

Scroggs Arrested For 1938 Murder Of Wayne Zimmerman

The solution to the mystery surrounding the death of Wayne Zimmerman, 34-year-old Brasstown farmer, July 2, 1938, has never been solved, but on Monday night of this week Roy Scroggs of Brasstown was re-arrested by Sheriff Frank Crawford and Patrolman Charles Galloway, and charged with murder. He was still in jail as the paper went to press Wednesday.

Sheriff Crawford states that some new evidence has been uncovered in connection with the case, which caused the re-arrest of Scroggs, who, according to the sheriff, had been arrested twice before, charged with the murder.

Mrs. Wayne Zimmerman, now a resident of Buffalo, N. Y., through Buffalo police, has been contacted and will come to the county within the next few days to testify in the case. A preliminary hearing has been set for Monday, before Justice of the Peace F. O. Bates.

Zimmerman disappeared from his home on July 2, 1938, and no trace of him could be found until on December 17 of that year Allen James was squirrel hunting on a mountain top on the Hitchcock property and discovered a partially-clad male skeleton. The spot is about three miles from Murphy, on the old Notla Dam road. The skeleton was later identified as that of Wayne Zimmerman, by members of the family. Three pint wine bottles, containing a white sediment, were found about 75 feet from the body.

Following discovery of the skeleton of Zimmerman, the following were arrested and given a hearing in connection with the death: Mrs. Zimmerman, Roy Scroggs, and Aud Wilson. The cases were dismissed at that time for lack of evidence.
