You can't blame the little lady for wanting to avoid a tiresome trip to the telephone. But her method's all wrong. What she should do, of course, is order an upstairs extension telephone and say good-bye forever to those wearisome, worrisome dashes down the stairs.

An extension telephone takes the run out of running the home and gives the whole family a lot of extra convenience and added protection... All for a few pennies a day.

Call the telephone office today. You'll be pleasantly surprised to learn how little an extension costs.
