

John Van Horn's "Nature In Wax" On Exhibit Here

Busy as a bee in his 4-H Club work, young John Van Horn has found time to set up a display here to show how bees keep busy.

Wax is one of their businesses and "Nature In Wax" tells the story in the exhibit at Murphy Library.

John says the uses of wax are mostly for bees. They use it for the comb, for glue, green cells and many other things. The exhibit only covers a small part of the many uses for wax, young Van Horn said.

John started his bee keeping project when he joined the 4-H Club. His father gave him three hives and its responsibility to care for them.

His interest in bees and wax grew when he became acquainted with former Assistant County Agent James L. Adams "because he was willing to help me with my project."

John said he and Mr. Adams spent about two weeks out of every month working on his hives and those of other people. Last year during District 4-H Demonstration Day, John gave a talk on how to feed bees.

CATS' CORNER

By JANNETTE CARRINGER

The senior class is back with us, very tired and very wise in the ways of the world, now that they have seen so much of it.

The class left Andrews Wednesday morning at 11, taking the bus to Asheville, where they boarded a train for Washington, arriving there Thursday at 8 a. m. They registered at the Houston Hotel, where they had breakfast, then began a sight-seeing tour of the city. They went first to the Bureau of Engraving, the White House, and the Washington Monument.

After lunch at the hotel, they toured the Supreme Court Building and the Library of Congress; returning to the Capitol, where they had a group picture taken on the White House lawn. Then the group visited Mr. Chuford's office and the House of Representatives, finding the House in the act of adjourning for the day in respect for the late Sen. Scott. They did not visit the Senate Chamber, as the Senate had already adjourned for the same cause.

On Friday, the group visited the Lincoln Memorial, the Jefferson Memorial Arlington Cemetery and Mt. Vernon.

They toured Smithsonian Institute and a San Franciscan Monastery. That afternoon they boarded a bus for Baltimore, where they went on board the "S. S. City of Richmond" for the trip down the Potomac to Norfolk.

They docked in Norfolk the next morning, where the group boarded their bus for the trip to Yorktown, where they visited the battlefields; and Williamsburg, then they had lunch and toured the city.

Legion Head Honored At Meeting Here

A Joint Dinner Meeting of Joe Miller Elkins Post 96, American Legion, and American Legion Auxiliary honoring North Carolina Department Commander "Dud" Robbins was held at Hotel Regal last Thursday night.

Approximately 60 persons attended.

They visited the colonial capitol, the jail, the Bruton Parish Church, the Wythe House, and the Governors Palace. The class then drove to Charlottesville, where they boarded the train for the return trip.

Roman Holiday Declared
The Latin Club of AHS has declared a "Roman Holiday" in celebration of Latin Week. Each class member is to plan some project to call attention to the week and the Celebration will end with a Roman style banquet to be held next week. The banquet will feature Roman style foods, games and decorations, and the class will come in costumes of famous Ro-

Commander Robbins was introduced by Post Commander John S. Smith, a long time personal friend and former classmate at N. C. State College.

Commander Robbins spoke on the accomplishments and future goals of the American Legion, stressing the fact that all veterans who qualify for membership in the Legion should keep their membership active and join into the various Post activities. He added that this is important not only to the veteran but also to his dependents and survivors.

Congratulations — Jean
All of AHS wishes to congratulate Jean Rogers on her success at the State Science Fair at Duke. Jean entered her project in the Physical Science Division, and came out a winner, with a free trip to the State Fair in Raleigh this Fall. She was accompanied on the trip to Duke by Mr. Roy Lee Gilbert of the Science Department, and Pat Holland, another student of AHS.

Accessories Okay

Accessories will be permitted in Class 23 entries in the Murphy Garden Club annual flower show here Friday.

A schedule released earlier did not list accessories in this class, Les Food, Fashions, et Folies. Entries may be placed in the show at First Methodist Church from 7:45 a. m. to 10:30 a. m.

Doors will be open to public from 2:30 to 5:30 p. m. and 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.

Following the call to order invocation was given by Post Chaplain John Jordan. The Pledge of Allegiance To The Flag was led by Mrs. Roslyn Burgess, Auxiliary secretary. Response to the Post Commander's welcome was made by Mrs. Margaret Warner, vice-president, and a report on the activities of the 20th District American Legion Auxiliary, was given by Ms. Nellie Taylor, alternate president.

Visiting representatives from the Legion posts throughout the 32nd District were also welcomed by Commander Smith.

Special recognition was given to three charter members of Joe Miller Elkins Post who were present, John C. O'Dell, Harve G. Elkins, and Clyde Gennett.

Mrs. Edythe F. Howard was a special guest of the post and was presented a gift for her loyalty and assistance to the post over the years.

Commander Robbins installed the following newly elected officers: Jim Green, commander; Max Hannah, first vice-commander; John S. Smith, adjutant; Robert D. Bruce, finance officer and Rev. Fred Stiles, chaplain.

The meeting was closed with prayer led by Rev. Stiles.

Makes Bigger,

Better Gardens

That's right! With an electric water system, you can raise production at least 50 percent. Watering your garden during dry spells may make the difference between a good crop of high-quality vegetables and little or no crop of low-quality produce. (Even a week without some water cuts your production.)

And with our low electric rates, you can operate your electric water system for about a penny a day. Once it's properly installed, it needs little or no attention . . . last 25 to 30 years.
