What Is The Highest Expression Of Patriotism?

Am I patriotic because I salute the United States flag? Am I patriotic when I stand during the playing of our national anthem? Can a Christian be patriotic? Can a person be really and truly patriotic without first being a Christian?

A person may salute the flag and sell alcoholic liquor to thousands of persons and destroy the American spirit. A person may stand during the playing of our national anthem and then turn and bet his last dollar on a horse race and deprive his children of food which they need in order to become strong citizens of our nation. Is he really patriotic?

If you are a patriotic citizen in the highest sense of the term you know the history and meaning of our democracy. Since you know and appreciate the cost in sacrificial living of America you are not willing to do less than your very best to the truth is to do it. It is the purpose stronger in character and more noble in freedom than when you were born.

What makes America great? America is great in so far as she has become a home of true freedom—freedom of the press, freedom of speech, freedom of worship. True democracy works on the assumption that right is attractive. To know of every patriotic citizen to place educational opportunities within the grasp of every person knowing that persons who know all the facts about right and wrong will choose to do right. America is great in so far as she has offered equal opportunities to persons from every nation and of every race. These opportunities must include work, play, education and worship. Every child in America is deserving of the best, just as every child in the world's deserving of the best, says the American patriot who dares also to be a citizen of the world.

"America, right or wrong, but give me America" is not the highest expression of patriotism. I will not be proud of America if she stoops to hate and destruction. Let America keep alive kindness when much of our world is drunk with hate. Let America keep alive hope, the faith which looks for the best, when millions are in despair. Let America seek humbly to keep in touch with God and use every opportunity to live as sons of God. Our patriotism will arise to its highest when we bring others to Him, "who is able to do far above all that we ask or think." The American who lives to help bring mankind to God who alone can make each one of us complete, is truly patriotic.

Yours for life at its best,
Sky-Pilot Anthony.

Tests with Homemade Paint Are Suggested For Farm Buildings

Farmers all over the State are using a homemade paint of mortar coloring and used motor oil on barns and other outbuildings. Some are getting good results, but others are dissatisfied, says Howard M. Ellis, Extension agricultural engineer. He suggests that some "experimenting" be done.

"Ordinarily," Ellis says, "from three-fourths to one pound of brick red mortar coloring will be required for each gallon of used motor oil. The usual mixture is one pound of coloring to one gallon of oil. However, the thicker the oil, the more coloring it will require.

"The proper mix should be determined as follows: Divide one pound of red mortar coloring into four parts. Place one gallon of burnt motor oil into a vessel large enough to permit rapid stirring.

"Mix in two parts (one-half pound) of the coloring, taking care to add the coloring slowly while the oil is being stirred to insure a good mixture. Then paint a small section, about two feet square, on the back of a barn or other building to be painted.

"Add another fourth of the motor coloring to the original mixture and paint a second section beside the first. Add the remaining fourth and paint a third section.

Garrett were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. Bass Graves, Miss Cleo and Lou Ella Mills were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Graves.

"After allowing the oil to penetrate the wood for a short time, inspect the three sections and decide which mix you desire. You are then ready to mix a sufficient quantity to cover the building.

Ellis says the homemade paint can be applied with an old orchard sprayer or with whitewash brushes. Mortar coloring may be bought at most hardware stores for about 6 cents per pound. Crank case drainings may be obtained free from most filling stations.

Timely Farm Question

QUESTION: What opportunity do farmers have to cooperate in the national defense effort aside from an adequate production of food-feed?

ANSWER: Since farmers of the state this year expect to have more income than last, but may not be able to buy some of the things which they need or want because of defense priorities, they may well invest some of the increased income in defense bonds or stamps. That is the advice of Tom Cornwell, Cleveland county cotton farmer and member of the state AAA committee, which maintains offices at State College.

The suitor for the hand of a movie actress should never despair. His turn will probably come eventually.

Once upon a time a statesman agreed about some queer notions which they called "international law."

Incensed by Charles A. Lindbergh's recent attitude on national affairs, the city council of Charlotte, N. C., has changed the name of Lindbergh Drive to Avon Terrace.
