MEDITATION

"And there was Mary Magdalene and the other Mary, sitting over against the sepulchre." (Matt. 27:61)

"How strangely stupid is grief. It neither learns nor knows nor wishes to learn or know. When the sorrowing sisters sat over against the door of God's sepulchre, did they see the two thousand years that have passed triumphing away? Did they see anything but this: 'Our Christ is Gone!'"

"Your Christ and my Christ came from their loss: Myriad mourning hearts have had resurrection in the midst of their grief; and yet the sorrowing watchers looked at the seed-form of this result, and saw nothing. What they regarded as the end of life was the very preparation for coronation: for Christ was silent that He might live again in tenfold power.

"They saw it not. They mourned, they wept, and went away, and came again, driven by their hearts to the sepulchre. Still it was a sepulchre, unprophetic, voiceless, lusterless.

"So with us. Every man sits over against the sepulchre in his garden, in the first instance, and says, This woe is irremediable. I see no benefit in it. I will take no comfort in it. And yet, right in our deepest and worst mishaps, often, our Christ is lying, waiting for resurrection.

"Where our death seems to be, there our Saviour is. Where the end of hope is, there is the brightest beginning of fruition. Where the darkness is thickest, there the bright beaming light that never is set is about to emerge. When the whole experience is consummated, then we find that a garden is not disfigured by a sepulchre. Our joys are made better if there be sorrow in the midst of them. And our sorrows are made bright by the joys that God has planted around about them. The flowers may not be pleasing to us, they may not be such as we are fond of plucking, but they are heart-flowers, love, hope, faith, joy, peace—these are flowers which are planted around about every grave that is sunk in the Christian heart."

Sellers On Duty For Training "Exercise Tarheel"

Fort Bragg, Capt. Harold M. Sellers, of Hayesville, N. C., is on active duty for approximately 60 days for Training "Exercise Tarheel" to take place in the Fort Bragg-Camp Mackall sandhill region of North Carolina during April and May.

YOUR HEALTH DEPARTMENT

By D. H. MOODY, Senior Sanitarian

Summer time is coming, and our attention naturally turns to gardens, picnics, and sheer joy of living. While making our plans let's not forget that a little effort or precaution at the right time can save a lot of blunders and discomfort. Among the things which can mar our happiness are mosquitoes and the ever-present house fly. These dangerous pests can be controlled, and right now is the time to start.

First, they must have a place to breed and harbor. Don't let that be your own back yard or fence corner. Clean up and have removed all waste, rubbish, tin cans, other trash, and see that no water is left standing in barrels, automobile tires, or puddles. See that your garbage cans are washed clean at intervals and kept covered. Check the screens to your doors and windows. Put them in good repair and if necessary, replace with new wire. It is plentiful now. You can add to the life and especially to the appearance of the doors and window frames by applying a good paint job.

We are in much better position to control flies now because of the discovered use of DDT. It can be used effectively and without danger and I would like to see it more widely used, not only in food handling places and school lunch rooms, but in back porches, wood sheds and barns. One good coat of DDT residual properly applied can be effective during the entire summer. Just give it a trial and see for yourself. You would be surprised at the results.

It is not necessary to use 10 or 15 or 25 per cent DDT. The North Carolina Department of Agriculture and the State Board of Health have found that 5 per cent properly applied is just as effective as the stronger solutions and is more economical. Of course, if you have a stronger solution you can cut it down by adding water. The main key to good results is thorough coverage. See that every bit of wall surface is thoroughly covered as you would cover when painting with a spray outfit. Use DDT properly and you won't have to "swat the fly."

bat team. Following the unit training phase, troops will enter the main tactical exercise in which task force "Victor" will be pitted against the enemy, represented by the "Aggressor Force." The exercise will terminate May 20.

Heaven Is Real

Easter Lesson for April 17, 1949

HEAVEN IS just as real as Chicago. More so, because Chicago will in time cease to be, while heaven lasts forever. A few atomic bombs, a whiff of some new plague, can make Chicago vanish; but no atomic bomb can touch heaven. The city is, so few Christians really believe this. We can get mail from Chicago, but who ever heard of mail from heaven?

Dr. Foreman

Wait, though... there is mail from heaven, and you have it there in your Bible. If you accept it for what it is, the Word of God, then it is the Word from heaven. To be sure, it does not tell us much about heaven. If you were actually traveling to Chicago, you would not begin by studying a street-map of that city. What you would need is a map of the roads between.

So the Bible is not a guide-book to the "City Four-square;" it is more of a road-map to help us find the way between here and there. Nevertheless, the Bible does assure us that heaven is real.

Christians have many reasons for believing in the reality of the future life, and some of these may not be in the Bible; but the best reasons are there.

Jesus Believed It

WINIFRED KIRKLAND has truly said that Jesus did not simply believe in immortality; he lived it. Jesus would never have called this world or this life trifling or unimportant. But all around, under and over and through this visible world, Jesus was aware of another. He lived and acted as a citizen of both worlds. He talked of life after death—for that matter, of his own life before his birth—as calmly and naturally as you would speak of next week or next summer.

Christ Is Risen

MANY PEOPLE feel it would be easier to believe in the future life is someone who had been across the line of death would return across that line to bring a message from the beyond. So they attend seances and they listen to table-tappings and go through all manner of weird performances in order to get a word or two from someone who has passed on.

But all the time we do have a record of a Return. Indeed it is The Return. We call it the Resurrection. The message of Easter is not summed up in songs about some "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere;" it is in these three words: "Christ is risen!"

He did not return in darkness, he was not under the control of any "medium," he did not make himself known by ghostly hauntings. He was seen at supper-tables, he spoke to his friends on a mountainside, he came to fishermen on a spring morning by a lake shore. The earliest Christians doubted some things; but few doubted that the Lord was risen indeed.

Heaven Begins With God

THE CURE for the troubled heart, Jesus said, is faith in God. One of the strongest reasons for believing that the future life is real, is the nature and character of God himself. Jesus said as much once, in an argument with men who did not believe in immortality: "God is not the God of the dead, but of the living." If we were God's paper dolls or toy soldiers, he might weary of us as a child wearies of its toys, and sweep us all into destruction without a moment's thought. But if we are truly his children, then when life's evening comes, he will call his tired child ren home.

Eternal Life has two sides, the heaven-side and the earth-side. The church has never believed that simple immortality is the same thing as the heavenly life.

A Judas, when he dies, goes (as Peter sadly said) "to his own place." A Judas carries out his own bell with him. But a man like Paul, or any Christian who has been at home with God here on this earth, when at last death comes, will, as Whittier said:

"Find himself by hands familiar beckoned Unto his fitting place."

Scouting

With the Editor

LAST WEEK it was my privilege to visit Mills Home, Thomasville headquarters of the Baptist Orphanage of North Carolina. There 400 boys and girls, from three years up, are given a home, as I visited all the activities on the campus, the church, the school, the various offices, the laundry, sewing rooms cottages, locker plant, lunch room, printing plant, library, infirmary, dairy and farms, I could understand better why the youngsters are so well trained and have such healthy bodies and happy spirits.

JAMES CHADWICK, assistant secretary-treasurer of Columbia Marble Co., one of the county's poets, is author of the following poem, appropriate for this week:

EASTER MORNING
E arly at dawn, it occurred
A sad occasion, a happy occasion
Such was Christ's resurrection.
T hat all men might live, Christ died.
E steemed in His heart was our existence
R emember now His noble sacrifice.
M ust it be that His death was vain?
O r will we forget His shame?
R isking all for us, His life He gave
N othing for Himself He asked but our gain.
I n His sufferings us He did not forget.
N ow we must repay our debt!
G ive to the world ourselves, Christ's best!

Martha Caldwell Is On Dean's List

Miss Martha Caldwell of Andrews, is listed on the Dean's Honor Roll for the Winter Quarter at Tennessee Wesleyan College, Athens, Tenn. This is a great honor; for to be on the Honor Roll, the student must carry at least 12 hours per quarter and maintain at least a "B" average for the quarter with no grade less than "C". The college impresses upon its students that to make good grades is not the only goal of college life, but that such grades are important. They represent a measure of actual achievement and tend to show the attitude of the student towards responsibility placed upon him, all of which has a definite bearing on his future career.

Miss Victoria Bell of Canton, field representative of the State Board of Public Welfare, was in Murphy this week on business.

THE PUBLIC SPEAKS

What is your opinion of our school band? Should it receive public support?

MRS. DALE LEE—"The concert last week was fine, wonderful! It should receive the full cooperation of the town and community."

W. A. ADAMS—"If it is used for the interest of the public alone, not as a financial proposition, it should have the full support of the community."
