Monroe Redden Speaks To VFW

ANDREWS—Special emphasis is being placed on the organization of a strong post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in this county. Both Andrews and Murphy have posts, and plans are underway to unite the two into one post to embrace the membership of the entire county. Dr. Chas. A. Van Gorder of Andrews is commander there, and Billy Cornwell of Murphy is commander here.

In an effort to enlist the eligible membership and to show them the benefits of the membership of the county in the organization, Dr. Van Gorder and W. D. Whitaker of Andrews planned a banquet in Andrews for last Thursday evening, when Congressman Monroe Redden was invited to speak.

The dinner was held here Thursday night in the Youth Building and attended by one hundred veterans. A fine dinner was supplied for the occasion without cost to these in attendance. Dr. C. A. Van Gorder, post commander, presided over the meeting.

Beginning the dinner, the Rev. J. C. Lime, former Navy chaplain, offered the invocation.

Rep. Redden was introduced by W. D. Whitaker. Mr. Redden made an excellent address, first expressing his happiness at being in Cherokee county, saying that the voters in the county had done a handsome thing for him in the last November election. He said it was no inconvenience for him to come to Andrews, and that he thought it was the duty of a congressman to get out among his constituents to see what they were like.

Mr. Redden spoke of the good fortune of Americans who live in a land of peace and orderly government. "Peace", he declared, "means mental contentment. Can you select a place on earth outside America where peace exists?" "America where peace exists?" "Communism was held up to the veterans by the speaker as a most dangerous political program which he feared had "hundred of thousands of people in America in its membership who would overthrow our form of government". The November election will tell us just how many communists there are. They will vote the third party ticket.

The Marshall plan was favored by Mr. Redden because the plan "advocates the helping of the people of Europe who are willing to stand up and fight for the same things that Americans would fight for". For the security of America he thought the enactment of a selective service law similar to the plan followed in War II as necessary. Redden said that he would offer an amendment to any selective service act presented to the congress to make "it a violation of law for any man to go on strike" who was employed in a key industry, when such strike would weaken the national safety or welfare.

Without mentioning him by name he gave John L. Lewis a severe castigation. He thought no one man should have power to shut down the railroads, stop the schools, close the hospitals, and otherwise weaken the national economy. "It is necessary to see that drafted men have the necessary supplies and not be hindered by strikes."

Among those attending the event were Jack Woody of Canton, district commander, and Allen Brown of Hendersonville, past district

Mrs. Luke Ellis and Mrs. Clyde H. Jarrett tied for high score. Mrs. Ellis won the lucky number.

Mickey West of the U. S. Army, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer West, is visiting his parents. He has been stationed in Saipan for the past several months. He entered the service in 1946.

Veteran Students To Receive Extra 15-Day Pay

World War II veterans attending schools, colleges and universities in North Carolina under the so-called G. I. Bill of Rights will receive automatically subsistence payments for 15 days after the spring sessions end, but will not be eligible for servicemen's readjustment allowances under the G. I. Bill while receiving the subsistence allowances.

This announcement is made by Henry E. Kendall, chairman of the Employment Security Commission of North Carolina, which administers this provision of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944 under direction of the Veterans Administration.

Students under this program should make sure their G. I. subsistence payments have stopped before they file claim for unemployment allowances, since, in cases of deliberate attempts to defraud, there may be a fine or jail penalty for drawing "concurrent payments," as well as the forfeiture of all rights under the readjustment allowance program. Chairman Kendall explains. Incidentally, he cites, 192 cases of fraud in all types of veteran claims were referred to the Federal Government for prosecution in March and April.

Veterans are reminded also that they are required to apply for jobs, be available for work, able to work and willing to take suitable jobs before they are eligible to unemployment allowances during their vacation periods. Too, they are required to show that they have actually sought work on their own initiative if the Commission's North Carolina State Employment Service Division is not able to locate jobs for them.

Moreover, Chairman Kendall points out, veterans are not expected to be too "choosy" in the types of jobs they will accept, since at best their work will be temporary, if they plan to reenter school in the fall. Normally such jobs as those found in farming, food processing, vacation resorts, lumbering and other seasonal work will be considered suitable for temporary jobs for most student veterans.

Unemployment allowances are by no means intended as vacation pay and the status of all veterans who file claims for benefits will be scrutinized closely by personnel in local Employment Security offices. Chairman Kendall said, Veterans eligible for unemployment benefits will receive them, but every effort will be made to find and require them to take reasonably suitable jobs during the summer months, he said.

Machinery on the farm is a powerful servant but it is a dangerous one when carelessly used.

WOOD'S V-50 MAKES 162.2 Bushels Per Acre In OFFICIAL TESTS

At Norfolk Experiment Station

WOOD'S V-50 also made a record yield for all yellow commercial hybrids in a Virginia Piedmont or Mountain Experiment Station test—107 bushels per acre. N. C. State College recommends this hybrid for Piedmont and Upper Coast.

WOOD'S V-35 is recommended for the N. C. Mountain area, where it outyielded all yellow corns in Experiment Station tests.

WOOD'S V-40, an early yellow hybrid recommended by State College for Western North Carolina, is superior for late planting throughout the South.

WOOD'S V-125, a white hybrid, made the highest average yield of any corn in all 1947 N. C. Piedmont and Mountain Experiment Station tests. It also was tops in 1947 Virginia Experiment Station tests.

WOOD'S HYBRID YELLOW SWEEPSTAKES is the leading Southern ensilage hybrid.

WOOD has a large assortment of Certified Hybrids, including: Ind. 750 and Ky. 72B white; U. S. 262, U. S. 265, U. S. 13, U. S. 99, Ill. 448 yellow.

Looked at and looked up to

This is the one, of course, that you spot at a glance.

This is the one that sends a string of facts racing through your mind — if you know automobiles — the instant you see the name ROADMASTER spelled out on its fender.

Up to one hundred and fifty Fireball horsepower. Eighteen feet big — and spring-colt lively.

Gorgeously finished. Coil-spring cradled on all four wheels. Shod with oversize tires that take extra low pressures for added comfort.

Convenient too — with push-button controls not only for the top, but for door windows and the front-seat adjustment as well.

This, too, is the only passenger car in this country where the power plant does what gears used to do.

Here's the one place you'll find Dynaflo Drive,* in which liquid replaces not only the clutch and manually operated low, second and high, but mechanical gear-changers as well.

In short — here's liquid ease and smoothness in delightful new degree, through a sort of "magic muscle" that lets you forget about gear-changing practically entirely.

No wonder, then, this car is looked up to.

Looked up to for impressive appearance — looked up to for superlative ability.

Looked up to for what's newest in engineering advances.

If your standards call for a real performer — and for quality a cut above the ordinarily good — specify ROADMASTER when you see your dealer (with or without a car to trade) about getting an order in.

BUICK alone has all these features

- * DYNAFLOW DRIVE (Optional, Roadmaster Series)
- * TAPER-THRU RIDING (Super and Roadmaster)
- * VIBRA-SHIELDED STYLE * SAFETY-RIDE RIMS
- * HI-POISED FIREBALL POWER
- * ROAD-RITE BALANCE * RIGID TORQUE-TUBE
- * QUADRIFLEX COIL SPRINGING
- * SOUND-SORBER TOP LINING (Super and Roadmaster)
- * DUOMATIC SPARK ADVANCE * FLEX-FIT OIL RINGS
- * TEN SMART MODELS * BODY BY FISHER

When better automobiles are built BUICK will build them

WHAT'S DIFFERENT ABOUT DYNAFLOW DRIVE?
To an efficient new pump (left above), Buick engineers have added a free turbine (right) and an ingenious new supercharging assembly (in hand) which produce a torque boost—result is the first device on accelerating. The passenger car which employs liquid to fill the function of both the clutch and the usual low, second and high gears. The clutch pedal is eliminated and a simple control gives you manual selection of power ranges and direction.
*Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster models only.
