

Woman's Club Holds Interesting Meeting

One of the most profitable and pleasant meetings of the Woman's Club of the year was the final meeting held Wednesday afternoon at 3:15 at the library, at which time the last of the programs on great women was discussed. The particular subject for this meeting was the "Modern Women." Mrs. W. M. Axley, Mrs. Gordon Hasty and Mrs. W. H. Travis led the discussion, the latter substituting for Mrs. W. M. Fain, who was unable to be present.

Besides the regular program Miss es Mitchell and Medcalf, welfare workers in the county, spoke before the club, outlining their work in the county and asking for the co-operation of the townspeople. Following their interesting talks, Mrs. Gordon Hasty was elected to represent the Woman's Club on a Welfare Board, which is to be formed. Mrs. T. L.

Sasser, Mrs. E. B. Norvell and Mrs. H. W. Bell were designated to take the matter up with their respective Missionary Societies and have a representative from the societies of each of the churches elect a representative to compose the welfare board.

Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Cover of An-draws were invited to meet with the club Wednesday, but were unable to be present.

The social committee, Mrs. R. S. Parker and Mrs. D. Witherspoon, served delightful refreshments.

This being the last meeting of the club until this fall, the president, Mrs. L. P. Kinsey, by her usual gracious mannor, thanked the officers and the ladies of the various committees for their work and good rallies during their term of office.

"Farm Folks," a four act play replete with fun and humor, at the school auditorium tonight. See it.
