AN EASTER PRAYER

Margaret E. Songster Always let my heart respond to beauty—
 never let me grow too old to be waking loneliness of early April, wonder of a newly budded tree, never let my senses dull to color of the glowing purity of lilies come to bless the world at Eastertime.
 let me see the blessed resurrection of lives in every singing blade of grass
 let me hear the whispered note of gladness in the soul of gentle winds that let me know the wind thrill of the came, one spring, to fling a dumb's door wide—let me know, anew, your boundless mercy.
 it is the symbol of the Eastertime.
