

June Dairy Month

The Nation is now in the middle of observing Dairy Month and Cherokee County has as much to celebrate as any county in the United States.

This county now has over 40 Grade A dairies and the Cherokee County Milk Producers Association are always trying to improve the entire industry over this area.

The Grade A dairies now in the county did not come easy. The dairies represent a three year period of hard work — work put in by the farmers, milk retailers and state agricultural workers.

Cherokee County has a lot to be proud of and to celebrate during June Dairy Month.

Recreation Program

One member of the Summer Recreation Committee for young Murphy expressed the belief that there are not enough children taking advantage of the program.

And we agree. He pointed out that there were only 35 children at the Murphy Ball Park Tuesday to participate in the program. On Monday—opening day—there were 100 children there.

The Monday attendance is much better, but the program should and must draw more than 35 children a day.

The Murphy Summer Recreation Program offers the most wholesome form of planned out door entertainment and sports for the children of Murphy. The program is being guided by a very able leader.

The recreation committee will spend more than $2,000 this summer to make the program available.

That money will be spent on the Tot Park which was finished Wednesday, and supervised play for children at the Ball Park six days a week from 8:30 a. m. to 11 a. m. and from 3 p. m. to 6 p. m.

The program can't be beat and we believe the parents owe it to their children to let young Murphy take advantage of it.

Highway Safety

The State Department of Motor Vehicles has a message for women drivers that might help do the trick on keeping autos in good repair.

The release was made in connection with the current "Slow Down and Live Campaign."

The release, from Bill Crowell's office in Raleigh, said that Miss Foy Ingram, director of the Motor Vehicle Department's registration division, wants all Tar Heel lady drivers to keep their cars in good repair for the summer travel season ahead.

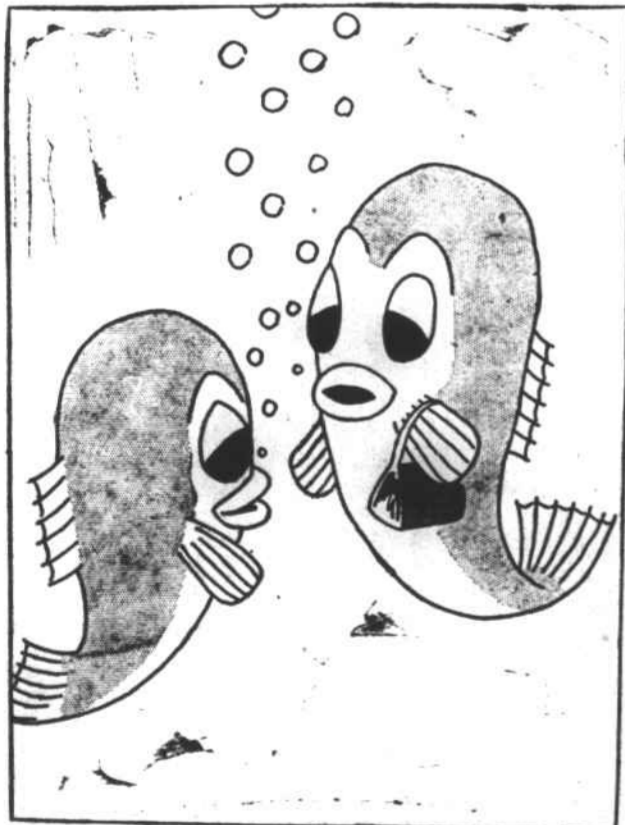

"All of us," Miss Ingram said, "are interested in our family's safety and pocketbook. So we ought to see to it that the family car gets a thorough safety check this month."

A ten point check for motorists suggested by Col. James H. Smith, highway patrol commander, includes brakes, headlights, rear and stop lights, tires, wheel alignment, exhaust system and muffler, windshield wipers, glass, horn and rear-view mirror.

Such a safety check could save some Cherokee County lives.

Auto Wrecks Kill More Than Wars

Automobile accidents have accounted for more deaths than all the wars in which the United States has ever engaged. Yet the automobile is only 50 years old, while the nation's first war was fought 180 years ago.

The authority for this analogy of slaughter on the battlefields and slaughter on the highways is Major Charles A. Speed, director of Traffic Safety for the North Carolina State Highway Patrol.

Major Speed has the facts and figures to prove his statement.

"Our first war," he recalls, was started on April 19, 1775, in Lexington, Mass., when a group of Yankee farmers who were tired of race control fired a series of shots that

New Treatment Saves Gardens

An easy soil treatment, new to most home gardeners, made the difference in these carrots. Nematodes, which are microscopic worms in the soil, attacked the carrots on the right from the day the seed germinated. They never had a chance to develop well.

Before this garden was planted, half of it was treated with Garden Dowfume, a clear vaporizing material which controls nematodes. The carrots on the left grew in the protected soil.

Inset: A nematode, as seen through a high powered microscope.

More and more home gardeners are turning to preplanting treatment of soil with a vaporizing fumigant to control nematodes. So-called "sick" soil which is not supposed to be adapted to certain crops, may often be made productive by this simple process. Before the seed is planted the garden is treated with a soil fumigant according to the manufacturer's instructions. Rows are made in the garden about a foot apart and the chemical is "planted," one-half cup in 75 feet of such row, a little deeper than large garden seed. The row is covered and tamped. Two weeks later the garden is ready to plant. Photograph above shows result in one such garden.

Nematodes attack almost every garden crop. In some areas, a good garden can be grown only where nematodes are first controlled.

Miss Frances Davidson Weds Phil Goforth Sun.

Miss Frances Davidson became the bride of Joseph Philip Goforth Sunday, June 12, at 3 p. m. in the First Methodist Church here.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Davidson of Murphy, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. J. S. Clemmer of Shelby and Charlotte, and the late Kennan Goforth of Shelby.

The Rev. Asmond L. Maxwell performed the double ring ceremony.

Nuptial music was by Miss Wyladene Duckett of Asheville, vocalist, and Mrs. Duke Whitley, organist. Miss Duckett was a schoolmate of the bride at Brevard College.

The altar was centered with a large arrangement of white hydrangeas and white lilies, flanked by floor basket arrangements of white gladioli and greenery and two seven-branched silver candelabra holding white cathedral tapers.

BRIDE'S DRESS

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white nylon lace and net over white taffeta. The gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice featuring a scooped neckline scalloped in lace. The long sleeves ended in calla points at the wrists and her floor length full skirt ended in a chapel-length sweep. The fingertip-length veil was attached to a lace cap bordered with seed pearls and she carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid showered with white streamers.

Mrs. H. S. Simmons, a sister of the bride, of Chattanooga, Tenn., was matron of honor. She wore a yellow embroidered organdy over taffeta dress in ballerina length and carried a colonial bouquet of lavender Dutch iris. A tiny veil of yellow net was attached to her braided yellow organdy hair bandeau.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. G. L. Trout, sister of the bridegroom of St. Mary's, Ga.; Miss Elizabeth Goforth, cousin of the bridegroom of Shelby; Miss Charlene Davidson, cousin of the bride of Murphy; and Miss Beverly Christy of Franklin.

They wore mint green dresses fashioned like that of the honor attendant and carried colonial bouquets of yellow and white summer flowers.

THE USHERS

Kennan Goforth, brother of the bridegroom of Morganton, was best man. Ushers were Gene Gregory, Gene Allen and Jim Rose of Shelby; and Gerald Davidson, brother of the bride, of Murphy.

The bride's mother wore a dusty rose lace afternoon dress, navy hat, navy accessories and a corsage of white flowers. The mother of the bridegroom wore a light blue afternoon frock, navy hat, navy accessories and a white corsage.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held in the social hall of the church. Mrs. W. F. Elliott, Miss Clara McCombs, Mrs. Gay Davidson, Mrs. Gerald Davidson, Mrs. Edwina Hagaman, Mrs. Claude Mayfield and Miss Josephine Heighway assisted in serving.

The bride's table was overlaid with a pink cloth and was centered with pink roses in a silver epergne. The three tiered wedding cake, surrounded by pink roses was at one of the long table and the punch bowl, also surrounded by pink roses was at the opposite end of the bride's table.

WEDDING TRIP

Following the reception the couple left for a wedding trip, the bride wearing a summer suit of pale blue linen with white accessories and the white orchid detached from her Bible.

Mrs. Goforth is a graduate of Murphy High School and Brevard College. For the past year she has been employed at the Esso Standard Oil Co., Charlotte.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Shelby High School and attended the University of North Carolina for two years. In the fall he will enter the Medical College of South Carolina, Charleston.

The couple will be at home in Charleston.

Out of town relatives present, in addition to those mentioned above, were Mrs. Grace Reams, aunt of the bridegroom, of Shelby; Mrs. Ken Goforth, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, of Morganton; and Anne and Jane Trout, nieces of the bridegroom, of St. Mary's, Ga.
