special guest and speaker of the evening, Dr. E. E. Moore of Asheville, the regional director of the Eye Bank for Restoring Sight, Inc. of North Carolina.

Dr. Moore stated that the first successful operation of cornea transplanting which is taking the cornea of an eye from an Eye Bank and transplanting it to the eye of a person with an injured cornea, was in 1907. But not until 1930 did it become more frequent.

It was during World War II that Cornea transplanting became publically known. In 1945 an Eye Bank was established in New York and in 1951 the first Eye Bank in North Carolina was formed in Winston-Salem. There are 10 doctors in our state who now perform the Cornea Transplanting. A film showing full details of Cornea transplanting was shown to the group, with Dr. Moore explaining each detail and answering questions.

Dr. Moore stated that one out of 25 persons who are blind and partially blind can be benefitted by this operation. It is estimated that 10,000 persons in the United States are in need of the operation.
