Banks Cooperate In Bond-A-Month Plan Starting 1st

Winston-Salem - The banks of North Carolina will cooperate fully with the Treasury Department in offering the Bond-a-Month plan to depositors, says William H. Neal, president of the North Carolina Bankers Association.

The Bond-a-Month plan, which will be inaugurated on a nationwide scale beginning June 1, is a method whereby bank checking account customers may purchase one or more U.S. Savings Ronds series E. F or G, monthly by authorizing the bank to charge their accounts with the cost. The bank makes the necessary entries, issues the bonds and mails them to the depositor each month without any charge for the service.

"The bankers consider this plan an excellent supplement to the payroll savings plan," Neal said Those who do not have a payroll plan available may use the bank purchase plan if they have a checking account.

'More than 200 banks in the State are sending out enclosures with bank statesments this month, explaining the plan and providing a form on which the depositor may indicate the type and amount of bonds desired. Monthly purchases will be one or more full bonds; singing Convention will be held at there is no provision for partial payments. The depositor may select any amount of E, F, or G Savings Bonds.

"In these water shows, demonstration teams led by safety experts from the Southeastern Area Red Cross, taught lake area residents some practical safety rules for swimming and use of small craft on lake waters." Behind this move by the Red Cross in the interest of water safety along the lakes. Miss Cooke pointed out, is a need growing out of the unfamiliarity of many lake area residents with hazards of lake waters as compared to the small streams they had been accustomed to before the lakes were formed. Most accidents occurring on these lakes, she said, can be traced to ignorance of simple safety practices in handling of small craft, "Through demonstrations and widespread publicity we hope to impress these precautions on thousands of residents near the lakes and on vacationists", she said.
