Cherokee County Primaries To Be Held Saturday

TALKING FILM DEMONSTRATION TO DRAW MANY

Free Picture Will Be Shown Thurs., Fri.,
Sat., at 9:30 A. M.

Lock the doors and come to town! The Cherokee Scout's Motion Picture Cooking School entitled "Star in My Kitchen" will be the real community attraction for three days at the Henn theater starting Wednesday.

This fascinating and different cooking school is open entirely free to every woman in town, and the Cherokee Scout as well as Murphy merchants extend this last invitation to join the home-making lessons and jolly entertainment for at least one day.

The Motion Picture Cooking School will be a practical rally of home-makers to contribute fresh perspective for the "same old job", the monotonous day-in-and-day out job, yet the most important business in the world. Just as men have their annual conventions, where they listen to lectures from specialists, local women will have their convention to consider home-making problems.

Just as fresh inspiration for the old job is one of the by-products of the familiar cooking school, which presents a lecturer in a model kitchen, so are new ideas and keen incentive born in the film class for home-makers, with its novel approach and modern setting.

No "false-front" camera-beautiful kitchens satisfied these specialists. They insisted on working in compact, modern kitchens, which actually reflect more scientific ingenuity and careful planning than any living room.

Recognizing the demands of home experts, the producers of "Star in My Kitchen" signed all-star kitchens, with an all-star cast, adding a continual procession of close-ups so that every seat in the Henn theater is a good seat for this amazing-pictured home-making course.

Everyday happenings have been dramatized in the plot of "Star in My Kitchen". Behind the sparkling humor and suspense that are so necessary to screen stories was a deliberate plan—an ambitious determination to carry instruction, inspiration, and worthwhile home news to women in (Continued on back page this section)

Work On Two Buildings Is Going Ahead

Work on the new Murphy Laundry building and a Texas Oil company filling station in Murphy are being rushed to completion.

Both are located on adjoining lots on Valley River avenue and the Asheville highway near the center of town.

Dennis Barnett, of Murphy, is contractor for both structures.

The laundry is a brick building 40 feet by 80 feet. Although B. B. Cornwell, owner of the laundry, expects to see completion of the building by July 1, he does not anticipate moving his machinery into new quarters until September.

G. W. Cover, Jr., of Andrews, plans to have a formal opening of the filling station within the next six weeks.

Three More Persons Bitten By Mad Dogs

Dr. Mitchell and the health department is appealing to the citizens of the county to cooperate in wiping out the mad dog scourge.

TOWN PREPARES FOR INCREASED TOURIST TRADE

Many Improvements Being Made In Murphy For Summer Season

A huge building and improvement program is being undertaken in Murphy this spring to add to the town's attractions for visitors this summer.

The number of tourists stopping here so far this spring indicates that the community will entertain the largest host of visitors this summer in its history.

Hotels, cafes, tourist homes, filling stations and all public establishments catering to the tourist trade are being improved to meet the public demand.

Four hotels and at least a dozen regular tourist homes have announced improvement programs to take care of the increasing summer trade.

Under a system of public health service recently adopted by the county with the aid of state and federal funds, the ratings of cafes and public eating places has been generally improved with its supplies of milk and food also receiving higher ratings.

In preparation for the summer season, town officials are making preparations for the greatest supply of water ever used in the town. They claim the demands this year will warrant an increased storage of water over past seasons which indicates that a number of inquiries have been made by vacationists.

SCOUT TO GIVE BROADCAST OF ELECTIONS HERE

Results of Primary to Begin About 8 O'clock Saturday Night

Following a popular practice inaugurated by the Scout in the last general election, local citizens can have a ring-side seat FREE at the big political battle in Murphy Saturday night.

Through special arrangements with the Henn theater, a public address system will be installed in front of the Scout office and primary election returns will be compiled and announced as quickly as they can be sent to Murphy.

Arrangements are also being made to keep interested persons informed on the trend of district and state races.

As soon as returns are brought into Murphy from the 24 precincts of the county, they will be sent to the Scout office where a corps of workers will total them and keep the public posted as to the trend of the vote.

The public is requested to cooperate by not jamming the office or using the telephone facilities any more than is absolutely necessary.

Approximately 1,000 persons gathered in front of the Scout office during the last general election to get returns over the Scout's broadcasting apparatus.

Shields Keeps Milk Trademark At Royalty

John Shields, owner of the Nolia Farms and distributor of famed Golden Guernsey milk, announce a large increase in sales during the summer months.

Mr. Shields obtained the Golden Guernsey trademark about two years ago when he remodelled and enlarged his dairy.

The Golden Guernsey seal—which Mr. Shields is extensively advertising—is obtained by him for a premium and insures customers of the most sanitary and wholesome milk obtainable.

Mr. Shields states that he must pay 15 cents for every 100 quarts of milk he sells as a royalty. This money is used to make close periodic inspections of his milk to ascertain if it can keep up to the standards as advertised under the Golden Guernsey brand.

Mr. Shield's model dairy is located on the Copperhill highway in the Shoal Creek section of Cherokee county.

PROFIT REAPED FROM FINE CROP OF SPINACH HERE

The profit on this demonstration, according to an estimate by R. B. Wooten, assistant county agent, would amount to more than $110 per acre.

Burt Shields, manager of the cannery, plans to grow a crop of beans on the plot as the next demonstration.

Twelve County, District, Three State Offices To Be Voted On In Primary

In Spite Of Heated Campaign, Rather Light Vote Is Anticipated By Many Local Political Observers

One of the most heated primary political campaigns ever recalled in Cherokee county will end Saturday when candidates will be chosen for 12 county and district offices and vote will be cast for three state offices.

Ten of the local candidates to be selected are Democrats and two are Republicans.

In contrast to fever heat which has marked local political campaigns for the past month, a heavy vote is not anticipated by local political observers. Fred O. Bates, chairman of the Cherokee County Board of Elections, expects "around 2,000 votes to be cast". The full voting strength of both parties in Cherokee county is estimated between 5,500 and 6,000.
