PLANS MADE FOR RED CROSS DRIVE AT MEETING HERE

W. Leslie Calhoun, general field representative of the American Red Cross, met with officers and roll call committee workers of the Cherokee county chapter during the past week, and aided with development of plans for the coming roll call.

Mr. Calhoun informed local members that the local chapter now holds 68th place in the state's 120 chapters, referring to ration of members enrolled according to population. He commended the local organization on their efforts in last year's roll call and a recent war fund campaign.

Mrs. C. W. Savage, secretary of the chapter, presided at the meeting in the absence of the president, W. M. Fain.

Attention was called to the fact that the regular roll call solicitations are made for the purpose of enrolling members as distinguished from the war relief campaign carried on during the spring and summer. Fifty percent of all the funds will remain in this county for local use and relief.

600 Workmen Are Involved In Halt In Dam Construction

Around 600 employees of the Utah construction company, engaged in the building of the Nantahala power project near Andrews, went out on strike at 8 o'clock this morning (Wednesday), by order of the American Federation of Labor. The working area has been "peacefully" picketed since that time and as yet no agreement has been reached.

At a conference in Topton last night, union leaders are said to have told the conciliator that they were not content to await "approval" of an agreement by the Utah company's main office in Utah, before striking at the time set.

According to Robert E. Lee, A. F. of L. organizer, the demands made upon the company were for a closed shop, shorter working hours and better pay. George R. Putman, general superintendent for the Utah concern, informed the conference Tuesday night that a pay increase of 20 per cent had been given throughout the entire organization about 10 days ago. He also denied knowledge of any trouble or threat of strike.

Holt Ross, regional director in southern states for the A. F. of L., was also present for the conference Tuesday night but refused to make comment except that no agreement had been reached in time to avoid the strike.

Also twenty-five to fifty engineers have been busily surveying the site for the past several weeks. Investigations have cleared up any danger of water shortages or of floods satisfactory to the company it is reported, according to the survey. Various building patterns have been staked out, and other arrangements made for location. In one place the survey calls for the relocation of part of Valley river for quite a distance.
