FLAT ROCK IS MAKING PLANS TO START A NEW BANK

Dear Mr. Editor:—
The town of flat rock is in need of a bank as it has been without one since the cashier of the flat rock savings bank took amnesia and went away to parts unknown in 1921 and closed its doors and never left his address with anybody except his wife.

The citizens met in the school auditorium last night to provide ways and means for getting bank facilities and voted a very spontaneous, Mr. Mike Clark, rfd. was chosen as chairman, he was slightly bitter (at the last bank) as first runner count of losing 28 in same.

The chair named a committee of 24 to follow to start the bank off; Holman Moore, art square and dr. hubbert green and told them to a rite of four hooley long and secker-terry walls and sen. patman at washing ton and ask for a government loan of 1008 in preferred stock to begin with, art refused to served with holsum, so scudd Clark took his place.

The capitol of the new bank will be 1000008 if it can be raised between the stockholders and the government and it will be divided into shares of a par value and printed on green-bordered paper; the old one was printed on yellow-bordered and it busted, so the chair chose green for safety.

If the people will raise the money, Mr. Mike Clark, rfd. will possibly be willing to serve as president, and juda clark will no doubt be willing to act as cashier, salaries to be fixed by the former for the latter, intrust will be paid on time deposits provided they stay in there long enough.

No further esteps will be took till permission is got from the code and the f. e. r. a. to operate a bank in flat rock, it mought be a nashal bank, but some of those present who had no monney thought a state will own everything anyhow in a few years if

Farmers are improving every opportunity now in preparing for a crop.

The apple crop in this section will almost be a failure, due the heavy frost some ten days ago. There was not only frost but plenty of ice.

J. R. Wilbur filled his appointment at Boiling Springs last weekend.

Don't miss the big, two-hour, 16-act comedy and dancing show to be held in the Murphy school house Friday evening at 7:30 for the benefit of the Murphy and Marble baseball teams.

Easter Sunday was a dreary cold day, but it was a very merry crowd of young folks, and some older ones, that gathered at the home of Dr. Young's and enjoyed an egg hunt. The eggs were hidden in a large clover field. Prizes were awarded and some games played after which a big helping of home made ice cream was served to every one. All seemed to really enjoy themselves.

Miss Delise Hamby spent Saturday night with Miss Alma Young.

Mrs. Rebecca Allen went to Ducktown Monday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Hamby were pleasant callers at the home of the Wilbur's Sunday night.

UNAKA NEWS

The farmers of this section are ready to plant corn.

The friends of Mr. J. M. Garrett are glad to hear he is improving.

We are sorry to hear Mrs. J. M. Garrett is very ill at this writing.

Mrs. Johnny Bryson spent the night with her son Mr. J. G. Bryson Thursday night.

Don't miss the big, two-hour, 16-act comedy and dancing show to be held in the Murphy school house Friday evening at 7:30 for the benefit of the Murphy and Marble baseball teams.

The many friends of Mr. Steven Thompson are glad to learn he is improving after having his arm amputated at the Franklin hospital.

Mrs. H. F. Rose has returned from they dont' cut taxes, you will be kept posted.

MONTGOMERY AND HELEN HAYES HEAD EXCEPTIONAL CAST

Helen Hayes and Robert Montgomery are co-starred in "Vanessa: Her Love Story", the outstanding feature which will be shown at the Murphy Theatre.

The picture is romantic drama of the type in which both stars have scored. For Miss Hayes, it follows "What Every Woman Knows," latest of her M-G-M pictures which include "Another Language," "The White Sister" and "The Sin of Madelon Claudet." For Montgomery, it follows "Forsaking All Others," and gives him a characterization somewhat like the one he did in "Private Lives"; his hits, of course, include "Biography of a Bachelor Girl," "Hideout," "Strangers May Kiss," "Riptide," and many more.

"Another Language" was the first picture that teamed Miss Hayes and Montgomery.

Notables in Cast

Now, in "Vanessa: Her Love Story", the stars appear with a notable cast of eighty film favorites. Otto Kruger has a commanding role as Ellis Herries, Miss Hayes' insane husband. May Robson play the memorable character, Judith Parley Stone appears as Adam, Violet Kemble-Cooper, who played an outstanding role in "David Copperfield," is seen as Lady Hennis, Henry Stephenson, Donald Crisp, Jessie Ralph and Agnes Anderson are others among the notable players.

William K. Howard, the director, was the director of "The Cat and the Fiddle," which co-starred Ramon Novarro and Jeanette MacDonald, and more recently megaphoned "Evelyn Prentice." His hits are legion, but among them will be remembered "The Power and the Glory" and "Transatlantic."

"Vanessa: Her Love Story," is a picturization of Hugh Walpole's novel, "Vanessa," which was the fourth and last of his group of books dealing with the spectacular Herries clan of the rugged Cumberland district of England. This series included "Rogue Herries," "Judith Paris" and "The Fortiers", arch a best-seller. David O. Selznick, the Metr-Goldwyn-Mayer producer, took advantage of Walpole's presence in Hollywood (he adapted "David Copperfield") to get him to write the screen play of his own novel in collaboration with Lenore Coffee.

A Suspicious Husband

The story concerns Vanessa, the heroine, and her troubled love affair with Benjie Herries, the "wild one" of the clan. On the eve of their wedding they are separated by a misunderstanding. When Vanessa relents and finds Benjie it is too late; he has married another woman. Vanessa allows herself to be talked into marriage with Ellis Herries, a dour but respectable member of the family. Ellis is insanely suspicious and makes her life miserable. Years later she meets Benjie and they manage to steal a few weeks of happiness, but eventually Vanessa goes back to her husband. It is not until her husband dies that Vanessa and Benjie finally achieve complete happiness.
