months, the combination of a hail storm and Hurricane Dorian left many of the plants in disrepair, some beyond salvation. Susan Creighton is working with Carol Becker and Terry Jordan, the groundskeeper the club hired to do the heavy lifting, to make the necessary repairs. Susan says to look for more roses and fewer ferns, as many of them were completely destroyed.

The Celebration Garden has been a labor of love for these women, who have asked nothing in return, save people respect and appreciate the space that has been created. These same women also are responsible for financing and creating the authentic Colonial-era decorations that can be seen at the Cupola House, Old Courthouse and the Penelope Barker Welcome Center each year for the Christmas Candlelight Tour.

The Garden of Eden Garden Club is fully funded from member dues and a highly anticipated annual fundraiser, which is taking place this year on Nov. 5. Randy Ouzts, a florist and floral designer in Gastonia and Blowing Rock, has been featured in Flower Magazine, House Beautiful, Southern Living and Southern Accents. He will present holiday designs for the theme, Home for the Holidays. The program will include lunch and a pop-up floral shop at St. Paul's Parish Hall. Tickets costs $30 a piece and are available at the Penelope Barker House Welcome Center. When you go by to get your ticket, be sure to take an extra minute to stop by and enjoy the Celebration Garden.

Joy Harvill is president of the Garden of Eden Garden Club.

Thank You!

We would like to thank everyone who donated, worked, or helped in any way with our Jim "Catfish" Hunter ALS Walk on September 28th and The Jim "Catfish" Hunter ALS Softball Tournament on September 27th - 29th, 2019.

Thanks to the Sheriff's Department and Sheriff Shelby White and the Police Department for leading and getting us safely through the walk. Thanks to the Rescue Squad also. We want to thank the Perquimans County Board of Education, Superintendent Tanya Turner of Perquimans County Schools, and Wayne Price, Principal of Perquimans High School for letting us use the school facilities. Thanks to Donald and Dina Hurdle and Ashley and Brad Stoop for all their hard work for the walk and breakfast. Our breakfast Sausage links are donated by Hickory Cross Poultry and are so delicious. Many thanks to the ones who let us use their golf carts. Thank you to all of my helpers at the walk.

We had approximately 250 walkers and raised over $23,000.00 this year, with more coming in. Thank you Team Captains for getting your walkers on your team and being there for ALS each year. Many thanks to all of our walkers and ALS patients who turned out for the walk. A special thanks goes to all of our T-Shirt Sponsors, Planters Ridge for donating the flowers for the walk, and the Perquimans Weekly for their coverage of the walk. Thank you Billy Elliott for the beautiful sunflowers. Thanks to Patricia Benton who made lap quilts for each ALS patient that meets each month.

Thanks to everyone who baked, played, helped or donated to the ALS Softball Tournament. Captain Bob's did a great job with the lunch meal on Friday. The Umpires deserve many thanks for volunteering their time. Joan Hunter, Guy Webb, Keith Rountree, Derek & Crystal Spruill and all others did a great job. Thanks to all the ball teams and their sponsors for playing ball. My daughter Kim Hunter Daugherty was truly missed at the softball tournament and also when she passed out flowers at the ALS walk.

We could not have raised the money for our Walk without such a caring, sharing group of people in our area, and all over the United States.

Our money we raise from the Walk and The Softball Tournament will help support the ALS Clinic in Greenville, help with ALS patient's needs, wheelchair, lifts and help with Research.

We are thankful that Billy Baker, James Hall, Jan Freeman, Jimmy Baker, and Sherri Trueblood who are battling ALS were there to cut the ribbon for our walk along with their spouses, Lynn Burnham, Wallace Elliott, Lorraine Sadler, Fred Tanner and Billy Williams families were there to walk in memory of their loved ones. Our prayers go out to all ALS Patients and their caregivers. We lost James Hall who was at the walk on October 3rd to ALS. Pray for his wife Annie Rae & Family.

My family and I feel so blessed to be living in such a great area with such caring and loving people. Let us all pray for a Cause and Cure to be found for this terrible disease.

God Bless Each Of You!!
