8 Films Available Now At Murphy Carnegie Library

Films available for club and church showings from the Murphy Carnegie Library for March include the following:

CANOE COUNTRY—13 minutes—color.

A Cincinnati family vacation in Canada's North Country with an 18-foot canoe. Where the Voyagers once followed the fur trade, these modern holiday-makers off the beaten track share the healthy stimulus of the out-doors. They see shy deer, a surprised bear breaks from a clearing, and from the white water of a stream a great northern pike smashed the bals.

DAY'S WORK—21 minutes—black and white.

Way of life 2000 years ago. The carpenter and his son proceed to their village shop; the potter moulds the clay and fires the pot. Men build a native house and proceed home for their evening meal. Afterwards the father reads to the family from the sacred rolls of the Torah.

DEFENSE OF THE PEACE—12 minutes—black and white.

Live action and animation are used to describe the overall organization and functions of the various branches of the United Nations.

GOING STEADY—10 minutes—black and white.

Regular dating is a normal step in the progress toward engagement and marriage. But "going steady" offers problems and disadvantages, especially for the youngsters. So this motion picture raises for discussion such important questions as: "When are you old enough to go steady? What advantages are there to it? How can you end this steady relationship, if it seems an unsound one, without hard feelings?"

HOME—19 minutes—black and white.

Daily life 290 years ago. The family awakens; they breakfast, untether the animals and set out to work. Household tasks are carried out. The mother sits sewing and talking with neighbors until it is time to prepare the evening meal. Animated maps show size of Palestine and its position in the Roman empire.

SMOKE JUMPERS—10 minutes—color.
