Violet Rays Employed to Fight Common Colds

Experiments covering two years at Cornell university seem to indicate that the prevalence of the common cold may be reduced by 40 per cent by the use of the violet ray. The medical director of the institution said:

"In 1926 and 1927 there was not one of the normal students had colds, but among the cold-susceptible students there were weeks when as high as 62 per cent had colds. For two years we have irradiated cold-susceptible students through the dark, cold period of the year with ultra violet lenses over the entire skin surface from ten to fifteen minutes once a week.

"This ten to fifteen-minute irradiation of the entire surface of the body is equivalent to a whole week's sunlight in the summer with only the face, neck and hands exposed. On that basis we got a reduction in cold incidence of 40 per cent."

"Just a few words of praise of your medicine. Nothing gave me relief and health as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did. I am a practical nurse and was so rundown that I was unable to work. I used to suffer agonies at times and would have to lie down the biggest part of the day. After two bottles of Vegetable Compound I felt better. Now I have used ten bottles and feel fine. I recommend it to many of my patients."—Mrs. Florence Johnson, R. R. #3, Chetopa, Kansas.

Islands to Meet Planes

Concrete "islands" that may be floated to meet planes crossing the ocean are possible, according to Charles de Frasse, a French inventor, whose model of the novel "seaports" was recently exhibited by the Chamber of Commerce of France. De Frasse says that his islands would be seaworthy enough to take up stations as half-way stops in trans-oceanic flights. Planes would land on them for refueling and take off with the aid of catapults similar to those now used for launching planes from ships. The islands would have hangars and living quarters for permanent crews of mechanics, and two giant 2,500 horse power motors would propel them to their locations.

Oil should clean and protect as well as lubricate—says household expert

The oiling of household devices presents a problem different from that of factory equipment, says a nationally known housekeeping expert. Household appliances are not used constantly and therefore collect dirt and rust when idle. Consequently, oil intended for general household use should clean and protect as well as lubricate.

3-in-One, a scientific blend of mineral, vegetable and animal oils, does these three things better than any other oil. It costs a little more to buy but much less to use, for it will save you many dollars in repairs and replacements on sewing machines, vacuum cleaners, lawn mowers, washers, the electric motors of fans, refrigerators, ironers and similar household devices. At good stores everywhere, in 15c and 30c sizes. For your protection, look for the trade mark "3-in-One" printed in Red on every package.

Remarkable Memory

A caller on Elijah Harriman, South Warren, Maine, ninety-eight years old, found him doing his share of work and helping prepare the evening meal. His eyesight, hearing and memory are unimpaired. He said to the visitor: "I remember the first time I saw you; it was sixty years ago."
