

Local Merchants Get Big News Campaign

This year merchants and manufacturers alike face many new difficulties. To help ease some of these problems, the P. H. Hanes Knitting Company, of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, is conducting the broad advertising program they have followed for 32 consecutive years.

Appearing in this newspaper and in more than 800 other newspapers through the nation, the 1944 Hanes newspaper campaign is the largest in the underwear field.

Over the years, Hanes has found that newspaper advertising is an excellent means of telling the story of their product to the American people. It reaches them directly and quickly.

The 1944 Hanes advertisements will be interesting to millions of men and women who have sons, and other relatives and friends in the Service. For they illustrate and describe activities in various branches of the Service and stress the importance which the men attach to their underwear.

These messages will help to win friends for Hanes merchants by reminding readers of the styling, comfort and long service they get from Hanes underwear.

Mention is also made of the fact that Hanes production is also serving the Armed Forces. This will help consumers to understand their dealer's stock of Hanes underwear is low.

WHY telephones are hard to get

The telephone business is deep in the war and getting deeper all the time.

The farther American forces advance, the more switchboards, wire and telephones they need. And folks at home seem to want more, too.

Since the National Defense program started in 1940, we have supplied the needs of Army, Navy, war producers and most others. In all, Southern Bell has increased the number of telephones in service by over half a million.

The equipment to do this came from reserves that are about used up. No more can be made for civilian use. That's why we can't fill orders as fast as we'd like.

But we're doing all we can to serve as many as possible as soon as possible by—

- Reconditioning and using every facility that will give good service.
- Recovering facilities quickly when service is discontinued.
- Converting one-party lines to serve two or more families wherever possible and necessary.
- Operating central offices beyond their normal capacity.
- Taking extra-good care of equipment that can't be replaced.

If you are one of those who are waiting, we'd like you to know we want your patronage and will take care of your needs at the earliest possible moment.
