

Gives Hints On Washing Blankets

By RUTH CURRENT
 State Home Demonstration Agent

Dry sunny summer weather is the time many housewives choose for washing blankets and bedspreads. When doing this job, textile specialists suggest care in brushing up the nap or fluffy surface of cotton chenille spreads and wool blankets.

The nap on chenille spreads may be fluffed by shaking them occasionally as they dry on the line and rubbing briskly with the hand or a soft brush. Give them a final rub after they are dry. Never use a stiff brush because it is likely to pull out some of the chenille.

To raise the nap on wool blankets, however, a clean, stiff whisk broom is recommended, but the brushing must be done after the blanket is thoroughly dry. Wool is weak when wet and must be handled carefully. When dry, brushing will not damage the blanket, and fluffing the surface will add much to its warmth.

Chintz curtains can so easily delight the eye for color that no one can resist them. They are washable but don't have to be laundered often as their shiny surface sheds dirt well. But here we emphasize, read your labels.

for there is chintz and chintz. The best buy is permanent glaze chintz which has a durable finish unhurt by washing. Never soak this chintz. Wash in lukewarm water and mild soap or detergent. Dry in the shade. Iron on the glazed side while still slightly damp with a moderate iron. There is also chintz that is not permanently glazed. It has a glazed finish when purchased but when washed this glaze disappears. But in time, it does have to be washed despite the loss of glaze, so again do not soak, use lukewarm water for wash and rinse, and mild soap or detergent.

For Sun And View

Five rooms abreast share the view of trees and rolling hills in this New England contemporary house. The architect has given a 94-foot wide plan a centrally placed entry, only a few steps from the driveway. The master bedroom has windows in three walls—one an enchanting bay, while the 14 by 22 foot living room has a large picture window, a pine-paneled fireplace and bookcase wall and is easily accessible to the garden porch through the adjoining dining alcove.

5,000 Expected Farm, Home Week

More than 5,000 Tar Heel farmers and homemakers are expected to gather on the State College campus in Raleigh early next month for what promises to be the most outstanding Farm and Home Week program ever held in North Carolina, John W. Goodman, assistant director of the State College Extension Service, said this week.

The four-day annual event, not held last year because of a polio epidemic, will begin with registration on Monday, August 8, and continue until Thursday night, August 11, when Bob Hawk, national radio show quiz-master, will preside over a grand-finance contest during which more than $5,000 worth of farm machinery and equipment will be given away.

Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan, author of the much-discussed Brannan farm program, will headline a list of notable speakers for the occasion. He will address a joint session of men and women on Tuesday night.

Other featured speakers will be Governor Scott, himself a farmer and former county agent; Rep. Harold D. Cooley of Nashville, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee; Mrs. Camille McGhee Kelly of Memphis, Tenn., one of the best-known juvenile court judges in the nation; and Mrs. Raymond Sayre, president of Associated Country Women of the World.

Congressman Cooley will speak on proposed national farm legislation and will then participate in a round-table discussion on the same subject with Dr. J. H. Hilton, dean of the State College School of Agriculture; L. Y. Ballentine, State agriculture commissioner; R. Flake Shaw, executive secretary of the North Carolina Farm Bureau; Harry B. Caldwell, master of the State Grange; G. T. Scott, State director of Production and Marketing Administration; E. B. Garrett, State soil conservationist; and Dr. I. O. Schaub, director of the State College Extension Service.
