SENATOR GRAHAM SPEAKING AT PICNIC—Shown above on stage of Andrews High School, is U. S. Senator Frank Graham speaking to the huge crowd that gathered there last Saturday for the annual Farmers Federation picnic. Senator Graham is in the center, and others participating on the program, including Percy B. Ferebee, Mrs. Giles Cover, and James G. K. McClure, are seated. The building was so crowded that children found a place to sit on the edge of the stage.

Evangelistic Services In Tent To Continue Through July 24

With Dr. J. C. Canipe, secretary of evangelism for the Baptist State Convention, preaching, and Q. L. Frye, of Hickory, leading the singing, the tent revival that has been in progress here since last Sunday night is attracting large crowds. Miss Moselle Moore, music director of First Baptist Church, is pianist.

The revival is being sponsored by the 44 Baptist Churches in the Western North Carolina Association. It will continue through Sunday evening, July 24. Representatives from many of the sponsoring churches and from churches of other denominations have been attending.

Services begin each evening at 8 o'clock. There will be no services in the tent Sunday morning, and regular services will be held in the individual churches.

In addition to the announced evening services, a special service will be held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock for the convenience of people who are in town doing their shopping. Dr. Canipe will preach, and Mr. Frye lead the singing at this service.

The large tent, that is next door to First Baptist Church, on the lot of W. D. Townson, was erected, lights installed, and seats arranged last week by the pastor and members of First Baptist Church. In addition to furnishing the lot without charge, Mr. Townson donated the use of lumber for the seats. P. G. Ivie, moderator of the association, and others on the associational executive committee, also gave their services, to provide comfortable and adequate seating space for all who attend.

LEADING TENT REVIVAL—Dr. J. C. Canipe, left, and Q. L. Frye, right, who are conducting a tent revival in Murphy, next door to First Baptist Church, with services each evening at 8 o'clock. The revival is sponsored by the Western North Carolina Baptist Association. It will continue through Sunday evening, July 24.

Senator Frank P. Graham, North Carolina's Junior Senator in the United States Congress, spoke to 1,800 people assembled at the annual Farmers Federation picnic at Andrews School Saturday. His subject was "Federal Aid to Education", and he discussed the bills that are now before Congress on this project.

He commended the people of the mountain area for their large vote in favor of issuing road and school bonds, in the recent election in North Carolina.

The Senator told the farm families that federal aid to education is the only way by which education in the poorer states, particularly the Southern states, can be made equal to that in the richer states. "Just as we in North Carolina have had state aid to counties everywhere," he asserted, "so now we should have federal aid to the states everywhere."

He commended the Farmers Federation for basing its activities on the principles of the Christian religion and for its "creative principle of federating together for cooperation in marketing."

"Seeing you people here today," he told the picnic crowd, "singing together, worshipping together, and working together is an inspiration to me and it renews my faith in the future of America."

James G. K. McClure, President of the Farmers Federation, directed the picnic throughout the day and outlined the various departments of the cooperative which are at work building markets for Western North Carolina farm products. Jack Gattis, manager of the Farmers Federation hatchery, described the organization's quality poultry program, and Rev. Dumont Clarke gave a report on the progress of the Lord's Acre movement.

Mrs. Giles Cover made an address of welcome at the opening of the picnic, and State Senator L. B. Nichols and Percy Ferebee spoke briefly in the afternoon. Mack Patton, Assistant Cherokee County farm agent, described the operations of the Southeastern Artificial Breeding Association, and illustrated his talk with a large cow which produced bottled milk on the stage.

Ed Slagle was victorious in the men's musical chairs competition. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Mason of Murphy, who have been married 47 years, were awarded the prize for the longest married couple. Mr. and Mrs. Perry Abernathy of Grandview had the largest family present and also brought the largest truckload of people to the picnic. The winner of the bald-headed contest, determined by applause of the audience, went for the consecutive year to C. S. Jenkins of Culberson.
