A Real Tennessee Volunteer

The Volunteer State of Tennessee never produced a more attractive volunteer than Mrs. Dorothy Severance of Nashville—the "Mrs. United States Savings Bonds of 1958." She won the title over a bevy of capable (and attractive) homemakers representing every state in the union at the "Mrs. America" finals in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. As an unpaid volunteer of the Treasury's Savings Bond Program, she will visit various cities during the year in the promotion of Savings Bonds and Stamps. Mrs. Severance needed no introduction following her coronation. She and her family have been regular buyers of Savings Bonds and Stamps over the years, and she's already one of the Treasury's best "salesmen." A graduate of Wake Forest College, she is author of two books. She is married to W. Murray Severance, a film producer for the Baptist Sunday School Board, and they have two small children. SP-236-C

Nicholson will be the guest speaker for the evening services which will begin Sunday night, August 24, and continue through Thursday night.

Invitations to the Centennial have been mailed to several hundred former members of the church and former residents of Murphy. Pastors and congregation of the surrounding communities are invited to attend.

Annual Doll Show, Beauty Contest Big Success Here

Jane Whitley's back-yard was a little girl's paradise last Friday afternoon when the Little Women's Sewing Club presented its annual Doll Fashion and Beauty Contest.

From a pink curtain between two oak trees, dolls in elegant evening gowns, bikini bathing suits, and stylish street wear were paraded before the audience to be judged for beauty and for fashion.

The title of most beautiful doll went to Totsy Headrick's "Dorothy" and Rosalie Hyde's "Elizabeth" in a rhinestone-trimmed white evening dress placed first for fashion.

After intermission members of the sewing club modeled their own original creations as Becky Jo Ray, the show's emcee, described each outfit.

The judges, Mrs. Bill Hoover, Miss Clara McCombs and Mrs. Ruth Forsyth, declared a tie in the "live model" category with Judy Brittain, Beck Jo Ray, Kenney Jane Davis and Jane Whitley winning the honors.

Lemonade was served to the guests by Missy Wilson and homemade cookies and cakes were sold.

Members of the club are: Judy Brittain, Rosalie Hyde, Becky Jo Ray, Sarah Alice Jeffries, Totsy Headrick, Sheila Gossett, Missy Wilson, Kenney Jane Davis, Jane Whitley, and Tereacy Nugent.

2 Bodies Recovered From Crashed Plane

The partially decomposed bodies of two Georgia men killed Aug. 3 in a plane crash were removed Tuesday night from Joyce Kilmer National Forest near Robbinsville.

Dead were: Paul J. Kennon, 36, Atlanta businessman, and W. P. Ward of Griffin, Ga. The Tri-Pacer single engine Piper in which the men were flying took off the night of Aug. 3 from Knoxville en route to Atlanta.

The rescue party started out with the bodies Tuesday about 3 a. m. and the last body was brought out that night at 7:40. The almost five-hour journey took rescuers through dense, jungle-like undergrowth.

A number of area men participated in the rescue, including Don Carter of Townson Funeral Home, Olin Stratton and Edwin Bristol of Andrews and Joe Collins of Nantahala.

Civil Air Patrol planes and a number of private crafts last week began an air search of this area in an attempt to locate the missing plane.

Richard Parker, an Andrews barber, and Karl Rowan, manager of Blue Ridge Electric Co-Op in Young Harris, Ga., spotted the crashed plane Sunday afternoon at 3. They were flying in Mr. Parker's Cessna 140.

Another Andrews pilot, Edgar Wood, circled for hours the area in which the craft was down. This was to allow rescuers moving in on foot to locate the craft.

A 10-man party first reached the scene Sunday night about 7. Joe Fowler of Murphy, one of the first to reach the scene, said had the party been to the left or right for 10 feet, the plane could not have been seen because of the thick underbrush.

After reaching the area, rescuers started a big bon fire to guide others to the scene. This initial rescue party was directed to the spot by two-way radio from the ground to Mr. Wood's plane overhead.

Later radio contact was maintained from the scene to Joanna Bald with Forest Ranger Harold Hatchett and District Forester Bunch Nugents operating units on the Bald. Circling planes were also in contact with the Knoxville control tower.

Another local man going in with the initial rescue party was Neil Enlow of Ivie Funeral Home. A Graham County Game Warden and a CAP member were also in the party.

It was reported Mr. Ward was wearing a $2,000 diamond ring which was also recovered.

Bodies of the two men were sent to Atlanta.

Th U. S. Forestry Service in Graham County furnished food, equipment and communications, working around the clock until the bodies were brought out. Graham County Forest Ranger John McKeldery also participated in the rescue.

Sheriff Jack F. Shuler from an Air Force helicopter late Sunday afternoon inspected the wreckage.

An initial plan to remove the bodies by slings lowered from the helicopter was abandoned.

Marion Williams, a Robbinsville resident employed by a Pittsburgh, copper firm, described the search:

"We found the plane in the roughest part of the country. It looked like it had come straight down. I saw the motor buried level with the ground. It didn't burn at all.

"It was pretty terrible. I don't like to see things like that. The plane went together like one of those accordions and fouled the men in the wreckage. I'm sure they were killed instantly.

"It wasn't much trouble identifying them—we found all their papers and Kennon's pilot license and all that." The wreckage was not scattered, but great difficulty was encountered in removing the bodies from the plane.

The terrain into which the plane crashed is among the roughest in the western area.

Methodist Choir To Present Sacred Concert

The Senior Choir of the First Methodist Church will present a sacred concert Sunday night at 8.

During the summer the Choir has been under the direction of Walter Carringer. The concert is to be presented as a climax of the summer's work.

The concert will consist of solos and church anthems by well known composers and will represent the best in church music from the 16th century to the present.

An invitation is extended to everyone in the community to attend this special service.

Cherokee County Schools Start New Term Aug. 27

Cherokee County schools will open for the 1958-59 session Wednesday, Aug. 27.

A half-day schedule will be observed the first three days with full-time work getting under way Sept. 1.

Murphy Schools Supt. Holland McSwain said the first faculty meeting for teachers of the Murphy schools will be held Tuesday, Aug. 26, at 10 a. m. at the high school.

Approximately 1,600 pupils are expected for the coming session in Murphy schools.

All high school students who have moved into the community during the summer or any student who did not register before schools closed last spring must report for registration on Aug. 21 or 22.

They are asked to report on one of these dates to the conference room at the high school between 10 a. m. and noon or 2 to 4 p. m.

Mr. McSwain said all teaching positions in the Murphy system have been filled.

A high school band will be reorganized this year under the direction of Ed Reynolds, former band director and music teacher here. For the past several years Mr. Reynolds has served in Georgia schools.

The school lunch program will start Monday, Sept. 1.
