CHEROKEE CHATTER

By OPIE McKEEVER

Another local boy outstanding in his field—PRUDEN DAVIDSON, who has recently been named Manager of the Asphalt Tile and Adhesives Production and Production Services at Armstrong Plant in Lancaster, Penn. This title adds an addition to his present responsibilities for the Asphalt Tile and Adhesives Production, the further responsibilities of the Yard, Warehouse, Crate Shop and Shipping Departments . . . CLEL (Mrs. H.) BUECK, enthusiastic about their new house in Franklin which will be ready to move into around the middle of April . . . BILLY FORSYTH, who drove to Raleigh last week-end with his mother, grandmother, MRS. BILLY FORSYTH, and young brother, BOBBY, to join his Senator daddy, FRANK FORSYTH, for a stay of two-weeks with the state's lawmakers . . . JESSIE HARSHAW of Richmond, Va. attending services at the First Methodist Church with husband ED and brightening the rainy day with her charming flowered bonnet . . . ANN and RAY KOHOUTEX, former Murphy residents, in town last week as guests of MARY and RAY JOSEPH. Ray is connected with Stromberg-Carlson and they've been travelling all over the country since they left Murphy . . . EMILY and BILL COSTELLO singing the praises of their new blue Opel station wagon and IDA BRUMBY giving the college crowd a thrill in her snazzy black and silver Corvette . . . The interesting interview between PAUL RIDENHOUR and WATER CARRINGER on the radio last week, Walter, who has recently accepted the position of music director of a prep school in Greenwich, Conn. plus his concert duties, was on his way to Newport News for a guest appearance and thence to New York. . . . DALE LEE celebrating his birthday with a very special luncheon guest, his buddy, two-year-old CLARKE BOURNE . . . And among the spring delights in town every year and in full bloom this week, MRS. R. H. FOARD'S gorgeous yellow forsythia hedge.

A Letter From Raleigh

Dear Friends:

Another week and its many activities.

Will begin with last Saturday. We rode out to Southern Pines for the Stony Brook Steeple Chase horse race. The Senator who took us had a brand new Cadillac, delivered to him that morning. We went in style. It rained and we got wet. We were entertained at luncheon by a Representative and Senator from that district. They served the finest barbecue, fried chicken, slaw, pie and hot coffee. It was most delicious, served out in the open. I just ate too much. The horses were beautiful. The only ones that they would sell were priced at $3,500. As much as I would like to own one, just had to leave them there. We rode back home with another Senator and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Reavis, he being the only Republican Senator in the General Assembly.

Sunday—went to hear Dr. Powell who preached a strong Palm Sunday sermon. That night went back to his church where his choir was wonderful in their performance in the Seven Words of the Cross. The organist really rose to the heights. I have never heard anything quite so dramatic, have thought of it all week long.

Monday—coughed and sneezed all day. The doctor, who is another lady member of the House, gave me medicine that soon helped. She is a tower of strength in a great many ways, physically, morally and mentally, really quite a person.

Tuesday—when we went to the House, on the desk of each lady was a large bunny rabbit, an Easter gift from the Sergeant at Arms and his assistant. All day I went to committee meetings from early morning until late afternoon, hearing the many State agencies make their pleas for more money, all of them good. One hardly knows which is the most important.

Wednesday—the day of the Citizens Committee dinner. A party first, given by Mr. and Mrs. Dan Paul. Mrs. Paul is the daughter of our former governor and Senator, Clyde Hoey. When I entered the large room crowded with interesting people, over in one corner I saw a lady and I said to myself, "I want to meet her and "Guess who it was"—Ingils Fletcher, the author of so many historical novels of North Carolina. I stayed and talked to her until the party was over. From there, on to this wonderful dinner, the doctor and I were guests. Many people from all over Western North Carolina attended. The featured speaker was the President of DuPont Company. He spoke on the responsibility of business and politics, a very fine speech.

The Citizens Committee consists of representatives of most of the big business in North Carolina; never have I seen together so many men who control so much of North Carolina's wealth. Mr. Reuben Robinson from Canton was given the award last year for "Man of the Year." Western North Carolina can be justly proud of him. Our two U. S. Senators had a part in the program. Our Governor spoke fluently as always. The finest part of it all was to sit in the audience and look at Mrs. Hooges sitting at the Speaker's stand. She typifies all that North Carolina wants in a Governor's wife: beautiful, stately and dignified, dressed in a black, low-cut dress with pearls and a white orchid.

Thursday—busy calendar at the House, then only a sandwich for lunch. On to Appropriations Committee meeting where the State Board of Education presented their request for more funds. These hearings will end next week; then we will begin to vote on them.

I only hope I know the right way to vote.

Sincerely,
Your Representative
Mrs. Cover

P. S. I almost forgot to tell you that the Western group met with the Highway Department on Tuesday. Mr. Broughton and Mr. Makepeace listened to us with patience, courtesy and understanding as we told them what we wanted. I, of course, was interested in all roads, but first with me are the rural roads. They practically promised that two roads in Cherokee would be paved this summer. Hanging Dog Road and the Junaluska Creek Road. We stressed the fact, too, of the need for that short road in the Brasstown section. We hope for luck with them all.

NEW CLUB OFFICERS Mrs. Wells, Edwards, Puett and Bates.

Club Installs Mrs. Edwards As President

Mrs. Herman Edwards was installed as president of the Cherokee Rose Garden Club at a supper meeting on Tuesday evening, March 31, at the Power Board Building.

Mrs. S. C. Burgess member of the Murphy Garden Club and District Awards Chairman, was in charge of installation ceremonies.

The new officers are Mrs. Robert Cobb, vice-president; Mrs. Walter Puett, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Fred Bates Sr., recording secretary; Mrs. Don Gentry, treasurer; Mrs. George Size, parliamentarian; Mrs. William J. Wells, historian; and Mrs. Walter Coleman, librarian.

Hostesses for the covered-dish supper were Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Carringer.

Personals

Jack Barnett spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Ed Barnett. She returned with him to Cullowhee on Monday for a two-weeks visit. Mr. Barnett is assistant professor of business administration at WCTC.

Tom Evans of Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ferguson of Sylva, were week-end guests of Mrs. Tom Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. William Klein of Cincinnati, O., and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Suit of Franklin, N. C. were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Suit over Easter week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Williams, Miss Lois Johnson of Athens, Ga., and J. H. Candier of Comer, Ga., visited their brother and brother-in-law, R. D. Chandler, last Sunday. Mr. Chandler is in Providence hospital where he underwent surgery last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Canata and sons, Bill and Dennis, of Chattanooga, Tenn., visited Mrs. Canata's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Chandler last Sunday.
