BY OLE MAN MURPHY HIS-SELF

Who wouldn't feel tip top on days like we are having now? And such ideal football weather. Our boys have played twice since last we wrote, and played well. Hayesville did not run away with them again. There we see improvement. And Bryson was scored upon twice in the return game with them. There we see still much improvement.

Our boys lost both games. But against teams that have had a year or two or three of experience. And our green team made a much better showing against each than in their first game with them. We will beat them next year.

If you have any desire to know Ole Man Murphy "in person" just look down at the bald headed row at the Lions Play next Tuesday night. We will be there. We congratulate the artist who prepared the poster in the window of the Post Office. We have the habit of looking forward to those posters each year.

And the cast this year—we expect some good comedy and we will not be disappointed. Mrs. Maida Malloee, Mrs. Edw. E. Adams, Mrs. Dale Lee, Eloise Fain and Margaret Witherspoon, Roy Steele, Dr. Edd Adams, Brian Sipe and Harve Elkins. We have seen them all before, and we will be glad to see them again. And again. And How!

We hear there is an Englishman and a famous band master in the play. And two young men wanting to marry money and not knowing which lady has it, exactly. A "Cyclone", two ladies not wanting to get married (??), one that does, and one at the right age to enjoy the predicaments of those who desire matrimony, and those who do not. Carry on. We are with you, have been with you, and will be with you.

We congratulate the Town authorities, perhaps. At least we welcome the renewed parking lines. Why institute a good idea and allow it to die an unnatural death for want of attention? Those lines are a good idea and are needed, permanently.

We hear our Town is able to boast of some real golf enthusiasts. The rumor is that there are some who think enough of the game to play all afternoon during a cold drizzle of rain. We salute them. And are proud of anyone who has that amount of persistence about anything.

Someday we are going to try that game and find out, perhaps, what there is to it that will make an otherwise normal man chase a little dirty ball over three thousand yards of terra firma thru a cold drizzle of rain, up hill and down hollow, across ditches and thru branches. Selah!

We have been told by said players that once we try it we will then be golf enthusiasts, golf addicts. We are sceptical, but we have seen stranger things happen.

There is one silver lining in particular that we would like to mention right now, and that is that the Nu-Fashion Hosiery Mills are humming. More orders than they can fill, working all the machines they have set up, and working fast to get new machines set up. We are going to make a prophecy, and there are those in Murphy that will at once condemn our column for such a prophecy, because they, being stale enough to be buried, do not believe anything good can happen in their Town.

The prophecy is that in TWO YEARS that mill, putting on more machines as fast as possible, and increasing their pay roll, will have a

Woman's Auxiliary

The Auxiliary Society of the Presbyterian church met at the residence of Mrs. R. S. Parker on last Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 12th. Notwithstanding the rainy afternoon a full attendance was registered. After some preliminary business was attended to, the president, Mrs. C. W. Savage, stated the purpose of the meeting. This was a special meeting to study the Home Mission Book entitled the Crowded Way. In a comprehensive and able lecture, Dr. J. P. Anderson gave a resume of the first three chapters of the book. This book is being studied by the women of the Southern Presbyterian Church over a wide area. All the members were delighted and expressed their appreciation of the fine exposition and outline as given by Dr. Anderson. At the conclusion of the meeting the hostess served delightful refreshments.

On the following day, Wednesday, the Auxiliary met at again at the residence of Mrs. J. N. Hill. Again there was a full attendance although the weather was very inclement. A substantial offering was made for Home Mission. At this meeting the study of the Crowded Way was continued, Dr. Anderson giving a lecture on the remaining three chapters. Those present were: Mrs. C. W. Savage, Mrs. R. S. Parker, Mrs. M. W. Bell, Mrs. D. Witherspoon, Mrs. J. P. Anderson, Mrs. R. W. Gray, Mrs. W. W. Hyle, Mrs. J. B. Storey, Mrs. J. N. Hill, Mrs. A. C. Huber, Mrs. Daley, and Miss Annie Graham Anderson, Mrs. Thomas Spencer. At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Hill served the members with delightful refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Hume Bowless and children spent Sunday at Robbinsville.

Card of Thanks

This card of thanks was handed in several weeks ago, but was overlooked through a mistake.

The family of the late Dr. W. S. McCombs wishes to thank the many friends for their kindness shown during his illness and death and for their many beautiful floral offerings. McCombs' family.

payroll of TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS A WEEK. We believe that enough to make a wager with anyone that such will be the case. More power to them.

Murphy is in on the GrOunD floor on that new industry. In ten years the Cotton Mills of the South will have to include Rayon in their output if they wish to remain in business. Rayon is here to stay and plain cotton goods are more or less doomed. Another prophecy? So Be it.

JUNIOR CLUB MEET

The Junior Women's Club met at the home of Mrs. Willard Axley, president of the Mother Club. The meeting was called to order and opened with a prayer by the president, Eloise Fain. After a short business session, Miss Marilee Hutchinson, chairman of the program committee, presented a very interesting program.

Art having been selected by the club as the subject for the year, and beauty the theme, Miss Hutchinson very interestingly discussed "Kinds of Art," "Primitive Art," "Art and Science" and introduced poetry as a chosen subject of art for the November study.

Miss Lois Culler discussed and illustrated with famous poems, expression and appreciation of poetry. Thanksgiving poems were very fittingly included in her illustrations.

Mrs. Glenn Bates sang "Trees" written by Oscar Rasbach, accompanied by Mrs. H. H. Keener, chairman of the Junior Club.

At the conclusion of the program, Adella Meroney gave a reading, "The First Thanksgiving Day" by Alice Williams Brotherton.

Mrs. Axley then served, buffet style, a delicious course of cake, hot chocolate and mints. Candle light was used very effectively.

Those present were: Kathleen Axley, Mrs. Glenn Bates, Salla Kate Baker, Lois Culler, Mabel Ellis, Eloise Fain, Marilee Hutchinson, Dorothy Heighway, Mrs. H. H. Keener, Adella Meroney, Mrs. Willard Axley.

Murphy Girl Is Honored At Berea

BEREA, Ky., Oct. 23.—At the beginning of the present school year Miss Helen Freas whose home is in Murphy received double honors from the students of Berea College. The young women of the Kappa Gamma Literary Society selected her for Vice President of that organization, and the members of the College Y W C A elected her Secretary of the religious society.

The fact that she has been selected for these responsible positions is evidence of her ability as a leader and speaks well for her standing on the campus.

Her friends and neighbors are to be congratulated on the contributions they have made to a personality which is thus recognized by her fellow students.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Smith with Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus White motored to Garden in the Sky last Sunday. They found the new road to be the best mountain road in the county.

TULAREMIA

During the last ten days the press service of about fifteen state departments of health have sent out literature, some of which has reached our desk, calling attention to the fact that now the hunting season is open all hunters should beware of rabbit fever. Our regular readers will recall that in the October Health Bulletin we published a short article on the subject. In that article we called attention to the fact that some of the United States Public Health Service recent reports placed suspicion on quail as well as rabbits.

This disease is a rather serious occurrence and for the most part is spread by handling or dressing for the table rabbits, and, as just said, possibly quail, which are infected with the disease. This infection from the infected rabbit or bird may be easily transmitted to a person who has an abrasion or sore of any kind on the hands. It can be easily prevented if all persons who dress rabbits or quail would use rubber gloves or refrain from such duties if there is any suspicion of sores or abrasions about the hands and arms from which infection could enter. Thorough cooking of infected rabbits destroys the infective agent, and there is no danger for people who eat such food after it is thoroughly cooked. The danger comes through handling the uncooked carcasses.

We hope that sufficient publicity may be given at this time to this item because it may help to prevent any undue uneasiness among persons who are fond of such food, and at the same time will protect anyone liable to infection. To sum up, our advice to people who like rabbits for food is to go ahead and eat them as usual, but to be careful in dressing, and to thoroughly cook them before eating.

W. C. MORROW.
