KEEP YOUR SOUTHERN EARNED DOLLAR AT HOME

Whenever you buy in the home town you do yourself a real service. You are sure of satisfactory goods here, of course, but that is only half the story.

You are also making it possible for your local merchants to give you better goods and better service in the future.

You build your community whenever you increase the volume of its trade.

Prosperity is always contagious. You cannot help another man or another business to prosper without immediate and direct advantage to yourself.

It is in recognition of this fact that this institution has developed the facilities and shaped the varied services which it places at the command of its patrons.
