Magnolia students among program participants

GREENVILLE: A total of 92 high school scholars visited East Carolina University to participate in ECU's recent Scholarship Weekend Program. Among them were Felicia Brewer, Henry Brewer, both of St Pauls and students at Magnolia High School.

The visiting students, all juniors, were given a close-up view of the ECU campus, the academic programs and student activities. They attended films, a jazz concert, visited classes and joined in recreational activities that are offered to students at ECU. Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, ECU Chancellor, addressed a banquet Sunday evening.

Scholarship Weekend is held annually at ECU to acquaint high school scholars with the campus and the academic scholarships that are available to qualified students. Those attending were selected on the basis of the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test (PSAT) scores and recommendations from their respective high schools.

LREMC to go to court to collect accounts

RED SPRINGS: Lumber River Electric Membership Corp. has been authorized by the board of directors to use the small claims court of North Carolina to collect accounts for electrical service which are 90 days past due and to prosecute drafters of worthless checks.

The new policy, which was adopted at the May meeting of the cooperative's board, will go into effect immediately.

According to LREMC general manager, Derl J. Hinson, "the new policy will affect individuals whose accounts are 90 days and longer past due and those who do not cover returned checks."

He said that the cooperative's uncollectable accounts have increased approximately $20,000 a year. "These increases are in direct proportion to the increased cost of electricity," he continued.

"The cooperative's delinquent or uncollectable accounts amounted to approximately $16,000 in 1972 and are expected to exceed $100,000 for fiscal 1976. The cooperative also receives about $8,000 to $10,000 a month in worthless checks."

Hinson explained that an uncollectable account in one "in which the former member-consumer's electrical services has been disconnected, a final bill has been forwarded to his last known address, and the bill has not been paid."

"Such accounts," he said, "as well as those who fail to cover worthless checks, will be reviewed by the board each month and then turned over to the small claims court for legal action."

He continued by saying that even though the dollar amount of these accounts had risen each year, they have accounted for only about one per cent of the cooperative's total revenue from year to year.

He also said that the cooperative service and operations employees are aware of the problem and are working on additional procedures that will reduce the number of uncollectable accounts.
