

Ear, Nose And Throat Clinic To Be Held Here Apr. 23-24

Dr. Wm. F. Powell of Asheville, ear, nose, eye and throat specialist, will be in Murphy Monday and Tuesday, April 23-24 to conduct an ear, nose and throat clinic for school children.

In 1949 the Legislature appropriated some funds for school health. It was allocated on a per capita basis on the previous year's enrollment in the schools.

The money was used for dental work, tonsillectomies, special examinations, and supplies, including an audiometer, an instrument to test hearing.

Testing has been done by the supervising teachers, Miss Maggie Bell Kisselburg and Mrs. Margaret Mauney, and classroom teachers.

authorize the county commissioners to spend not more than $30,000, in TVA money to promote the general health and welfare of the county and for certain specified objects, was ratified Mar. 22.

These objects include parks, recreation and related facilities, fire protection, cemeteries, indigent care, surveys and grants in connection with location of industries, upkeep and maintenance of the county jail and courthouse, rabies control, law enforcement and radio equipment for the sheriff's office and expenses in extradition proceedings.

The bill was introduced by Rep. J. H. Duncan.

Craftsman's Fair To Be In July

Tourist who vacation in the "Land of the Sky" during July 10, 11, 12 and 13 this summer will find Asheville, the well-known resort center, host city to the Fourth Craftsman's Fair of the Southern Highlands.

Previous Craftsman's Fairs have gained wide recognition for this unusual craft event-it is now considered the most outstanding handicraft presentation given annually in the United States.

The first three Fairs were held in Gatlinburg, Tennessee, the northern gateway to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park. From the beginning, when the idea for a Craftsman's Fair originated, it was felt by the craftsmen who made up the membership of the Southern Highlands Handicraft Guild, sponsors of the event, that it would be wise to rotate among the towns in the highland region of the Appalachians.

As many as twenty hand arts will be displayed and visitors find the people who demonstrate their skills here as interesting as the things they do.

Kenneth Farmer In Iota Lambda Sigma

Kenneth Farmer of Tomolia and a student at Clemson College was tapped for membership in the Gamma chapter of Iota Lambda Sigma, national honorary scholastic fraternity for industrial educators on March 8. Playwright Kermit Hunter To Speak At Campbell Folk School On May 5

The success of Kermit Hunter's Cherokee Indian drama, "Unto These Hills", has made him one of the most sought-after playwrights in the country. Cherokee County people will have an opportunity to hear an address by him on May 5, when he has accepted an invitation to speak at the 25th anniversary celebration of John C. Campbell Folk School.

With the nation becoming more and more outdoor-drama-conscious, the University of North Carolina English instructor has been contacted by at least five communities in the South and East to write regional folk plays.

And now he has been commissioned to write a play around the life of James Rutledge for the state of Illinois by the New Salem Lincoln League of Petersburg. The production will open July 1 in an outdoor theatre in the restored village of New Salem.

Hunter, a native of Welch, West Virginia, is presently in Springfield, Ill., where he is hard at work completing the script and writing the musical score for the drama which is yet untitled.

He plans to be here for the second season opening of "Unto These Hills" at Mountaintop Theatre, June 23, and then will fly back to Illinois for the premiere of his new show.

Before beginning work on the Illinois play, Hunter completed re-writing the final scene in "Unto

SOMETHING TO SMILE ABOUT—Two sets of twins in one family is no longer a double tragedy for native Christians in Africa. Before the coming of the missionaries superstitious parents would have killed one baby from each of these pairs of twins, posed with the children of the Seventh-day Adventist missionary doctor at Malamulo Hospital, Nyasaland.

Peachtree People To Survey Progress Under TVA Program

About sixty people gathered at Peachtree School March 21 to make plans for a survey of the community to determine agricultural progress to date since this area went on the TVA program as an area demonstration, according to the office of County Agent A. Q. Ketter.

A survey in 1944 showed that corn had increased in yield per acre from 26 to 34 bushels. Progress was also noted in other crops, in farm buildings and equipment, in number and breed of livestock kept and in the homes.

Mr. Ketter's office anticipate that the survey which will be made during April will show more progress throughout the community.

W. B. Collins, Farm Management Supervisor, Asheville, was present and made a few remarks regarding progress in the community and the picture, "Green Pastures for North Carolina" was shown.

Nineteen people were present at a similar meeting at the Myers Chapel Community House in Clay County March 22 to make plans to survey the Hyatts Creek Watershed.

Numerous improvements have been made, in this community, states the same office, since TVA has furnished phosphates for application to pastures and hay crops. Corn yields have about doubled and Grade "A" dairies have increased in number along with other farm and home improvements.

Holy Communion To Be Held

The Sacrament of Holy Communion will be administered at the Murphy Presbyterian Church Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service. "I Believe in the Communion of Saints" will be the topic of the meditation by the pastor, the Rev. James R. Crook.

The Session of the church will meet at 10:30 a. m. to receive new members and to meet with parents who wish to present their infant children for the Sacrament of Baptism at the morning service.

Members of the church will meet at 7:15 on Wednesday night to go as a body to the revival service at the First Baptist Church. The Committee on Fellowship and the Committee on Education originally scheduled for April 11 will be postponed until April 18 in order to enable the members to attend the revival.

Large crowds have been attending all services. People of other denominations in addition to the Baptists are attending in large numbers.

School Building Received Andrews

ANDREWS—Detailed plans for the proposed Andrews Primary Building were received here March 24 at the office of Superintendent of Schools, I. B. Hudson, from the architect, Lindsey Madison Guder of Asheville. The plans as now drawn call for a nine-room one-story primary building. The building will also contain an office for the elementary principal. The plans are sketched on six sheets 24 inches by 36 inches. It will be possible within the near future to advertise for bids on this proposed new construction.

A great deal of preliminary work has been done in promoting the work this far. A site was selected last summer and a topographical survey made. Up to this time not one penny of money has been spent of funds allotted to the Andrews unit by the State as a result of legislation of the 1949 General Assembly and the subsequent $25,000,000 bond election. The total Andrews allotment is $106,076.33.

On Dec. 5, 1950 Board Chairman H. M. Whitaker and Supt. I. B. Hudson appeared before a State Review Panel in Raleigh for the purpose of presenting the long-rangs plan for the school unit. On Dec. 7, State Supt. of Public Instruction, Clyde A. Erwin, wrote as follows to the superintendent:

"The plan of school organization for the Andrews Administrative Unit as presented by you to the State Review Panel has been approved by the State Board of Education.

"I extend to you congratulations upon having presented a well-planned program and pledge to you our continued cooperation in making the building program in each unit as effective as possible."

Supt. I. B. Hudson stated here today that inasmuch as there was to be a change in the administrative officer for the local schools that the entire building program as now contemplated would be referred to the new school board, which is scheduled to be installed April 2.

The long-range plans call for a proper building at Marble. It is contemplated that the new board will be able to provide facilities for the various schools where these are required.

Mrs. J. E. Bayless, who was recently released from the hospital, has returned to Murphy General hospital for further treatment. Her son, William (Bill) Bayless, and four children spent the weekend here visiting his parents.

Dr. and Mrs. W. E. McCall of Asheville spent the week-end with Dr. McCall's mother, Mrs. J. H. McCall.
