Private Residences Valued At $50,000 Are Considered For Construction Locally

Eight New Homes Planned;
Several Transfers
Are Announced Here

SOME ARE BEGUN

Building Program In City
Currently Evaluated
At $200,000

A private residence building program that will ultimately see a total expenditure in excess of $50,000 is underway in Murphy at present.

Eight houses are either under construction at present or have been finished within the past several weeks, and several important land transfers have been announced.

This building program, in conjunction with a business improvement program in Murphy currently, will run the total expenditure of local building above $200,000. It is the largest building program that has ever been undertaken in the county at one time in its 100 years of history.

Eight of the new private residences are being constructed in the Moore Heights section of Murphy—a hill located on the eastern side of the town overlooking the town with the Hiwassee and Valley rivers in the background.

The property, which belongs to E. C. Moore, local businessman, has been the site of extensive building activity in the past two years.

Those building new homes on the Moore Heights section at present or who have purchased lots with intention to build are: C. M. McCaslan, rehabilitation agent with the TVA, who is building a beautiful rock veneer and frame house; Tom Case, local lumberman; John Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Davidson, of Murphy, and a TVA employee, and Miss Sara Ruth Posey, employee of the Citizens Bank and Trust company.

Wade Massey, contractor for the McCaslan home and several others on the Moore Heights development, already has a home of his own on the site of the hill, and is contemplating another. Mr. Moore, who owns a number of residences on the development, has another home under construction at this time, and C. D. Mayfield, mayor of Murphy, who owns several houses in Murphy, is building another home in that section.

Announcements of the plan to build were made Tuesday by Bill Brandon, town employee.

A new house in Murphy is also being contemplated by John Odell, rural mail carrier, of Grandview, he said.

SCOUT BROADCAST PRIMARY RETURNS SATURDAY NIGHT

A large crowd of local citizens heard results of the primary voting Saturday night from a public address system arranged in front of the Scout office. This is the second time this newspaper has brought first and most accurate results to interested people of the county.

Although a heavy vote was not cast Saturday, results were slow in coming in and a complete count could not be obtained until Tuesday evening.

By 11 o'clock Saturday night, however, 15 of the county's 24 precincts had been unofficially reported and returned from about 80 to 85 per cent of the votes could be determined to indicate the trend of the voting in this county. In addition the Scout was able to get occasional reports on the state race.

The loud speaker equipment was furnished by Mr. P. J. Henn of the Henn theater.

A similar broadcast of returns will be given in the general elections this fall according to present plans.

To File Work-Sheets In Murphy Territory

Farmers in the Murphy area who wish to receive agricultural conservation checks this year will have a chance to file their reports at two meetings to be held in the Murphy court house Friday and Saturday.

The county agent's staff will be located in the Grand Jury room from 7:30 a. m. until 4:30 p. m. on these dates to aid in filling out the necessary worksheets, according to A. Q. Ketner, county agent.

Similar meetings will be held in the Liberty, Postell, Suit and Ranger communities today (Thursday). Others have been held in all communities of the county during the past week.

Mr. Ketner stresses the fact that no credit for conservation farm practices can be given unless one of the work-sheets is filled out.

WORK OF MINING GOLD IN WARNE AREA INCREASES

Extensive gold-mining operations are being conducted along two veins in the Warne section of Clay county by Dr. J. R. Smith, of Atlanta, and associates.

Dr. Smith was in Murphy Tuesday displaying about a penny-weight of gold he had taken from one wheelbarrow of sand on the Warne and Gum Log veins. He estimates the ore will run about $50 per ton.

The gold is being worked by the sluicing method at present, and quick silver is being used to separate it from black sand. Five men are being employed regularly at present.

The mines were discovered nearly a century ago by a hunter who picked up a stone to throw at a squirrel only to find the stone was richly streaked with gold. Since that time many thousands of dollars worth of gold has been sent to a mint at Dahlonega, Ga., where it assayed about 90 per cent pure.

Hoyle Bryson Headin' For The Big Leagues

Hoyle Bryson, former Columbia Marble company baseball player, is making quite a record for himself in the Georgia-Florida League hurling for the second-division Tallahassee team.

This season Bryson, who stands fifth on the league's pitching staff, has won eight games for Tallahassee and lost two. The next best Tallahassee hurler has a percentage of only .500.

Bryson, who is well-known throughout this tri-state section as one of the fastest baseball and basketball players to appear here, only began his pitching career last year with Tom Coggins' Marble team. Scouts, seeing his hurling ability, quickly whisked him off to the minors for training for the big leagues. Local baseball fans expect to see him advance this year.

Bryson, 23, is a graduate of Young Harris college, Young Harris, Ga., near here.

T. P. Calhoun, S. H. Parker Are Nominated As Commissioners Here

Candidates for thirteen Democratic and three Republican offices were selected by varying large and small majorities in primary voting in Cherokee county and throughout the state Saturday.

Although a particularly heavy vote was not cast, much interest was in evidence throughout the campaign for the past month.

Rolling up the largest majority in county voting with 1612 votes to 336 and winning a sweeping state victory, Senator Robert R. Reynolds found large support for renomination. On the state ticket Congressman Zebulon Weaver received 1312 votes in Cherokee county to 1142 for his opponent R. L. Whitmire. Weaver won the 11th district contest by more than 15,000 votes. Stanley Winborne was a winner over Paul Grady for renomination as utilities commissioner.

R. B. (Jack) Morphew, of Robbinsville, with the aid of 1516 votes in Cherokee county, built up a comfortable margin throughout the 33rd senatorial district. Incumbent Kelly Bennett, of Bryson City, received second highest vote in the three-cornered race which also included G. L. Houk, of Franklin, and his privilege of calling a run-off primary. Whether he would call for a second primary had not been learned Wednesday.

John M. Queen, of Waynesville, veteran solicitor of the 20th judicial district, won over Baxter C. Jones, of Bryson City, in the primary by a large majority. Queen received 1780 votes in Cherokee Jones got 662.

Decisive victory in the primary went to J. N. Moody, Democratic candidate for the house of representatives, who received 1264 votes, more than the total of his three opponents, and almost double the second highest man. D. H. Tilt, who received majorities in his home precincts of Andrews, received 640 votes; Frode O. Scroggs, of Brass-town, 384, and J. Franklin Smith, of Murphy, 166. It was agreed by candidates for the representative's office before the primary not to call for a second one.
