

Draft Board Chief Sends Out Warning To Work Or Fight

Official notice that, union or no union, defense employees must "work or fight" has just been received by Secretary Wayne Walker, of the Cherokee County Draft Board. The notice is signed by Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, acting National Director of Selective Service. It bluntly warns would-be strikers that if they quit work, they automatically lose their deferment. The notice, in full, follows:

"The President has proclaimed a state of National emergency. The Government of the United States is exerting every possible effort to place this nation in a position which will insure its self-preservation.

"Congress has enacted the Selective Training and Service Act for the purpose of securing adequate men and has appropriated funds for the procurement for essential arms and equipment for the armed forces. Men by the hundreds of thousands have been selected and are now in training under the Selective Service Act.

"These men are giving their whole effort to become strong in body, disciplined in mind, skilled and trained in the methods by which the Country will be defended. These citizens soldiers have been promised that arms, supplies and equipment will be furnished by their fellow citizens who are engaged in the production of ships, airplanes, tanks, guns and other necessary munitions and supplies. They know that other registrants have been deferred from service in the armed forces to accomplish that purpose.

"They demand that no citizen hesitate to do his full share in the strengthening of the defense of America.

"Our citizen soldiers have merged their individual desires in the common objective. The citizens who have been deferred because they are necessary in the production of defense supplies and equipment may not refuse to do likewise. The basic principle upon which Selective Service operates is to keep the man on the job where he can render the greatest service to his Government.

"The citizen who has been deferred because of the job he is performing in the National Defense Program cannot expect to retain the status of deferment when he ceases to work on the job for which he was deferred. The status of deferment and the responsibility to perform the necessary work are inseparable.

"Therefore, I hereby direct all agencies of the Selective Service System to take the necessary action to reconsider the classification of all registrants who have ceased to perform the jobs for which they were deferred, and who are, by such failure impeding the National Defense Program."

Signed: James B. Hershey, Brig. Gen. U. S. A.

Boy Graduates of '41 From Andrews High Find Jobs Plentiful

Practically all of the 25 boys who recently graduated from the Andrews high school, are now remuneratively employed. This stands in bold contrast to the experience of the past several years. Then the motto seemed to be: "W. P. A., here we come."

Some of the boys have been employed locally, jobs here including hotel clerk, lumber yard, soda fountain, chain grocery and meat market. At least three boys have received employment out of the state. One boy is with the NYA in Raleigh. One is in a business school. Two boys are with the Utah Construction Company and the weekly pay envelope of each contains $40.00.

Three or four boys are doing their "bit" to feed the nation by helping their Dads on the farm.

Sheriff William R. Browne of Closter, N. J., discovered after his birthday party, attended by police and detectives that someone had stolen his birthday gift, a pair of silver candlesticks.

Carolina Oddities

- Baldhead Island, near the Gulf Stream off the North Carolina coast, is the extreme northern point where semi-tropical conditions prevail. Garden vegetables, grown out of doors, mature there in April.
- North Carolina has 300 miles of coastline and more than 3,000 miles of navigable sounds and rivers.
- Sale of a wife for $2 is revealed by court records of Cartert county, North Carolina, of 1804.
- Oldest college dormitory in the United States is Old East at the University of North Carolina. It was constructed 147 years ago.
- The former home of Dolly Madison in Guilford, N. C., rents for $30 a month.
- A radio transmitter is being erected atop Mount Mitchell in North Carolina, highest peak east of the Mississippi.
- Lacrosse, introduced by Duke and the University of North Carolina, is gaining popularity in the South.
- Bones believed to have been those of mastodons were unearthed in excavations from Camp Davis at Holly Ridge, North Carolina.
- Lake Mattamuskeet, North Carolina is a migratory lake. Water action is building up the south shore and cutting away the north shore.
- The name of Private Dan Yankey of Exeter, Pa., with the 36th Field Artillery at Fort Bragg, N. C., was conceded to have the most appropriate name for a soldier at the fort.
- Although Missouri is known as the proverbial mule state, North Carolina has 37 percent more mules than the "show me" state. In fact, North Carolina ranks fifth in the number of mules as compared with other states.

Federal prisoners in Atlanta penitentiary have set an example in patriotism that might well be emulated elsewhere. Warden Sanford's appeal to 1,000 convicts for greater effort for national defense resulted in their increasing production nearly 100 percent.

The United States News says an inside government report shows that many of the strikes of the last few months are part of an organized plan by Communists to hamper the nation's defense effort. The report also gives a forecast of other strikes now being planned by the Reds.

Only three American officers have held the permanent rank of admiral in the United States Navy. David G. Farragut, David D. Porter and George Dewey, in the order named. Farragut was the adopted brother of Porter. Dewey is the only officer to hold the rank and title of "admiral of the Navy."

ACCIDENT FACTS

It's an ill wind that blows nobody good," Ronald Hocutt, director of the Highway Safety Division, said in commenting on the prospect of "gasless Sundays," which he said would probably cut North Carolina's traffic fatality toll by as much as 20 percent.

"While I am not prepared, on the basis of information I now have, either to advocate or condemn "gasless Sundays," it is interesting to speculate as to the probable effect such a restriction might have on our traffic accident toll," Hocutt said.

"Our records show that 109 of the 449 persons killed in traffic accidents in North Carolina the first five months of this year were killed in Sunday accidents. In other words, one out of every four traffic fatalities in this state occur on the Sabbath. Thus, if our motorists were compelled to keep their cars at home on "gasless Sundays," we might reasonably expect a substantial reduction in traffic deaths as a result."

The safety director said the Sunday traffic toll this year totaled 15 in January, 20 in February, 30 in March, 15 in April and 29 in May. The heaviest toll for any one day this year was on Sunday, March 16, when 11 persons were killed in traffic accidents in the state. Saturdays were even more dangerous than Sundays, the five-months toll for Saturdays being 110 lives. Thus, 229 of the 449 persons killed the first five months of this year were killed on Saturdays and Sundays. This was 51 percent of the total.

"Think of it, we could cut our traffic accident toll in half by having gasless week ends," Hocutt declared. "Of course, I am not sure that such action will ever be taken or need to be taken in this country. Seriously, though, a substantial reduction in traffic fatalities could be effected without this prohibitive action. If our motorists were willing, they could have their cake and eat it, too. That is to say, they could continue to ride and still not kill or be killed. All it takes is the use of a little courtesy, a little caution and a little common-sense in driving."

Giant pandas brought to this country from Western China have been unlucky, seldom surviving more than two or three years. The latest to die was the 260-pound female panda, Pandora, of the Bronx Zoo. Her intended mate, Pan, died last year. One or two of these interesting animals also died at Chicago's Brookfield Zoo in recent years.

Tips Given On How To Increase Tourist Profits On Farms

Miss Pauline Gordon, Extension specialist in home management and house furnishings, offers several suggestions for attracting tourists, and for keeping them, when she says it is the hardest job. She says:

When people stop at farm homes for meals "they expect plenty of simple, well cooked food—chicken, ham, milk, cream, fresh fruits and vegetables. Also remember that 'rest' is one of the chief things you sell.

"Good beds, with good springs, good mattresses and clean linen should receive first consideration. Cleanliness is the first thing tourists look for. Tourists are not interested in family pictures. Eliminate all of them from the bedrooms."

The Extension specialist, who travels all over the State and is a keen observer of home management and house furnishings, says a well-wooded sign in front, or at a short distance from the house, is the first requisite for attracting the traveling public. Of course the house must look "homey" with a well-kept yard, and freshly painted woodwork.

Miss Gordon suggests that records be kept. No elaborate system of accounting is necessary, but bookkeeping will be advantageous.

Poultrymen Told How To Decrease Spoilage Of Eggs

"A bad egg is just a good egg gone wrong," says T. T. Brown, Extension poultry specialist of N. C. State College, "but when 175 million dozen eggs go bad—as they do each year in the United States—that's something to worry about."

Brown gives some suggestions on how producers can cut down this loss.

- (1) Keep strong, healthy, vigorous hens and care for them properly.
- (2) produce infertile eggs after the hatching season is over.
- (3) gather eggs at least twice a day in cool weather and not less than three times a day in hot weather.
- (4) keep eggs clean and in a cool, fairly moist place, and
- (5) market eggs frequently.

In marketing eggs, Brown recommends that all cracked, dirty and very small or very large eggs be sorted out. Eggs should not be washed. They should be packed when cool—never with the animal heat in them—and they should be packed with the care and up.

Detailed information on producing, handling and marketing quality eggs is contained in a publication available upon request directly to the Extension Poultry Office, N. C. State College, Raleigh.

Win a CASH PRIZE

SEND US Your Favorite BAKING RECIPE

WHITE LILY flour

Your favorite baking recipe may be a prize winner. The two most acceptable recipes received each week, from the readers of this paper, will receive cash prizes—1. Recipe must call for flour. 2. Enclose with your recipe a written copy of the wording found on the Seal of Approval of Mrs. S. R. Dull. This Seal is printed on every bag of White Lily. 3. Send recipe to Housewives Recipe Club, Box 985, Knoxville, Tenn. 1st Prize $2.00; 2nd $1.00. Rights reserved for use of recipes in advertising.

FLOUR is the foundation, yet the cheapest ingredient in all baking. White Lily is economical because it requires less of the more expensive baking ingredients. For "Baking at its Best," use White Lily because of its fine baking quality and its snowy whiteness.

Recipes received through next Thursday will be judged and winners announced the following Thursday.
