CARNEGIE LIBRARY NOTES

At a recent meeting of the Child Welfare Board of an Eastern city, one of the outstanding social service workers of the day made the statement that next to the home and church, that books were the greatest influence on the mind and character of the growing child. A good book in the hands of a child is a weapon against ignorance, poverty, and crime. Good books help to form character, create high ideals, and inspire the child with a desire to be of service to others.

The reading child is the thinking child. The schools testify to the fact that the children who read are the outstanding pupils.

In our own Carnegie Library we have the opportunity of placing good books in the hands of the youths of Murphy.

The average number of books taken out each month is 508. But the large number of children who go to the Library each week for books and who come away without them is uncounted. They find no new books, only books that they have read and reread until they are worn out. Last month the Library had 20 visitors from out of town.

Every citizen of Murphy should have the interest of the Library at heart, as it means so much to the children of Murphy.

The Librarian is paid by the city. The Library is sponsored by the Woman's Club. The Woman's Club furnished the reading rooms, bought the furniture, buys the fuel, pays for the upkeep of the rooms, subscribes for the magazine and has bought most of the books on the shelves.

There have been a few donations of books and money by individuals.

The greatest need of our Library is new books, and especially the books for children. If you have books in your home that you will give or will make a donation to buy books you will be making a gift that will be worth while to the community, not only for the present good of the child, but for the future when the child is a citizen of our town.

PRETTY SUNDAY WEDDING JOINS POPULAR COUPLE

The wedding of Miss Mary Ruth Jones to Mr. Jake Martin took place July fifteenth at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Scoggins, on Thirteenth Avenue, Chattanooga, Tenn. The rev. J. E. O'Quinn officiated, using the impressive ring ceremony. There were no attendants.

The bride wore an attractive frock of white satin, back crepe, with large picture hat of white. The hat was fashioned of horsehair braid, trimmed in wide lace and fitted closely at the back. Mrs. Martin's slippers and hose were of white. She carried an arm bouquet of white gladioli, from which fell showers of white sweet peas and tulle streamers.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Martin left for a two week's wedding trip. They will visit relatives in Wilmington, N. C., and will be the guests of Mr. Martin's mother, Mrs. James Martin, in Murphy, N. C.

The bride's going away costume was a tan sport dress, worn with accessories of tan. Her hat was a small model of tan crocheted straw and her hose and slippers were of a blond shade.

KNOW Your South
and be a Partner
... in its Growth...

Memphis Industrial Capital of the Mid-South is an expression that takes on new meaning since natural gas has been assured within a year for every fuel demand in manufacturing and heating. Aside from being the metropolitan center of the richest agricultural area on the North American continent, Memphis is the center of the world's hardwood lumber market, and is the largest inland cotton market in the world.

Cheap fuel, a plentiful labor supply, proximity to abundant raw materials, and unsurpassed transportation facilities are factors expected to bring to Memphis within the next five years a solid, substantial industrial growth unsurpassed in the City's history or in the history of any other southern city. A population of 300,000 in five years is the foregone conclusion of coldly analytical business men.

Memphis is the distribution center for a vast territory in the very heart of the South. As development of this territory advances, business houses are expanding to care for the added volume of business. The City is the largest wholesale grocery center of the South. It ranks third among the drug and chemical markets of the world. Every need of the southern merchant can be filled in the Memphis market.

Memphis is a good city in which to live. Its climate compares favorably with that of other southern cities. It has the largest artesian water plant in the world. Its educational facilities are of the best. Organized recreational and social activities, (golf etc.) assure citizens and visitors of ample diversion from business cares.

SORE Could Not Rest

Mrs. J. H. Nichols, who lives at 513 Elm Tree Lane, Lexington, Ky., says:
"Some few years ago, my health was bad. I had very severe pains in my sides. My nerves were in a terrible condition. I could not rest.
"The lower part of my body was very sore. I did not feel like eating, and did not sleep well at all at nights.
"A friend of mine recommended Cardui. I began taking it and saw quite an improvement in my condition. I kept it up until I felt strong and well."
About a year ago, Mrs. Nichols says, she found herself in a nervous, run-down condition. "I took Cardui again," she adds, "and it helped me wonderfully. It is a splendid tonic."
Cardui is a mild, medicinal tonic, made from purely vegetable ingredients.
At all druggists.
