This year's homes are:

■ 505 S. Broad St.: This 18th century home was built and enlarged, circa 1761-1782. Noted attorney and representative for the colony to the British Parliament, Thomas Baker, and his wife, Penelope, political activist of "Edenton Tea Party" fame, were the owners. Now the home of the Edenton Historical Commission, the home serves as the town's Welcome Center. Special, free transportation will be available at the house during the tours.

■ 219 W. Eden St.: This 20th century home, circa 1925, is appointed to its period with fixtures and decor with a 1920's feel, including Calvin Coolidge in the entryway! Mr. and Mrs. Brian Towers moved to Edenton a year ago and are eager to share their home with visitors.

■ 202 W. Eden St.: Christmas in this 20th century, gable-front home (mid-1920s) with its front garden is as comfortable, and famous, for welcome trick-or-treaters as it is for welcoming Saint Nick. Throughout the childhood of the owners' children, creche and nutcracker collections were lovingly acquired.

■ 214 W. Eden St.: This 18th century home was built for sea captain William Borritz in 1787. Now, in 2019, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Sykes are sharing their Christmas with the Tour and with their newest grandchild.

■ 104 Pembroke Circle: Moving from the 18th century, travel to the 20th century neighborhood of Pembroke Circle. Developed in the 1940s as housing for officers stationed at Edenton's Marine Corps Airbase, many of the houses still exist and are adapted to 21st century living. Such is this home of Mrs. Gretna Tortone.

■ 107 Pembroke Circle: Built in the 21st century (2009) to replace a Marine officer home, Christmas is always a treat in this house. Dr. and Mrs. Skip Hope and
