It may receive the sun and air,
But some with self the window
cloy,
And shut out all the light and joy.

TWELVE PAGES THIS WEEK

Ralph Jordan's Calf Wins First Place

Four-H Club boys put Cherokee County dairy cattle on the map Tuesday. Exhibiting their purebred heifers in the Seventh Annual Western North Carolina Junior Dairy Show, these boys took home a larger proportion of blue ribbons than any other county. A total of 165 purebred dairy animals, the best in Western North Carolina, were on exhibit.

Ralph Jordan of Andrews won first place in the Senior Guernsey Calf Class with his heifer, Belmont View Primer's Friskie. Ralph caused a sensation with his excellent showmanship and a superb animal, which he had purchased at the Murphy Purebred Guernsey Sale last spring.

Of eight calves shown by local boys, five won blue ribbons, and the other three won red ribbons. Winners of blue ribbons in addition to Jordan, were Harry Arrowood, Charles Smith, W. C. Arrowood, and Dick Ketner's calf shown by W. C. Arrowood. James Martin, Harry Arrowood and Wesley Garrett showed Guernsey heifers and won red ribbons. All winners will receive prize money. This show, the Seventh Annual event, was sponsored by the Asheville Agricultural Development Council and was financed by the Asheville Merchants Association. The show was held at the new Hominy Valley Horse and Hound Pavilion at Enka.

The two-day event was conducted by the dairy specialists of the N. C. Agriculture Extension Service. Animals were judged by Dr. D. W. Colvard of N. C. State College; Herbert M. Speas, Burke County Agent and Homer Sink of the Agricultural Experiment Station. Most of the counties in Western North Carolina were represented. A banquet Monday night was given by the Asheville Kiwanis Club.

Attending the show and assisting the boys, were Mack Patton, assistant county agent; Bill Russell of Andrews and Leonard Mills of Grandview.

Launching Crusade for Freedom

PILLOW BALLOON, like one released in Murphy Monday morning as the Murphy to Manteo Crusade for Freedom motorcade was launched. These balloons dramatize millions of "Winds of Freedom" messages sent to people of Soviet satellite countries. The word "Wolnose" on the balloon is the Polish word meaning "Freedom". The 1951 station wagon is one of the 49 which Chevrolet Motor Division has provided for the motorcades throughout the country.

Kermit Hunter Speaks In Behalf Of Crusade

The Crusade for Freedom motorcade started Monday at 9 a. m. in Murphy where a short program was given and a large number of people attended, including students of the Murphy School.

Kermit Hunter, author of "Unto These Hills" and "Forever This Land", who is serving as promotional director of the Crusade in Western North Carolina, spoke briefly here Monday morning. He was presented by Percy B. Ferebee, county chairman.

Personnel with the motorcade included Mr. Hunter, Mrs. C. E. Damerson of Asheville, Russell Reynolds, Larry Currys, Miss Phoebe Norton, Herbert Brantley, and Marion Dority of Raleigh.

The two-unit motorcade, which will show the people of North Carolina how America gets its message of truth through the Iron Curtain, has started a tour which will take it into several communities in the state during the month of September.

"This motorcade will demonstrate the work of the Crusade for Freedom and Radio Free Europe", Mr. Ferebee announced. "The American people have made it possible to pierce the Iron Curtain with Radio messages and by Freedom Balloons. They are being asked to help carry on this great work. This is their opportunity to see how their support is being used."

Mr. Ferebee pointed out that the tour of the motorcade will continue through all of September, to spark the drive of the Crusade for Freedom, which has set a goal of 25,000,000 members and $3,500,000.

In Murphy samples of the types of broadcasts which Radio Free Europe uses to fight Communism in the Russian-controlled satellite nations of Europe were given. This will be done at each stop.

The motorcade consists of a sound car and a truck. The truck carries a replica of the Freedom Bell which now hangs in Berlin, a simulated radio tower to represent Radio Free Europe and Radio Free Asia, and a symbolic Iron Curtain being pierced by arrows of truth.

"The enthusiasm which this anti-Communist activity has aroused across the nation is amazing and wonderful", said Mr. Ferebee. "The very fact that we have this motorcade indicates the kind of support we are getting. The Ford Motor Company donated 49 two-ton trucks to provide one for each state and the District of Columbia, and General Motors has supplied the 49 Chevrolet cars which are used to carry sound equipment. Both organizations are having their promotional organizations and their local dealers support the Crusade for Freedom drive. A & P Tea Co. furnished the drivers in North Carolina.

One of the dramatic moments in each stop by the motorcade is the launching of balloons of the same type which have been sent from Germany by the thousands into Czechoslovakia and Poland, where they are distributed upwards of 10,000,000 leaflets.

One is a balloon of artificial rubber, which eventually bursts when it reaches a height of 30,000 feet, releasing 2,000 leaflets which flutter down over many square miles of territory. The other is a pillow-shaped balloon of plastic through which the gas slowly escapes until the balloon comes to earth on the far side of the Iron Curtain. Its effectiveness depends on its falling into the hands of people who will secretly circulate the leaflets it contains.

Mr. Ferebee pointed out that this method of getting into Communist countries is made possible by the fact that the prevailing winds around the earth blow from west to east. This would make it impossible for the Communists to retaliate by sending similar balloons into Western Europe.

"We know that they have been reaching their mark," said Mr. Ferebee, "because we have already had reports telling that the Communist rulers have been infuriated and the people encouraged by these messages."

Actually, the biggest part of the anti-Communist work is still carried on by Radio Free Europe, whose broadcasts from western Germany reach six satellite nations. The motorcade is giving a full explanation of the work of RFE.

Local committees of the Crusade for Freedom in each town where the motorcade stops are cooperating in the demonstrations, and are expecting donations. Each stop is brief, to let the motorcade reach as many communities as possible.
