Chic Current Style

Every woman who aspires to owning a youthful chic wrap has only to choose the handsome box coat pictured here. The design cannot be improved upon. It is made of astrakhan cloth in two colors, but might be copied in a different fur fabric and be equally handsome. The huge, fine buttons are used for ornament, and the smaller ones for fastening.

Rich Millinery for Matrons

In gorgeous velvets and glowing colors these handsome hats, for matrons, express the dignity, poise and sophistication that enrich middle life. The hat at the top is skillfully draped with Lyons velvet, extended into loops, and finished with long, decorative pins. Pamine velvet and brocaded silk are combined in the other hat, making a harmonious background for an ornament of iridescent sequins.

Unique Street Costume

The demand is for individual styles in ready-to-wear clothes, and it is answered by such rich and unique street costumes as that pictured here. This is a skirt and coat combination of a new sort—made of blue twill—the skirt ankle length and plain, and the mandarin coat heavily embroidered in colored silks.

ALLEGED BURGLAR GETS NEW TRIAL

COURT HOLDS THAT DRUNKEN NEGRO COULD NOT HAVE NECESSARY INTENT.

OPINIONS OF SUPREME COURT

Case of Bank of Varina Against N. L. Shearon Goes Back For New Trial.

Raleigh. Omission of degrees of guilt in the court's charge to jury brought an order from the supreme court for a new trial for James Allen, 18-year-old negro sentenced to the electric chair in Franklin county superior court last May for first degree burglary.

Justice Stacy, writing the majority opinion for the court, finds reason to justify a higher degree in the case of intoxication and Chief Justice Clark, dissenting vigorously opposes this attitude.

"Without the ulterior felonious intent," writes Justice Stacy, "the crime of burglary as charged would not be complete, and if the prisoner, without any prior criminal intent, were so drunk at the time as not to know where he was or what he was doing, and had no intention of committing a felony in the dwelling house, as alleged, whatever his offense, he would not be guilty of burglary in the first degree because of the absence of an essential ingredient of the crime."

Chief Justice Clark declared, on the other hand, that if drunkenness "were a valid precedent as a defense, it would leave our women unprotected in their homes at night at the mercy of any brute who will testify, or even prove, that he was partially intoxicated."

The court sends back for a new trial the case of the Bank of Varina against N. L. Shearon, which is similar to several cases now standing for trial on the calendar of the Wake County Superior Court. In this case the bank secured judgment for $2,500 on a note originally given for stock in the Cumberland Railway and Power Co., now defunct. The court holds that there was error on the part of Judge E. H. Cramer in excluding certain testimony tending to show collusion between the bank and power company. There is also a dissent in this case. Justice Etay holding that the question of fraud was fully determined by the jury.

The following opinions were handed down:

- Carolina Fower Company vs. Haywood, et al, Chatham, affirmed.
- Dill Cramer Trull corporation vs. Raynolds et al, Onslow, reversed.
- Overland Garage vs. Hardee, Lenoir, no error.
- State vs. Allen, Franklin, new trial.
- Richardson vs. Egerton, Franklin, modified and affirmed.
- Ferrell vs. Southern railway, et al, Wake, no error.
- Bank vs. Sherron, Wake, new trial.
- State vs. Oliver, New Hanover, affirmed.
- Blue vs. City Wilmington, et al, New Hanover, reversed.
- Layton vs. Godwin, Cumberland, appeal dismissed.
- Horton vs. Horton, Durham, reversed.
- Jones vs. McKeel, Greene, judgment affirmed, without written opinion.
- Suggs vs. Oakley and Cannon, Pitt, judgment affirmed without written opinion.

To Investigate Pension Frauds.

State Auditor Baxter Durham and Treasurer Ben Lacy were subpoenaed to place before the Sampson county grand jury certified records of the list of pensioners and pension funds paid out for that county, it was learned. The Sampson grand jury is investigating alleged irregularities in the administration of the pension fund, following up reports to State Auditor Durham several weeks ago that pension checks for Confederate veterans dead for three years had been endorsed.

Following the discovery of evident irregularities in the administration of the fund in that county, Major Durham ordered a checking of the vital statistics records for the county on file in the state department of health. This work is reported to have revealed the names of a number of deceased veterans whose names had been retained on the county list and for whom checks had been regularly issued, these checks later being endorsed and cashed by some person not designated.
