MAY PROVE FATAL

WHEN WILL MURPHY PEOPLE LEARN THE IMPORTANCE OF IT?

Backache is only a simple thing at first;

But if you find it's from the kidneys;

That serious kidney trouble may follow;

That dropsy or Bright's disease may be the fatal end.

You will be glad to know the following experience.

'Tis the honest statement of a resident of this locality.

S. A. England, retired farmer, Brevard, N. C., says: "I am glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, for they did me a lot of good some years ago. I was troubled with the too frequent action of my kidneys. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I used a few and they made me feel a great deal better."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same kind that Mr. England had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—adv.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

We, the members of the Ladies' Aid Society of Hayesville Church, wish to express our sorrow in the loss of one of our oldest and best loved members, Mrs. Josephine Ketrone Anderson.

She died as she lived, strong in her faith. Through all her suffering she manifested a beautiful Christian spirit, and the light of her life will continue to shine through all eternity.

We miss her greatly but as we know "He doeth all things well," we resolve:

First, that we bow in humble submission to the will of the Father who cares for us here below.

Second, that remembering her life while here with us shall strengthen us to greater endeavor in His cause.

Third, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the North Carolina Christian Advocate, The Cherokee Scout, and to the bereaved family; also that same be recorded in the minutes of our society.

MRS. GEO. THOMPSON, MRS. B. N. HAIGLER, MRS. W. B. PAS.

One of the big puzzles in Washington now is: "Where does Coolidge stand on the World Court?" It has been generally believed, though nothing official was forthcoming from the White House, that the President intended to give almost complete approval of the Harding-Hughes proposal to take the United States into the court on an equal footing with the members of the League of Nations, but some doubt has been cast upon this view by the apparently authoritative statement by one correspondent that Coolidge has "dropped" the world court plan. Even if the President has decided to let the world court slide into the discard as far as this country is concerned, he is not expected to let his position be known until Congress meets in December. Coolidge likes to stay as far away from trouble as he can, and he knows that the world court issue is loaded with political dynamite that might blow him back into private life.

It has been bruted about again, and denied from all sides, that Secretary of the Navy Denby is to leave the Cabinet. In reliable informed circles the statement is made that Denby's resignation is to take place in the near future, and that reports of his immediate retirement are to be described as premature, rather than inaccurate or incorrect.

Publicity given to plans of the administration to help out the farmers had the effect of causing Wall Street to sit up and come to the conclusion that there must be something wrong with the agricultural situation after all. Both President Coolidge and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon hastened, however, to let it be known that there was nothing fundamentally wrong with the country economically and that everything was going to turn out all right, despite the present depression. They believe that there has been too much "calamity howling," and that improvement in the general economic situation will be effected easier by buckling down and working than by talking about "hardtimes"

Secretary Mellon likewise believes that there will not be any so-called radical legislation in the next Congress. There is no way of determining Mellon's basis for this belief, but here is the way one Congressman, who holds the same view, explained it to me: He figures that the Republicans, despite their small pluralities in the House and Senate, will be able to so completely control the major committees that it will be extremely difficult to get both houses to agree to any piece of legislation that is not all wool and a yard wide. This will be accomplished through the control of the joint conference committees which meet in secret to put bills in shape for final enactment after they have passed. There is nothing particularly new in such procedure. It has been the rule for many years, but the only difference for the next two years will be that the check-mating process will have to be done with greater efficiency and watchfulness.

Prominent citizens who never took a drink in their lives and prominent citizens who are always looking for a drink (and seldom getting it) are flocking into town to see what happens during the two prohibition conferences which are about to get under way here. The first conference is a private affair, which will be attended by religious and civic leaders who will fight any attempt to repeal or liberalize the Volstead Act. The second conference has been called by President Coolidge to map out plans for stricter enforcement of the dry law through co-operation between the States and the Federal Government. Revenue Officials To Collect Back Taxes

Investigations conducted by field deputies of the Internal Revenue Service indicate that hundreds of taxpayers have neglected, unintentionally or otherwise, to include as income in their returns for 1919, 1920, 1921 and 1922, profits realized from the sale of real estate, according to the Bureau which several weeks ago ordered a rigid probe to be made of suspected evasions of income regulations.

In order to close up the Government tax net, the Collector has ordered that a transcript be made of all doubtful transfers. A careful investigation will be made of all these files, to determine whether or not the sales involved have been reported upon in income tax returns. It is suggested that all persons who failed to include the profit realized from real estate sales call at the Collector's office or file amended returns, as it is the policy of the revenue department not to assert heavy penalties when the disclosures of income are voluntarily made by taxpayers.

It is believed that the failure of many taxpayers to include real estate in their returns was due to an erroneous interpretation of the income tax laws, and to misleading publicity that was given out prior to the ruling of the United States Supreme Court, upholding that such gains were taxable income under the revenue laws.

It will be greatly to each taxpayer's advantage to find if profits from real estate sales were omitted and make correct "amended returns" before the records in each county are searched. This will save the taxpayer heavy penalties and in many case court procedure.

problem, the state governors whom the President has invited to come to Washington will discuss the immigration and dope questions. (Copyright, 1923, Moss Fea. Syn.)

Rigid Food Control For City of Dublin

London, Oct. 10.—The belief that Dublin is to be put under rigid food control is expressed by the Dublin correspondent of the Morning Post. He says the establishment of fixed prices for food and perhaps for other commodities is almost certain to come about as a result of the deadlock between capital and labor, which is forcing industry to a standstill.

The correspondent adds that there is no scarcity of food in Dublin and that rationing is unnecessary, but everything is so dear that it seems to be no alternative compulsory regulation.

Limestone plants are taxed so you do take care of September orders. Farmers, who are improving their lands by growing clovers should give orders for limestone as early as possible.

A Wish "I HAVE TAKEN Cardui for run-down, worn-out condition, nervousness and sleeplessness, and I was weak too," says Mrs. Silvie Estes, of Jennings, Okla. "Cardui did me just lots of good—so much that I gave it to my daughter. She complained of a soreness in her sides and back. She took three bottles of Cardui and her condition was much better. "We have lived here, near Jennings, for 26 years, and now we have our own home in town. I have had to work pretty hard, as this country wasn't built up, and it made it hard on us. "I WISH I could tell weak women of Cardui—the medicine that helped give me the strength to go on and do my work." This card fulfills her wish. CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

"How's that float in the carburetor?" Trust this live experience! Say "Polarine" —not just "a quart of oil" ONE of the drivers reported a falling off in gasoline mileage. Come to find out, as the experienced Fleet Boss promptly suggested, the float in the carburetor wasn't set properly. When the level was changed 1/16 of an inch, without making any other adjustments, the driver got 2 more miles per gallon out of his gasoline. The superintendents who have charge of making Polarine have spent the better part of their lives in the refinery. When you use Polarine, your motor gets the benefit of their long experience, as well as that of a splendid staff of chemists and practical lubricating engineers.
