KRAUSE SHOW ATTRACTIONS AT CO. FAIR

September 28th Set As Opening Day
For Cherokee County's Annual Display Event

One of the biggest and best carnival companies traveling the American circuit today will furnish the midway attractions for the annual Cherokee County Fair, which opens on Wednesday, September 28th, for four full days, it was announced by officials this week.

Admission to the fair grounds this year will be free to everybody, and no money is being offered as prizes. However, ribbons will be awarded instead. This course is taken this year by the fair officials on account of the depression and scarcity of money. All officials of the fair will serve without pay, and it is from the carnival company that they hope to secure enough money to meet necessary expenses.

Last year the money of the fair Association, with the exception of one day's gate receipts, was caught in a bank failure, and the premiums for last year have not been paid. It is the plan of the association to pay these prizes in full, part of them probably next year. For this and other reasons, it was believed by the association unwise to offer money as prizes this year and charge gate admission.

The Krause Greater Shows have been contracted to furnish the amusements, and the association will have no apologies to offer to the patrons of the fair this year as the well known Krause Greater Shows have the reputation of being one of the best, and the only show in America of its class and nature which does not allow any disgusting and immoral tented shows or exhibitions, and which does not carry any "controlled" gambling concessions. All of its concessions are absolutely legitimate, where prizes can be won by everybody each time they play, according to advance information given out this week by a representative of the show company.

"On the midway of the Krause Greater Shows, the patrons of the Cherokee County Fair can mingle freely and enjoy themselves without fear of being "trimmed" or insulted or seeing disgusting features that will hurt the feelings of the most fastidious person," W. C. Murray, advance agent for the amusement company said in a statement while in Murphy this week.

Among the many new and novel attractions that will be presented on the midway by the amusement company, is included Teska's Working World, said to be one of the most astounding and superb exhibitions ever presented at the Cherokee County Fair. This attraction, built by hand, composed of 7,000 working figures, has been declared a human masterpiece. It is valued at $25,000 and is contracted to appear at the World's Fair at Chicago next year.

The Dixieland Minstrels, composed of 20 high colored entertainers from the big vaudeville circuits of the country, include blues singers, Coon shouters and buck and wing dancers.

The Hawaiian Revue will offer a company of native Hawaiian entertainers and instrumentalists in their native singing and dancing, giving only clean entertainment which is sure to be enjoyed by everyone.

Rainey's Monkey Circus is a riot of fun. Some of the funniest and smartest little actors of the monkey kingdom race around a track in autos, do wire walking, bicycle riding, and numerous other stunts. This attraction is pleasing to the grown-ups as well as the kiddies.

And Jolley Joe, the fat boy, is waiting to see you all. He tips the scales at around 700, and is said to be a great entertainer.

Princess Zenobia, a brain-puzzling illusion that has baffled many, will keep guessing once you see it. A big circus side-show, under a big tented canopy, will have some new and strange curiosities, alive and otherwise, as well several educational features appealing to young and old of all classes.

One attraction you will want to see is Snakonia, the strange lady with a snake body. She is being talked about all over the country, and you will not be satisfied until you have seen her.

The midway will offer four big riding devices and other fun making apparatus which will give everybody a good time. So begin preparing

Discover New Scenic Loop From Murphy

Col. and Mrs. Don Witherspoon and family, and Col. and Mrs. E. B. Norvell made a motor trip Sunday which was described as one of the most scenic loops from Murphy in this whole mountain region, and which is in reality a new one-day loop from Murphy through the Smoky Mountains National Park into Tennessee and back by way of Tapoca and Robbinsville.

They went by way of Bryson City and the Indian Reservation and over the new highway through the Smoky Mountains National Park, crossing the top of Eastern America at Newfound Gap. Here they took the route down Little River by Chimney Top in Tennessee to Maryville, where they took the Knoxville route back by Calderwood Lake, Tapoca Lake, Santeetlah Lake, and Robbinsville. The route through the Smoky Mountains was a little rough, but passable in dry weather, and some sections of it was steep. However, they made it without a mishap, leaving Murphy after daylight and arriving back before dark.

They registered 239 on the speedometer, and made the trip leisurely, stopping at many places along the way to admire the scenery, of which none more beautiful exists in Eastern America.

Canadian Veteran In Murphy This Week

William C. Murray, advance agent and business representative of the Krause Greater Shows, spent several days in Murphy this week, stopping at the Henry House.

He was here assisting the Cherokee County Fair Association in advertising the fair and in the interest of his amusement company, which has the contract for furnishing midway attractions of the fair this year.

Mr. Murray is a Canadian World War veteran. He enlisted in the Canadian Army in 1914 and served over seas four years. He was an infantry sergeant of the First Western Ontario Regiment, and was wounded while serving in the trenches. His battalion was in the first gas attack at Ypres, Belgium, April 25th, 1915, and in those days gas masks and tin helmets hadn't been thought of. He was in the battle of the Somme in 1916, and on Vimy Ridge in 1917, where the troops fought knee-deep in snow and mud.

Pie Supper

COUNTY OFFERING PROTECTION AGAINST TYPHOID, DIPHTHERIA

Cherokee county is offering protection against typhoid fever and diphtheria, with treatment free to every man, woman and child in the county, with treatment free to both white and colored. This protection is offered in conjunction with the North Carolina State Board of Health.

Vaccination with typhoid vaccine has been one way of reducing the number of deaths and cases for the past eleven years. Three treatments are necessary. Take it. Your neighbor may be careless.

In 1931, 3,156 people in North Carolina had diphtheria, and 237 died. Over 50 per cent of those who had diphtheria were under five years of age. Over 85 per cent of those who died of diphtheria were under six years of age. A great part of the expense of sickness and death of these children could have been prevented by diphtheria vaccine.

Every child between the ages of six months and ten years should take diphtheria vaccine. It has been shown by careful records that three doses will immunize 85 per cent of children treated.

Three treatments of diphtheria toxin antitoxin, or two treatments of diphtheria toxoid, are necessary. Each is harmless, practically a certain

Salvaging Work On Lumber Road Now Under Way

The work of salvaging the rails, angle bars, and other fittings and accessories constituting the old Tri-County Lumber Company's logging railroad from Murphy out into the mountains to the west is now under way.

The contract was let to Frank Laney, Scott Laney and Drew Taylor recently by Don Witherspoon, agent and attorney for the owners. All rails, fittings, etc., will be removed to the company's property at Murphy and will later be sold. The big lumber mill of the company will also be sold sometime in the near future.

Mr. Witherspoon stated that it was the plan of the present owners to place portable saw mills out in the timber boundary, cut the lumber on the ground and then truck it into Murphy. This method of lumber milling is now in use in Watauga and Avery Counties, and is said to be much more economical in operation than hauling the logs out of the mountains to the mill on a railroad.

It is understood that there is timber sufficient in the boundary owned by this company in Cherokee county

HEALTH NURSE VISITS COUNTY

Miss Livingston Makes Observations
On Work In Rural Schools

Miss Katherine Livingston, state school nurse, has been in Cherokee county for the past six weeks, examining the children in the forty rural schools for defects in teeth, throat, vision, and hearing. Miss Livingston will be in this county a week or more longer, and then will go to Clay county.

The Bureau of Medical Inspection of schools and teaching health in schools, was begun after the World War, when it was found that so many men were unfit for service on account of some physical defect which likely would have been remedied early in life.

The defect commonly found in this inspection, Miss Livingston says, are nutrition, posture, hearing, vision, teeth, throat, breathing, skin and others.

The defects most frequently found are in teeth, tonsils and adenoids. Defective teeth and diseased tonsils and adenoids often cause so many other defects as poor vision, poor hearing, poor nutrition, heart trouble, kidney trouble, rheumatism, tuberculosis, etc.

"In this particular country," Miss Livingston said, "there seem to be more defective tonsils and adenoids than teeth, and this can be attributed to the splendid dental service the country has had, every three years, from the state school dentist, for the past ten or twelve years. It is very noticeable in schools he has visited. Then again, there is no throat specialist near, consequently most children who had diseased tonsils in the first grade, still have them in the seventh grade. Some have had their tonsils removed and some have had their eyes examined by specialists and glasses fitted. Generally, children with poor vision think other children see as they do; when the test shows they can not see so well, and they get glasses, a new world is opened to them.

"Dr. Parrott, state health officer says: "Public health work is a preventive agency, not a curative one. In beginning his larger program last year, he said, "We are not going to have a battle, but a war against disease. The state board of health wants the cooperation of all the one hundred counties, each county to be a unit to itself, and each school in each county to be a unit to itself."

"The county superintendent, the local organizations, Parent-Teachers associations, welfare workers, and clubs, should work with the doctors, dentists and nurses, to have defects pointed out and remedied.

"Dr. G. H. Cooper, director, division of preventive medicine says: "When people are thoroughly convinced that it is worth more to call a doctor for health examination or for vaccination, than to call him to treat a disease, they will be as eager to call him for the former as the latter.

"Teachers and parents are realizing, as never before, that a child's health determines largely, his progress in school. Dr. Allen State Superintendent of public instruction, says we spend $1,000,000 yearly, on repeaters. He says health is the first objective of education."

ty to keep a good size lumber operation going for five to ten years.

The salvaging of this lumber railroad will be the means of furnishing employment for a good many men, and have much to do with relieving the depression and unemployment in the county.
