This is the first time the General Board has ever met in Murphy, and it is only on rare occasions that it meets anywhere except in Raleigh, convention headquarters. For this meeting, members of the First Baptist church and others in Murphy have extended their hospitality by inviting the visitors into their homes and assisting in entertaining. Tours to several scenic points, including Hiwassee Dam, Fields of the Wood, the Copper Basin, and Fontana Dam, have been planned.

Guests will begin arriving here about noon Monday. The first formal meeting is at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, when a business session of the board will be held at First Baptist church. That morning, some of the visitors will go fishing on Hiwassee Lake.

Tuesday afternoon will be used for sightseeing, after the guests have had lunch at First Baptist church, served by the Woman's Missionary society. Tuesday evening members of the board will be guests of the church at dinner at Duke's Lodge.

On Wednesday morning the party will go to the Geo. W. Truett homestead in Clay county. This property belongs to the Baptist State convention. It is thought that local Baptists, at the business meeting of the board, will offer suggestion for maintenance of the property in a different manner from the way it has been in past years. The birthplace of the internationally famous Baptist preacher, the site already attracts many tourists.

From the Truett homestead the party will go to Fontana Dam, stopping at scenic points en route. They will have lunch at the Fontana Cafeteria and following that will be conducted on a tour of the power project. Board members and their families will be entertained over-night Wednesday at Fruitland assembly, near Hendersonville, by the convention.

On Tuesday morning while the board is in business session, other visitors will be taken on a tour to John C. Campbell Folk school.

Invitation to the board to meet in Murphy was extended on behalf of the First Baptist Church and its pastor, the Rev. J. Alton Morris, by Miss Addie Mae Cooke at a meeting of the board in Raleigh in January.

Harry W. Hull of Laguna Beach, Calif., is in Murphy to spend the month of June with his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Worthen and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Worthen and family.

the direction of Miss Moselle Moore.

In the contests were 21 choirs, representing churches of varying sizes throughout the state. Four groups were composed of more than 18, 17 had 18 or less. The Murphy choir was the smallest in number in the contest. Two or three others received a grade of A.
