ZACHARA IN CONCERT HERE

Rare Treat for Murphy Music Lovers to Hear Paderewski's Second

On December 30th, the Music Club of Murphy sponsored a concert given by Franciszek Zachara, Professor of Piano in Brenau College-Conservatory, Gainesville, Ga.

Mr. Zachara is a native of Poland and assuredly that small country is still furnishing musical ability of a high degree. The land that gave birth to a Chopin and a Paderewski, can still feel a just pride in one of her sons of the present generation. Mr. Zachara's playing was marked by a most brilliant technique, exquisite shadings, and a masterly interpretation of each number rendered.

The program is given in full as follows:

Bach-Tausig—Tocatta and Fuga. Chopin—Nocturn F sharp major. Rachmaninoff—Prelude C sharp minor.

Chopin—Scherzo B flat minor. Liszt—Liebestraume. Liszt—Rigoletto (Paraphrase) Evler-Schulz—Blue Danube.

Zachara—Brenau Girls Galtz. A Baldwin Grand Piano, which Mr. Zachara plays exclusively, was furnished through the courtesy of Mr. W. D. Townsend, local Baldwin dealer.

ANNIE GRAHAM ANDERSON, Secretary.

RS. BUTT ENTERTAIN

On the night of January 5th, the mob made another raid on the residence of Mr. and Mrs. V. I. Butt.

Arriving at 5:30 P. M., we were met at the door of the last chance by one of Darwin's Creatures with a smile on his face inviting us in. After being seated and conversing about the general topics of the day, we were invited into the dining room to partake of what was left from his noon dinner. We had no objections to the table, but there was very little to fill the inner man.

After participating of the several courses of water and hot air, we returned to the reception hall to have rest over our disappointment. If it had not been for the delicious salad course served, our hopes would have been in vain.

Those present were (Rev. H. P. Powell, Rev. J. L. Steele, S. D. Akin, G. D. Ledford, J. B. Storey, Grady Hampton, G. E. Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Davidson, J. A. Richardson, R. C. Mattox and R. A. Akin.

Mr. and Mrs. Butt, we thank you very much for your hospitality and hope that you will have another one soon with plenty to eat.

—YE SCRIBE.

Death Claims Mrs. Charles Hawkins

On Sept 10, 1929, the Death Angel claimed the life of Mrs. Charles Hawkins. She was before her marriage to Mr. Hawkins, Miss Iva Jones. She with her mother moved from Fannin County, Ga., to North Carolina when she was three years old. She has been a resident of Marble, N. C., until her marriage to Mr. Hawkins, when she moved to Gastonia, N. C.

Mrs. Hawkins was carried to the city hospital at Gastonia, N. C., where she underwent an operation from from which she never recovered. She was 23 years old at her death. Born August 16th

Mrs. Hawkins died at Gastonia, N. C., but her mother brought her to Tomotla, N. C., for burial.

She has left many friends to mourn for her. She was a woman every one that knew loved. She was sweet and sincere in all her deeds and words. As for enemies, no one could say she had one, for no one knowing her could help loving her. She was loved and praised for her sweet temperedness by all her friends and neighbors, at her old home, as well as at Gastonia where she lived some five or six years, and where God saw fit to call her home to a mansion she helped to build.

Mrs. Hawkins many friends and loved ones showed how they loved her by the many floral gifts which were cut from their most beautiful flowers and laid on her last resting place.

She joined the Marble Springs Baptist church when she was fourteen years old. She was a true Christian woman performing her duty faithfully.

Although Mrs. Hawkins had trouble like all others, she never complained. She had a brave spirit that was always manifest and oh, how she always seemed to see God's light shining out of the darkness.

Mr. Hawkins leaves to mourn her adieu, (I say adieu, for if we live so God will some day claim us, we shall meet her) for her last words were "I'm going home." She leaves Mrs. Hawkins three children, Ambers, age four years; Otha, age three years; and Warn, age two years; her mother, Mrs. Nix; three sisters, Mrs. Lon Howard, of Marble; Mrs. Herschel Stiles, of Marble, and Miss Willie Nix of Marble; two brothers, Garnie Nix, of Gastonia, and Jewel Nix, of Marble, to mourn her.

May all her friends and loved ones try to smile as they journey through this world and reach the other bright shore for they will find their dearly beloved wife, mother, daughter and friend awaiting them.

MRS. ARNOLD BRYSON.

George Latham, Regal Hotel Cook, Dies

George Latham, colored, cook at the Regal Hotel for the past six years, died Monday afternoon, Jan. 7th, about 4 o'clock at his home in Texana. Funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

George was one of the leading colored citizens of Murphy, and did much toward helping raise the standard of his race in Cherokee county above the average standard. He was directed of the Texana choir, a leader in the church and did much to Christianize the colored people of this community.

A remarkable record to his studiousness and faithfulness lies in the fact that he did not miss cooking a meal at the Regal Hotel for six years until December 22nd, when he was taken ill and from which illness he never recovered.

George Latham's services will be missed not only by the colored people, but the white folks of this community as well.

Perussis Control (Whooping Cough)

BY W. C. MORROW, M. D. Cherokee County Health Officer

It is not generally known that more children die from the complications of whooping cough than from the complications of scarlet fever. In fact, five children lose their lives from whooping cough to one from scarlet fever.

Neither of the above diseases are very dangerous per se, that is, without complications neither of these two diseases kill people. It is the conditions complicating the diseases that are so dangerous. The following complications from scarlet fever are to be dreaded.

Kidney disease, (Parancymatous Nephritis or Brights Disease) Heart disease, Middle Ear and Throat disease, are the most important. Whooping cough is prone to be complicated by pneumonia, middle ear disease, hemorrhage in mucous membranes, etc. Pneumonia kills possibly 90 per cent who die from whooping cough. The long period of the natural course of whooping cough, especially during the winter months, is to be feared. Dr. Osley said, "Six weeks and a big bottle of paregoric." This means that we have no treatment of much value as far as cutting the course short is concerned. Vaccination against the disease, or vaccines as a cure, are not of much, if any, value.

The above being true, our only hope of saving these babies is in prevention, that is early quarantine of any case of whooping cough. The diagnosis is hard to make. I must admit, especially at the stage when quarantine is of value. After the "whoop" stage is reached it is useless to quarantine, as the stage of transmittance is during the first two weeks.

The control of whooping cough is almost entirely with the parents. If a child seems to have a cold and coughs, especially if there is whooping cough in the community, the child should be kept at home and isolated from other children. If a child coughs a week without other good and known reason, it is usually whooping cough, especially if the child vomits and has periodic and spasmodic spells of coughing. They do not always whoop no matter how long they are ill. Don't wait for a "whoop" to report this, as to do so means that your child has already given the disease to others.

We always have more or less whooping cough, and we always have little graves following it. So please co-operate with me in this serious matter by keeping your coughing children at home and reporting all suspicious cases to your family physician for diagnosis. Do this within the first few days, that I may help others, that their children may not contract this serious disease. It doesn't matter if your child did get it in school, this does not license you to give it to some other child. Remember that other child might die.

A Correction

In the issue of December 27th, an error crept into the article about the snow which places Mr. E. B. Norvell in a rather undesirable light. It was stated that Mr. Norvell remembered the snow being 36 inches deep in this section 40 years ago. The snow was 36 inches deep at Waynesville, Mr. Norvell said, where he was at the time, and it was 24 inches at Murphy.

We are glad to make this correction to clear up any misunderstanding that has arisen.

Presbyterian Women Have Bible Study Meet

Circles One and Two of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church held their regular Bible study at the home of Mrs. Don Witherspoon Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Thomas Spencer is the leader of these meetings and she presented the study in a most instructive manner. Three chapters of the Book of Acts were studied.

The ladies were glad to have with them Mrs. Kuykendall, the wife of the pastor of the Presbyterian church at Athens, Tenn., and also Mrs. Daly, the mother of Mrs. Huber, as visitors.

At the conclusion of the study, the hostess, assisted by her daughters, Misses Margaret and Mady Witherspoon, served a delicious salad course with coffee.

In Memory of Ruth Mallonee

By A Classmate

Like the transient rose that, budding, blooms beneath the summer sun,

Gives forth its precious fragrance, while the crystal dew still lingers,

Has its tender bud soon snipped and its course so quickly run, Due to ruthless, reckless fingers Fumbling 'neath the summer sun.

She, too, grew quick and slender and her youth bloomed forth quite hidden

Like the half-opened rose bud 'neath the glorious, beaming sun, And ere we knew it she slipped away unbidden,

Even as our rose had done.

Our hearts are crushed and bleeding, for the pal we loved has gone; As yet we cannot follow where that radiant smile has fled,

Away, away from our gorgeous winter sun, And we call her—that freed soul—dead—just dead!

No, we're wrong; she sleeps and the rose sleeps—still

And silent 'neath the frozen sod, Not dead, for they only await the will Of God—eternal God!

Till both again arise to thrive beneath the summer sun,

Till then await we to pay the debt that friendship asks for either one; We won't forget; we can't forget!

—N. A. D., Jan. 6, 1930.

W. O. HALL MURDERED AT ALA. HOME

The many friends of W. O. Hall were greatly shocked when news reached Murphy that he had been murdered by unknown parties on his Alabama plantation on December 31st, 1929.

Mr. Hall is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Hall, of Englewood, Tenn., formerly of this county, having lived near Suit, N. C., moving to Tennessee about twenty years ago.

Oscar, as he was known here, was about forty years of age, received his education in the public schools of this county and at Athens, Tenn., having taught school a number of years before going to Wyoming and other western states, where for several years he dealt in the cattle business and acquired quite a bit of wealth. Some years ago he returned to Alabama where he lived until his untimely death.

He was a very industrious and public spirited man, of high ideals, taking great interest in the religious and educational activities of his community.

The bereaved, besides his father and mother, are four brothers and four sisters: J. E. Hall, of Murphy, Route 1; Edgar, Frank and Marcus Jr., of Memphis, Tenn.; Mrs. Emma Ferguson and Mrs. Lowe Cochran, of Athens, Tenn.; Mrs. Flossie Colvard of Tellico Plains, and Miss Anna Belle Hall of Englewood, Tenn., also many relatives and friends in this county.

Methodist Women Hold First Meet of New Year

The first meeting of the W. M. S. of the Methodist Church for the year 1930, was held Tuesday afternoon in the ladies parlors of the church.

The installation of officer for the ensuing year was in charge of Rev. Howard P. Powell, pastor, all officers being present.

Following the installation, the business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. E. B. Norvell, during which reports of officers were heard and the committees for the year were read by the president.

The meeting closed with prayer led by Rev. Powell.
