First Aider Gets First Aid

This pretty student at a Red Cross national aquatics school for first aid and water safety instructors gets treatment for a minor injury from a professional nurse, on hand for such contingencies. Thirty-two aquatic schools were held by the Red Cross last summer.

Widow Suffers Register For Aid

This young couple, who have lost everything they owned in a flood, are among hundreds of persons being interviewed for help needed to begin life again. Red Cross aid in such instances often includes the rebuilding, repairing and refurnishing of homes.

Feeding tests in New Jersey showed little dairy heifers could be raised from birth to two years of age with as little as 500 pounds of grain, when fed all the high-quality alfalfa hay they could eat.

Winter grazing crops sometimes fail because of drought or severe cold weather. To overcome this situation, dairymen should provide hay and silage sufficient to fully care for their herds for at least five months.
