Dr. I. G. Greer To Speak At Murphy School On Tuesday Night

Good Health To Be Discussed

Dr. I. G. Greer, superintendent of the North Carolina Baptist Orphanage, Thomasville, and president of the North Carolina Good Health association, will speak at Murphy school auditorium on Tuesday evening, March 18, at 7:15, on the Good Health program as it relates to this area.

Dr. W. A. Hoover, member of the state council, will preside over the meeting. C. R. Freed will introduce Dr. Greer.

Interested citizens from adjoining counties and everyone from Cherokee county who is interested in a county-wide hospital for Cherokee are invited to attend this meeting.

Swimming Pool Is Discussed

Representatives of several organizations in town met at the courthouse Monday evening with the town council and discussed plans for a swimming pool. A discussion as to where a pool is to be located was held, and also the reason for the town's not having a park commission.

The question as to whether the town will continue to have the use of the city park property was raised, and E. E. Stiles was appointed by Mayor Neil Sneed to go to Chattanooga and talk with A. D. Rieger, property manager of TVA, to ascertain whether or not long-term lease can be secured for the use of the property.

It was brought out by town councilmen that the reason the park commission was dissolved last year was that a treasurer other than the city clerk was elected, and that a careful study of the law revealed that nobody else could serve in that capacity.

There are two places being considered for the swimming pool: the city park and the fair grounds. C. H. Townson, W. D. King, J. C. English and E. E. Stiles were appointed to study the points in favor of each and report back at a meeting to be held on Monday evening, March 24, at the courthouse.

Free Concert For Children Will Be At 1:30

The Little Symphony of the North Carolina Symphony orchestra will appear in Murphy on March 19 with programs for both children and adults. By the time they have reached Murphy, the players will have given 36 concerts in the State. And there will remain yet 19 concerts to go between March 19 and the close of the Little Symphony season on April 3rd.

Admission to the adult concert will be by membership card or purchase of ticket at the door.

There will not be much rest for the musicians, however, for rehearsals for the full Symphony begin the following day, April 4th. After several days of intensive rehearsing, the large orchestra will launch its tour with a concert in Reidsville on April 9th.

The Little Symphony, with all its luggage and unwieldy instruments, is able to travel in one bus with two dozen people, including Director Swalin and his wife. The members play in all sections of the State from Morehead City and New Bern to Murphy in the mountains.

The size of this group is ideal for such music as it plays in the thirty-two communities it visits this spring. The 19th Century Strauss waltz "Wine, Women, and Song", the modern "Jamaican Rumba" by Benjamin, and an 18th Century Mozart Symphony are equally effective and seem to be tailor-made for this group.

Miss Addie Mae Cooke, county chairman, announces that the night concert for adults begins at 8:30 P. M. in the Murphy Gymnasium, which recently was equipped with a heating system, and in which comfortable chairs will be placed for the concert. Supt. H. Bueck is in charge of arrangements for the concert at the gym.

The Symphony Society especially appreciates the interest and enthusiasm for good music in Cherokee county and feels this to be a splendid example that forward looking people have set for the rest of North Carolina. A total of $537 thus far has been raised for the society here this year. Murphy people and firms have contributed $290; Andrews, $223; and Brasstown, $24.

A free concert for school children will be given at 1:30 p. m. in the gym. Mrs. J. W. Davidson, chairman of the school solicitation and music appreciation training, has contacted school superintendents, urging them to have as many as possible of the children in the county attend this free concert.
