Prisoner Proves A Puzzle; Is He Daft, or Is He Smart?

Cringing in a cell in the County jail, refusing to speak and hiding his face whenever anyone approaches him, a man named Welch, who came here nearly a month ago from Springfield, O., declaring he was a native of the hangingdog section, is being held for "observation", while Sheriff Carl Townson, Chief of Police Fred Johnson, and Dr. J. N. Hill are frankly puzzled whether he is insane, or just a clever faker. Fred Johnson thinks the latter.

When the man first appeared in Murphy he said he couldn't find a job in Ohio, and had come home only to find his folks too poor to feed him.

Lambert.

Happy Top—Mrs. Bill Brandon.

Wolf Creek—Mrs. Ruth Carroll.

He took up begging and he had a startling method. About meal time, he would walk into a house without knocking, appear suddenly at the dining table, and plead that he was starving.

After terrifying a number of women whose home he entered, unannounced while their husbands were away, Welch was locked up, charged with vagrancy, but Mayor Gray released him, on condition that he leave town.

Welch went to Franklin, N. C. and pursued his same tactics there, with the result that he was locked up again. He told the authorities that he lived in Murphy, and they promptly bought him a ticket and put him on a bus. They also gave the bus driver a letter to Sheriff Townson.

On the way to Murphy Welch scribbled a note to the driver telling him he was deaf, dumb, and paralyzed. The bus driver drove his fare direct to the jail here, and went in to get Sheriff Townson.

When they came out, however, they found that Welch had undergone a miraculous recovery from his paralysis, and had disappeared. A jail inmate said he saw Welch leap out of the bus and run down the road "like a jack rabbit".

That was about 7 o'clock last Monday night. Shortly before midnight, Policeman Neil Sneed found him crouching in the weeds back of Ivie's funeral home. Welch was captured after a short chase—and immediately became stricken with paralysis again. He had to be lifted in and out of the patrol wagon, and into his cell.

Now he refuses to talk. He also writes notes declaring he is stone deaf, but Chief Johnson says that he sneaked behind him and whispered "Look out—he's going to shoot you"—and that the "deaf" prisoner jumped three feet.

CANNING EXHIBIT TELLS BEST WAY TO GET RESULTS

Free Booklets Ready For Distribution By State College

Proper equipment is highly important for canning, and should be in every home", says Mrs. Cornelia C. Morris, State College Extension Service expert.

First on her list of equipment is an authoritative manual giving detailed instructions for preparing and processing the different fruits and vegetables. The publication is Extension Circular No. 223, "Canning Fruits and Vegetables." It is free upon request to the Agricultural Editor, State College, Raleigh.

There is also available what is popularly known as the "canning bulletin" which may be obtained free by writing the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, for Farmers' Bulletin No. 1726-F, "Home Canning of Fruits, Vegetables, and Meats."

A check-over of the canning equipment needed indicates two kinds of canners if one is handling vegetables as well as acid fruits and tomatoes, says Mrs. Morris. Acid fruits and tomatoes may be canned in a hot water-bath canner, which may be a wash boiler, a bucket. Any vessel will do, if it has a tight cover and is large enough to hold a convenient number of cans or jars, and to permit covering them with 1 to 2 inches of water. It should be fitted with a rack to hold the containers.

A steam pressure canner is necessary for all non-acid foods, including meats, and practically all vegetables except tomatoes. Such foods should not be canned at home if a steam pressure canner is not available.

New rubber rings should be bought every year for glass jars, commonly used as containers of canned foods. Rubber rings should be of good quality to withstand the temperature of processing.

farmers are showing a marked improvement in farm record keeping this year, says R. H. Crouse, assistant farm agent of the State College Extension Service.
