HE SLEEPS HIS NIGHT OF STARS

He knew not that he was to die, He only knew fair play is sweet,
This good dead law from Someones Street,
Who was quite young as once was I,
Who loved the cold rain on his face, Who thrilled to some girl's jonquil face.

He did not long for deathless fame, He only wished to feel to live,
To try the something life can give,
As once you were, he was the same; Ah, bitter luck was dealt to him—
The why of it is gray, is dim.

He laid down love, he took up pain, Because he was a fair-play boy, Because he liked right more than joy,
His loss of everything is gain,
To you and me and all the rest, Where chance to grow at his bequest.

We dig his grave with honor now, We lay the broken boy to sleep, In softest silence green and deep,
The great of earth above him now, What make we fear toward Hate's surcease,

What do we now to keep his peace?
Oh, ye who stand beside His bier, Think well of what is yielded here:
A man's share in the wide spread world,

A man's sight of the dawn, pale pearled,
A man's part of all mysteries hurried By Fates who weave for us the gold And ebon threads by which we hold, He gave us all he hoped for joy,
Can we keep faith with this dead boy?

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends, the friends of Leslie, and Drs. Hill and Heighway, for the many kindnesses shown during the illness and death of our beloved son and brother.
Our burden is heavy but it is made easier to bear by the memory of loving hands who sought to make his suffering less painful. May the richest blessings of Him who doeth all things well be the portion of each of you, is our sincere wish.
T. N. BATES AND FAMILY.

Thanksgiving Dinner

A most beautiful and elaborate dinner was given by Mrs. Nettie Dickey at the Dickey House to a large number of relatives, friends and guests Thanksgiving evening. The dining room was gorgeously decorated in autumn leaves and yellow crystanthemums. The center piece was a huge baked turkey decorated with strings of red cranberries. On either end of the table were large pumpkins cut in the shape of baskets and filled with ears of corn and fruits. Mrs.
Nettie Dickey in her usual gracious and charming manner presided over the beautifully laden table. Among those present for the dinner were:
Mrs. Edith Clarion, and Mr. and Mrs.
Paul Alexander of Asheville, N. C., and Mrs. Fred Dickey, Mr. A. B. Dickey, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dobbs, Charles Dickey, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher Hubbell of Atlanta, Ga., Mrs. Eva Griffith, Miss Margaret Dickey of Madisonville, Tenn., Miss Hattie Axley, Mr. and Mrs. Hob Whitecomb, and small daughter Edith, Mr. John Whitmore of Harlan, Ky., Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bailey, Rev. and Mrs. T. L. Sasser, Nettie Houston, Frances, Virginia, and Tom Dickey, Mr. A. K. Dickey and numerous guests of the hotel.
The Thanksgiving spirit of bountifulness prevailed as usual at the famous Dickey House.

OUR APPRECIATION

In this, the saddest hour of our lives, we wish to thank our friends and Tom's for the kind and friendly administrations given during his fatal illness. Mere words are inadequate to express our appreciation, but let us say that during this life we can never repay, by word or act these loyal and true friends for their thoughtfulness and consideration of us and our loved one.

May God's richest blessings abide with each of you is the prayer of W. S. McCOMBS AND FAMILY, AND UNCLE IRA.

Snappy? Well, rather—and very, very smart, too. The coat is of calfskin, and is luxuriously trimmed with rich beaver collar and cuffs. The hat and purse match the calfskin coat. The whole ensemble is quite in keeping with this season's style of furs for beauty and warmth as well.

A Few Fillers

A few sticks of cheap explosive will make that wet spot in the center of the field easily cultivated and planted.

Dairymen over the United States are interested in the cottonseed meal of the South because it is cheap. This might be a good time for North Carolina farmers to feed this high protein feed.

18,000 pounds of pyrotol, surplus was explosive, was ordered by farmers in Duplin county in November. Landowners in this county had previously ordered 18,000 pounds in October making 36,000 pounds for the county this fall.

Six farmers of Clay county have placed 52 head of hogs on feed to be sold next April.

Farmers of Henderson county won over $300 in premiums at the recent Western North Carolina Fair.

2,400 pounds of turkeys were sold by farmers of Madison county to help supply the Thanksgiving trade.

Thirteen cars of hogs were sold by farmers of Chowan county this year bringing in over $20,000, reports County Agent N. K. Rowell.

"Safe Farming An Agricultural Problem For The South"

Under the above caption the United States Department of Agriculture is sending out a card chock full of advice to the farmers of the South.
Advice is cheap, yet in this instance it would seem that this particular advice is worth passing on to our readers:

Property among southern farmers will be widespread and permanent and contentment abound only when the safe farming methods so long known and advocated become general throughout the South. They are:

Grow Ample Food to Feed the Family Have a good summer and winter garden.

Grow all the pork needed for home use.

Keep enough cows to fully supply all family needs.

Raise all the poultry and eggs the family can use and some to sell.

Grow cane or sorghum for sirup where practicable.

Grow All The Feed Needed Make the purchase of feed for the work stock, poultry, hogs, and cows unnecessary—a penny saved is worth two earned.

Keep Up The Fertility of the Soil Grow cowpeas, vetch, soy beans, or other legumes to plow under.

Sow rye, wheat, or oats in corn and cotton fields for pasture and to prevent winter washing and leaching.

Plant High-Yielding Quality Cotton And Care For It Well

Cooperate in reducing the number of varieties grown and in the orderly marketing of the crop.

One-fourth less cotton acreage in 1927, with average yields and present surplus would more than supply average requirements. Why plant more?

The farmer who follows the above plan will have a good living, keep out of debt, and have something left over at the end of each year. To aid you in the safe-farming program you have your—zations.

$15,000,000 Power Project On Hiwassee

neers are adjusted, all development will be stopped, it is stated.

Options on several farms along the Hiwassee river that would be effected by the overflow, have been taken.
The last deals reported are for the farms of Bud Freisch and Earnest King, who live near Reliance. Land also has been purchased along Spring Creek, and other tributaries of the Hiwassee river, residents of that locality say.

Engineers say that when the proposed project materializes, that Reliance, Probst and McFarland will be covered by the back water.

To construct these dams the road bed of the Louisville & Nashville will have to be raised along the Hiwassee river from Austral to Appalachi, according to engineers working on the survey. Surveyors already are locating a higher route, those that live in that locality say.

It is said now that the route will not be changed, only raised, in order to get the trucks out of the way of the backwater from the dams.

Engineers say that between Wetmore and Etowah is where the new road bed will be started. Surveyors say that at Wetmore the L. & N. track is 110 feet above the Hiwassee river and will not have to be raised at that point.

It is also a matter of record that large tracts of mineral lands along the Hiwassee river has been purchased recently and that there are now negotiations under way to locate farmhouses at Chattanooga, Knoxville, and Charleston, Tenn.

One of the officials stated that if the war department at Washington would "agree" there would be 50,000 additional laborers at work in the Hiwassee river valley next summer.

ESSEX SIX

a FOUR door
Sedan
now showing for the first time

Answering an insistent demand for a beautiful, well appointed four door, five passenger body on the smooth and nimble Essex chassis, the Sedan is now being shown for the first time.

$795

Essex "6" COACH
$695
F. O. B. Detroit
Plus War Excess Tax

It has individuality in line, color and fittings.
It is unusually comfortable in the seating arrangement. Upholstering is comparable in texture and quality with that used in costliest cars.

No car, regardless of cost, rides any easier.
None is more easily handled in traffic. Essex is nimble, quiet and gives unusual gasoline mileage. It has fine car qualities in chassis and body that assure long service.

The cost is but little more than for any four —even less than for some four cylinder closed cars. It is much less than you will pay for any six cylinder Sedan.
