Washam Speaks At Rotary Club

ANDREWS-The Rev. Washam, "Methodist minister, was speaker before the Andrews Rotary club on Oct. 13. Mr. Washam was guest of J. P. Matheson.

Using the topic "What Do We Want of Other People?", the minister asserted first "We desire that other people like us." Again, said he, "We want other people to look for the best in us." In the third place, "We want other people to appreciate us."

To achieve these objectives the minister suggested (1) that one judge others kindly, and (2) that A report from the registrar's he examine himself to see if he appreciates "the other fellow" "This principle is true in relation to our God", said Mr. Washam. "He cannot do for us except we ake a right attitude toward Him." Gordon Butler was asked to report on the Andrews-Bryson City

Friday, October 14 marked the ttwenty-fifth anniversary of citizens Bank & Trust Company of An-On this mid-October morning in 1924 the doors were opened to the public for the first time, and since that time it has continued to serve the public through one of the Nation's worst depressions and one of the world's most terrible wars.

The motto of Citizens Bank & Trust Company is, "Serving Southwestern North Carolina", and in the past quarter of a century it has truly lived up to that motto. Serving without prejudice, one and all that came within its portals, be it for financial assistance in a time of need or merely for advice on some business transaction.

The first day of business closed with some half dozen customers and total deposits of $6,013.27 and total resources of $21,013.27. Business closed on October 14, 1949 with almost seven thousand customers, total deposits of $3,820,-659.78 and total resources of $4,-188 231.41, but the stature of Citizens Bank & Trust Company has not only grown in dollars and cents of deposits and resources, but also in the hearts and minds of the people it serves.

With branch banks in Hayesville, Murphy and Robbinsville it serve over thirty one thousand citizens of the extreme southwestern part of the state, and probably one of the most diversified clientele of any bank in the state

Its customers consist of a number of "lowlanders" who come here for the summer or hunting season as well as local Cherokees that need an interpreter to transact their business

Farmers in overalls, loggers in calked boots, shy Indian maids with their first papoose strapped on their back in soft, bright blankets, as well as business men and tourists are among its host of friends and customers.

Percy B. Ferebee, President and Chairman of the Board of Directors, has served in this capacity since June, 1926, W. D. Whitaker, Senior Vice-President has served faithfully since March 1926 and Mrs. Mildred B. Ray, Cashier, and one of the few women Cashiers bank since June 1930.
