I don't exactly know how it happened, but someone offer-ed this couple an old small one and one-half room house to live in. So they would have their own place.

They moved in. First thing was to get a water pump. I called a plumber to install a hand-pump. Success was good to get water as quick as we did.

The next day the man's old wreck of a car had to be repaired. We got that done.

Then the next day they needed money to buy food-stamps. This was supplied by the Robeson County Church and Community Center.

Well, I could list a lot of other probems which would only take up time, and still not solve anything.

The man and woman worked a few days in the tobacco harvest. Also, he worked a few days at a slaughter house, but for some reason or the other, he didn't keep his job very long, It may have been his own fault. I am not saying since I am not sure. I do know this family still has problems, regardless of what they are. This is a case that needs a follow-up and much study, because these kind of problems are not solved overnight.

ow, this is only one case I referring to. There are y more in Robeson County state, and all over our country that needs someone's help.

Yes, there are some people who care, and have helped, are still helping. Thank the Lord for them.

I talked with some people of the local housing authority and they are doing a good job, yet they don't have enough room for all of those who apply for a decent place to live.

After all, poor people only want a fair chance to help themselves. They are willing to work, if given the oppor-tunity. I believe it.

One man told me they were too lazy to work. Some others have gotten mad with me because I have shown an interest in this family. I am beginning to wonder myself how to solve these problems.

You may say the welfare Department, the church, the Robeson County Church and Community Center, the food stamp department, and other agencies, other organizations, such as the Red Cross, etc. are supposed to care for these problems, but none of them is any better than the support given to them by the people of the various communities.

Have you ever stopped to think how much money is claimed on the ten percent deduction of everybody each year at tax time? How many people actually give what they claim to a church? I believe if it was done, we wouldn't need the welfare department or food stamp department at all. The churches would be financially able to care for the needs of its community.

Now, have you ever thought of how many people will claim disability and still keep working, transferring property to someone else's name to qualify how their benefits and then holler because someone else gets welfare or food stamps? Instead of trying to help others, we are trying to get all we can for ourselves.

Submitted is an article I felt urged to write as a concerned Lumbee. I have been where the students are; and I know the confusion they feel in the preparing for education beyond the secondary level. If you can see the need for such an article, please print it.

High school students, you have made it! You will be entering the working word at an opportune time. The last half century has been kind enough to enclude among the Lumbee Indians, Indians who were proud to be Indians. They refused to accept token Indian name, to pretent to be the "long-braid, feather, adorned Indians" of the white man's stereotyped pixture, or to hide in a corner and pereent not to exist in order to ingratiate themselves with the Federal Government-even though it would have assured us of many benefits, histead, they inched their way up into the white man's political, social, and economic world and took a stand for the Indians. They proved that Native Americans have ideas, talents, and insights that we been suppressed and are only waiting a chance to surface. Now that the way his been cleared, your arrival into the mainstream of life is saticipated. Begin by thinting for yourself some, and to obtaining some education beyond the secondary level.

Take advantage of all the assistance for promoting your postsecondary education that is available to you at a mere request. Teachers, high school guidance counselors, Educational Talent Search counselors, principals, professionals, and your peers are great sounding boards. If you have more than one interest, talk about them. Talk to persons in your area of interest; discover the pros and cons of each career and the schools that offer training for each. After deciding upon a possible career choice, begin making plans to receive the required schooling.

High school counselors have a wealth of information at their disposal that can be yours for the asking. Fee-waiver cards are benefits that counselors can allot to qualified students. A fee is asked to be encoded with the application when applying to take the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), or the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), or the Achievement Tests, but the Achievement Tests, but the Achievement Tests, but the Achievement Fests, or the See See and be waivered for students of low-income families. No students should let a ack of funds become a bamer in his gaining entrance to college. Ask your counselor shout receiving a fee-waiver card before mailing your splications. Once the necessity it extends have been take and the school has been disean, you will begin to communicate with that school.

Catalogues are usually avail able at no charge from all technical institutions, colleges and universities. These catalogues list, describe, and give general information about the institution itself, and the different programs it offers. Catalogues and applications for admission can be secured by writing the Office of Admissions at the school of interest.

If one can gain admission to an institution of higher learning he can obtain financial aid if he is willing to do some paper work. First, the high school counselor of the Educational Talent Search counselor is an excellent source to consult in finding financial aid. Also, write the school that you applied to for admittance and request financial aid information. Another possible channel in securing money for furthering your education is through a person already successful in your chosen field. Ask him if he knows of any scholarship funds for one pursuing a degree in your area of interest. No student should decide against obtaining more schooling because of a lack of funds. Funds can be yours.

from Associate Supt

Purnell Swett, Associate Superintendent of Robeson County Schools, today released the following statement in an effort to clarify the Indian Student Enrollment Certification Forms for Title IV, Part A, Indian Education Act which have recently been sent home by students of each individual school.

"My concern is that the certification forms will be misunderstood. They are not to enroll anyone in any tribe. The sole purpose of these forms is for documentation. They are only to verify the number of Indian students enrolled in county schools They will not be used for any other purpose. Once the forms are collected by the Board of Education they will be counted and recorded to give an accurate number of Indian students enrolled, as accurately as possible. After being tallied, the forms will be protected by the Family Private Act-which means that no person other than the parent or guardian of the student may inspect the forms. When the student reaches 18, he will have access to his individual form.

"I am duly concerned about parents who have refused to complete the forms. My concern is that the monies received under the Indian Education Act will be determined according to the documented evidence of the accurate number of Indians students in our schools. This accurate documentation will be made via the enrollment certification forms. To refuse to complete these forms is to refuse services, programs, which we have had access to under the Indian Education Act in past years.

"The forms are not required by the Robeson County Board of Education but are being requested by the Office of Indian Education in Washington. To continue to provide needed services to our children under the Indian Education Act, I sincerely urge each parent of an Indian student to complete the enrollment form immediately and return them to their respective school. If there are any other questions concerning these forms, please feel free to call me at my office, 739-3326 and I will gladly discuss the matter with any concerned parent."

Parents with questions con-cerning IEA monies are also urged to call Mr. Governor Barnes, Indian Education Act coordinator. His office is loca-ted at the Robeson County Board of Education.

Kitchen Considerations
Research studies show that elbow height is one measurement that best determines the most comfortable work height for a person standing in front of a counter, range oven or sink. For most activities at kitchen counters, a homemaker needs a work surface three inches below her elbow height. But for motions requiring the exertion of force or holding a mixer or beater, the homemaker needs a work surface six or seven inches below her elbow height. Thus, for more comfortable work in the kitchen, more than one height work surface may be needed.

To find elbow height, stand against a wall and bend the arm usually used for food work at a right angle. Have someone hold a finger where your elbow touches and measure that distance from the floor.

Height can be added to the counter by putting blocks under the cabinet or adding a piatform on top. Although counters cannot be lowered easily, a homemaker can find a convenient height elsewhere. The bottom of a sink is one possibility; the kitchen table, a drawer or utility cart are other ways. The legs of a table may be adjusted to correct height.

I'll never forget my first visit to Raleigh, in the fall of '53.

Mrs. Davis, the conference treasurer and a Raleigh resident took me to Southern School Supply to pick out a 35 mm camera for my work. After selling the camera, the young man waiting on us very patiently demonstrated how to use it. As I left Raleigh on my way back to Caswell Countymy first assignment—I stopped the car and snapped my first pictures-of the then deserted state fairgrounds!

Today I am-at last- actually visiting the fair, along with a few thousand other people from all around the state. For me this is a first, not just for the state fair, but for seeing a president in person.

As he spoke to those of us gathered in the Arena, President Ford seemed friendly, forceful, and energetic. The governor and Robert Dole's wife, a native of Salisbury, both gave him a rousing welcome, as did most of the spectators.
