THE ELECTIONS.

NEW YORK GOES TO FLOWER AND M'KINLEY GETS OHIO

The Returns From Other States -- An Ideal Election Day.

NEW YORK. Wednesday's dispatches from New York state that both sides are claiming the legislature, but the democrats have the best of the claim. The Sun's returns show 17 democratic sensturs and 15 republicans; 65 democratic assemblymen and 68 republicans, a majority of 5 on joint ballot. Flower's plurality has reached 45,000. The Herald estimates Flower's plurality over Fassett at 46,446. Sheehan's estimated plurality over Vrooman for lieutenant governor is 80,246. The Herald's estimate also gives the senate 17 republicans, 15 democrats; assembly 69 republicans, 59 democrats, or 12 majority. Reports received by Associated Press up to 1 o'clock a. m. indicate that the state senate will stand 17 republicans to 15 democrats and 64 democrats and 64 republicans in the assembly.

CINCINNATI, November 3 .- The day has been, in many respects, an ideal election day. Here in Cincinnati it has been cloudy, cool and bracing, with fine flakes of snow toward evening. Everything has been quiet. There has been an absence of rioting and polling place disturbances such as have characterized Cincinnati elections in the past, and all on account of the new system of voting. The only tickets are those in possession of the judges, and a voter is given one only when he is found duly registered. Conservative citizen of all parties are loud in their praises of the new system. From all over the state come favorable reports of the workings of the system, republicans praising it as well a democrats, and that, too, in spite of the loud an-nouncements of the republican organs that the kangaroo ballot must go. Latest returns give the state to McKinley by 15,000 plurality.

PENNSYLVANIA. A Philadelphia dispatch of Wednesday says: Complete returns from 53 of the 67 counties in the state, including Philadelphia and Allegheny, and careful estimates for the other 14 counties, show a plurality of 56,648 for Gregg, republican, for auditor general. The proposition for a constitutional convention was overwhelmingly defeated.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., November 3 .- Dispatches received from all parts of Kansas show that an orderly and closely contested election is in progress. Perhaps never in the history of the state has the situation been more complicated. The republicans are thoroughly aroused and fighting the people's party hard. While there are no state officers to be elected, yet in judicial districts and counties party lines are closely defined, and the fight is waged on the general principles of the people's party and republican doctrines. The democrats have no hope of success, except where they have fused with the people's party, and the contest with them is more for organization than office.

A dispatch from Topeka says: The elections in Kansas Tuesday resulted in an overwhelming victory for the republicans. Four county officers were elected in each of the 106 counties. The latest returns show that out of this total, 424 officers, the advance people's party has not elected more than 60. . Lust year the same number of county officers were electsecured 112. The people's party elected 1 out of 10 district judges, and that in a district where two republicans claimed the nomination and remained in the field.

COLOBADO. The weather was warm and cloudy, and the election was, beyond all question, the most peaceful ever held in Denver. Considering the fact that this is an off year, and that the Australian system which went into effect had disfranchised colonies, yet the vote cast was a surprisingly heavy one. There were five tickets in the field-democratic, republican, prohibition, people's party and people's non-partisan party, the two first polling a vote, the other three having little show. No state officers were voted for except chief justice of the supreme court, and but little scratching was done, and that entirely among names for local of-

MASSACHUSETTS. Boston, November 3 .- Returns from the polls in the city proper this morning give but little indication of the large increase reported in the registration. All points report the polling to be steadily going on, without any unusual excitement or manifestation of interest. The various election officers state that the voting this year is being done much more orderly and with greater rapidity than last year, showing that the citizens have become accustomed to the techni-

TRENTON, N. J., November 8 .- Dem ocrats will have a majority in both branches of the legislature. At political headquarters of the democrats in this city the claim is made that democratic senators have been cle cted in Hudson, Hunterdon, Middlesex and Sussex counties. The democrats also claim to have elected forty assemblymen in the state. Returns up to 1 o'clock this morning indicate the election of the democratic senstorial ticket in New Jersey, and 41 out of 60 assemblymen. This will give the democrats a majority of 33 on joint ballot, probably the largest majority ever held by either party in the legislature.

United States senator in the place of Wilson, deceased.

DES MOINES, IA., November 3.-The most exciting state election in the history of Iowa has closed. Both sides have remained very confident throughout the contest. In Des Moines the democrats commenced firing cannon before a single precinct had finished balloting. The republicans were not as demonstrative, but ust as confident of victory. It is conceded the election will be close. The most remarkable things is the increase of the vote over last year and two years ago. All reports received indicate the heaviest vote ever cast in the state. The weather has been disagreeable in many parts of the state, but it has probably not dimnished the vote. Latest returns indicate that Boies's majority will be about 2,500. NEBRASKA.

Dispatches from Omaha say: Returns from the city and state are still very meager, but careful estimates give Post, republican candidate for supreme judge, 6,000 m jority over Edgerton, iudependent-people. The entire republican city and county ticket is elected by majorities of 2,000 to 2,500.

VIRGINIA. RICHMOND, VA., November 3,-While the weather has been favorable for the election, indications are that a small vote was polled in this state to-day for menibers of the legislature. But meager re-turns have been received, all of which are favorable to the democrats. The cities of Richmond, Danville, Petersburg, Norfolk, Portsmouth and Fredericksburg elect democrats without opposition.

SOUTH DAKOTA. At midnight the election of Jolley, republican, to congress, in South Dakota conceded and it becomes simply a question of plurality. A very light vote was cast, threshing being of greater

MARYLAND

BALTIMORE, November 3.-Frank Brown, democratic candidate for governor, has a majority of between 15,000, and 20,000, as figured out at democratic headquarters. The regular domocracy claim to have elected their entire Baltimore city ticket by an average of 5,000 majority.

MICHIGAN.

Estimates based on the returns so far received give the republicans a sweeping victory at Grand Rapids. Belknap, republican candidate for the fifth congressional district, will be returned by 1,200 to 1.500 majority.

Returns are slow, but present indications are that the republicans will elect their Detroit city ticket by a large majority. Mayor Pingree, republican candidate, will run considerably shead of where elections are being held to-day | the rest of the ticket. The republicans will also elect 15 out of 16 aldermen.

BUSINESS REVIEW.

The Cutlook as Reported by Dun & Co., for Past Week.

Dun's review of trade for week ending October 30th, says: Business failures during the past seven days number for the United States 207, Canada, 48, compared with a total of 249 last week and 259 the week previous; the corresponding week last year, 218, representing 190 failures in the United States and 28 in Canada.

Improvement in business continues. It is greater than before at the west, considerable at the south, and is clearly perceived even at the e st. Yet discouragement in some branches of industry is not less, but more apparent than before, evidently because calculations have been made upon a more rapid and greater increase in business than has been realized. ed in the state, and the republicans only | The peculiar expansion in some forms of production and of trade has invited the usual incorrect view, and depression exists which is so general that it might easily be misinterpreted.

The iron industry shows most change for following the large increase of output last mouth, there has come a decided change of tone. Extreme anxiety to sell pig iron, and financial weakness in unexpected quarters produce the present depression, which is in curious contrast with the abounding confidence which prevails ragarding the future. Plate mills have a fair business at the lowest prices ever recorded, and structural iron is irregular and also very low. The authracite coal market is more cheerful, the production to October 24th being $1,608,975 tons, or 3,059,447 more than last year to date.

. The dress goods market is active and works well employed, though narrow margins of profit. Cotton mills have an increasing business in fancies, but the trade in staples is falling off and buyers urge that lower prices are justified by the decline in raw cotton. Yet the southern demand is better and trade, on the whole, fairly good.

Reports from other cities than New York are decidedly more encouraging than usual, though at the east the improvement is not rapid. At most southern points general trade improves, but at Charleston money is tight. Wheat rises I cents without any excuse. Throughout the East and West, and at most Southern points, the money markets are well supolied for legitimate business, and rates tend lower, while collections improve to some extent almost everywhere, but especially at the principal Western points.

Callan, democrat, was defeated for the assembly in Hunterdon. Martin, democrat, was elected to the senate in the same county by 500 votes.

MARTLAND.

BALTIMORE, November 3.—Election day being a legal holiday, the banks, exchanges, markets and municipal and state government offices are closed. Many wholessale establishments and retail houses are also closed. The city wears quite a holiday appearance. The election p oceeded zealously and quietly.

Recurns thus far (18.30 a. m.) are very incomplete, but are sufficient to ahow that the entire democratic state ticket and county tickets are elected by increased majorities over the vote of two years ago. # CONVICTS FREED

THE MINERS GET IN THEIR WORK AT BRICEVILLE

By Swooping Down Upon the Stockade and Liberating the Occupants. A Knoxville, Tenn., dispatch says: At an early hour Friday night an attempt was made to get through a business message to Briceville. There was no response to the telegraphic signal. Then the next station, and the next was tried. until at last Clinton responded. The operator there was asked what was the matter. He looked out in the direction of Briceville, and at once replied: "I see a great light, as of an immense fire, reflected in the sky. The wire to Brice-ville is cut, and I can't call it up."

At once the suspicion arose, a moment later to be strengthened into conviction -the miners had cut the wires and taken possession. Intense excitement prevailed. A telegram from Clinton read: "Three thousand miners had gathered around among the hills during the day. As darkness came on they gathered in little parties, these parties joining each other, until four parties were formed. As by a preconcerted signal they closed in upoa the camp.

They were halted by a guard, but he was quickly silenced by the command: "There are $1000 of us here: We have come for business. Call out your boss at once and let us settle this affair." By this time there were a number of the officers of the camp on hand. They were disposed to resist. The discharge of a thousand shots in the air convinced them that the call was serious. The messenger blew a policeman's whistle, and, in a minute, coming in at a double quick, there were in sight hundreds of brawny, determined-looking men. Not a word did they say, but they had their Winchester rifles in readiness. Reluctantly the officers stepped out of the way.

The liberators came from every direction, and, assembled in force, marched on the stockade. Their first act was to blow up the magazine; the uprights of the stockade were knocked off. Then began a scene which beggars description. The 150 convicts, who had been awakened by the shots, were terrorized. They were screaming for mercy, fearing that the mob intended to kill them. The miners closed in within a circle of about one hundred feet from the stockade. A detail was sent in, and the work of breaking the shackles began. As fast as they were freed they were told in no upcertain language, to get out, and it is needless to say, they skipped out with alacrity. There was a large quantity of citizens' clothes near by, which many of them donned. When the last prisoner was free the torch was applied to the stockade, which, with the exception of the north wall and the rifle pit, was reduced to ashes. Ten eight-room houses and a large dining hall inside of the enclosure went in the general conflagration. At the lower end of the Coal Creek stockade the office building was burned and the guard "shacks" demolished. The interior of the convicts' dining hall, sleeping room, hospital ward and kitchen were filled with broken furniture, shattered glass and queensware. The store of the warden, Jack Chumley, was rifled, and about fifteen hundred dollars' worth of goods taken and de-

ANOTHER ACCOUNT. The citizens in Bricveille began to hear squads of men passing through the place on their way to the stockades between eight and nine o'clock Friday night. This was kept up for nearly an hour. It was about 9:80 o'clock when 200 men descended Walden's ridge, approaching the stockade from the east. They called upon Warden Cross to deliver them the keys of the prison. While this was going on, the magazine was blown up, and the stockade surrounded by 2,500 men. Cross gave up the keys, and when the 141 vonvicts were released, they assisted in burning and destroying the property.

TO THE CHUMLEY MINE. The attacking party then moved on the Chumley or Coal Creek stockade, and a halt was made near there. Twentyfive men were sent forward to demand the surrender of the convicts. The men kept up continuous volleys from their Winchesters. Only one guard was on duty, and he lost no time in obeying. The convicts were told to go, and many ot them, as at Briceville, were given citizen's clothes. When the convicts were liberated they plundered Chumley's store and destroyed the stockade furniture. The office building was accidently set on fire by the overturning of a stove. The mob then descended to the valley, where fired a small cannon they had with them. The racket occasioned by these discharges, together with the explosion of the ammunition stored at the Briceville stockade, which the fire touched off created the impression among non-pasticipants that a small war was in progres. This, however, was not the case, as there was not a single shot fired at any man or any parsonal violence.
