

United in Holy Matrimony

Miss Wanda Gail Burns and Luther Calvin Ramsey, Jr. exchanged wedding vows in a double-ring ceremony at Deep Branch Baptist Church on June 23, 1979 at 5 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Reverend Bobby Burns, the bride's uncle, and Reverend Chesley McNeill.

Wanda Gail Burns Ramsey

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Burns, Jr. of Lumberton. Parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Anna Munn and Luther Calvin Ramsey, Sr. of Ansonville.

A program of wedding music was given by Miss Miriam Oxendine of Pembroke as pianist, Miss Brenda Hunt of Rowland was vocalist, and Miss Karen Burns, sister of the bride, was also a vocalist.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Stanford Burns of Lumberton. Her wedding gown was of white chiffon with fitted bodice full skirt and a chantilly lace jacket, accompanied by pearl buttons and a high neckline. Her veil was fashioned to a lace covered cloth flowing into a long train.

She carried a colonial bouquet of pink rosebuds, miniature carnations and baby's breath, fastened with love-knot ribbons.

Attending as the bride's maid of honor was her sister, Miss Sharon Kay Burns of Lumberton.

Bridesmaids were: Miss Wanda Sampson of Lumberton and Rose Cummings of Pembroke, both sorority sisters of the bride; Miss Edith Chavis of Lumberton, cousin of the bride; Mrs. Ricky Hutton and Mrs. Jerry Goodwin, both sisters of the bridegroom from Ansonville.

The maid of honor wore a green gown of polyester with a scoop neckline and ruffled collar. Bridesmaids' dresses were yellow and identical to the maid of honor. They each carried nosegays of green and yellow daisies with baby's breath.

Miss Renae Hill, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore a long white dress and carried a basket of daisies. Brother of the bride, Master Rufus Lynn Burns, served as ring bearer.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Ushers were Gary Norris, Randy Coppedge of Raleigh; Mike Cook, Mike Baker of Lumberton; and Frank Davis of Fayetteville—all fraternity brothers of the bridegroom.

The bride is a 1975 graduate of Pembroke Senior High School and a 1979 graduate of Pembroke State University with a B.A. degree in Psychology. While at PSU she was active with the Student Government Association, a member of Kappa Delta Sorority and Who's Who, a PSU Marshall and President of her senior class.

The bridegroom is a 1973 graduate of Bowman High School and a 1976 graduate of Pembroke State University with a major in business. He is a member of Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity and PSU baseball team. In 1975 he served as Vice-president of the Student Government Association. He is now employed with Powers Swaine Chevrolet in Fayetteville.

The couple are making their home in Fayetteville.

RECEPTION

Wedding guests were entertained at a reception at Deep Branch Elementary School following the ceremony. Presiding as guest register was Mrs. Bruce Barton.

Guests were invited to the bridal table for refreshments. The place of honor belonged to a beautiful wedding cake, baked by Mrs. Bracey Sampson.

Serving at the bridal table were Mrs. Glenda Locklear, Miss Sandra Gaitley, and Miss Beth Blevins.

The gift room was attended by Mrs. Hardy Brewington and Mrs. Earl Scott.

REHEARSAL BUFFET

A buffet dinner at the Deep Branch Fellowship Hall after rehearsal on Friday evening was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Burns, the bride's aunt and uncle.

The wedding party attended the party along with relatives and out-of-town guests.

PRE-NUPITAL PARTIES

The bride was honored with two miscellaneous showers. The first given by Mrs. Bruce Barton, Mrs. Timmy Hunt and Mrs. Leland DuBois.

The second was hosted by Mrs. David Deese and the bride's sister, Miss Sharon Kay Burns.

All In The Spirit of Fun

Is the poem which follows this paragraph really risqué? Or is it just close to being risqué?

I wrote the lyrics as a party song for some friends who think it's cute if just a wee bit daring. "I wonder what you think?"

There's just one way to find out, and that's to present it for your honest appraisal.

I'd like to think it isn't risqué, but when considered in the light of contemporary social standards, I've heard things just as "bad" or worse, on such TV shows as "All In The Family," "The Johnny Carson Show," etc.

Now, I never really had a brash kid sister who carelessly sprinkled in the bathroom, thus driving her immaculate older brother out of his mind with her careless habit. But I can imagine that there are other brothers of kid sisters who have. And I believe we can take even immaculateness to extremes as the person of this song-poem does.

Whatever the case, I shall be interested to have your reaction. Honestly!

I thought the idea was pretty funny, myself. It was suggested to me by a couple of lines a friend (female) told me about seeing scribbled on the wall of a ladies powder room: "If you sprinkle when you tinkle, Be a sweetie wipe the seatie!"

DO YOU SPRINKLE?

There's a solemn social question

I must ask while yet I may,

Cause tomorrow we're to marry

And I've got to know today.

It's a thorny social question! Lord it fills me with dismay! Do you sprinkle when you tinkle

In the bathroom every day?

Once I had a cute kid sister

Who was careless as could be.

Lord, she sprinkled when she tinkled

Till she made a wreck of me.

So I swore if I should marry,

It would never, ever be

To a sprinkler in the bathroom

Who'd bring me such misery.

Do you sprinkle when you tinkle

In the bathroom every day?

Do you sprinkle when you tinkle

Like my Desiray?

Lord, she drives me to distraction

And she fills me with dismay!

Do you sprinkle when you tinkle

In the bathroom every day?

REPEAT REFRAIN

The serious side of the poem is that it (hopefully) delivers a devastating blow to human prejudices, especially petty ones.

The new P.S.U. Chancellor, Dr. Paul Givens, was welcomed by Pembroke Kiwanis at their Tuesday evening meeting at Sims Restaurant. Dr. Givens was introduced by Program Chairman Bernard Lowry.

In his remarks concerning a University and Community, Dr. Givens likened the relationship to that of a marriage. Their must be trust, respect, willingness to work together so that both institution and community to be enriched by the partnership. The faculty of the institution is constantly concerned with learning they read, they study, they do research in the pursuit of knowledge and in the most effective means to transmit their enthusiasm for learning to the students.

The community is involved through its love, interest and desires for its young people. A college education is important. Young people are asking and searching for answers. The University must stimulate them to a life-long desire to learn. Qualities of inquiry must be nurtured - to ask questions and seek answers in all areas of living. We want them to be intelligently critical of the world in which they live. We want them to be creative to see new relationships, insights sounds, movement. We want them to be concerned with morality, ethics. We want them to be concerned with choices in their lives what do you choose to do with your time, how do you choose your friends. We want them to communicate effectively.

Community and University we are all essentially in the educational boat together and if we can effectively work together we will realize the dreams and potential which Pembroke State University is capable of achieving.

Vistors at the meeting was Glen Jacobs of Waterford, Michigan who was a guest of Club member Harold Hunt.

Club President Ed Teets reminded members of the District Convention to be held in Fayetteville on August 17-18-19.

Dale Friar Gave Up Football to Become a Chiropractor

By DAVE GOLOWENSKI
Journal Sports Writer

Winning, Vince Lombardi once said, isn't everything, it's the ONLY thing. Football, many felt, was also the ONLY thing to Lombardi.

The legendary coach's words notwithstanding, football was not the only thing to Dale Friar of Vermilion. Eligible to play another year at the University of Chicago, Friar has given up carrying the football so he could study chiropractic medicine in South Carolina.

FRIAR HAS turned his back on a pretty remarkable career.

"I matured as a football player last season," the 1976 Vermilion High School graduate explains. "I played football with intensity."

Friar, 5-10 and 170 pounds, rushed for 1,260 yards last year, the first at the university to do so. Although the school is not a football powerhouse, Friar points out it once was.

"The school boasts two Heisman Trophy winners," he says. "When I went over the 1,000 yard mark last season, they stopped the game and Jay Berwanger presented me with the ball. My parents were there. It was quite a thrill."

Jay Berwanger? He was a University of Chicago football player, too. He also won the first Heisman Trophy.

"They have a good program there. Football was cut out completely in the 1930's because many people felt too much emphasis was being placed on athletics," Friar says.

"NOW FOOTBALL is coming back because the alumni put pressure on to have it. I think the administration would like the sport to be on the same level as the Ivy League schools."

"There are some great football players at the University of Chicago," the running back says. "We thought we were going to have a really good season last year, but we lost five games by a total of 13 points. So we were competitive and this year's team looks even better."

Friar ended the season as the third leading rusher in NCAA, Division III football. He was nominated by Illinois coaches for All-American honors.

"I was the first to go over 1,000 yards in the Chicago area last season and everybody kind of made a big deal out of it," he says, not bragging. "I sort of hate to be leaving it. But, you see, I wanted to use athletics and football to get me where I want to go. And I think I used it to the fullest extent. It's paid for my college."

He goes on, "I got other things from football, too. It has given me a positive attitude and I was able to know some of the greatest men I've met in my life. I really couldn't do much better than I've done."

"Last year, Dallas (Cowboys), the (Philadelphia) Eagles and the (San Francisco) 49ers sent me letters," Friar says. "They wanted stats and they explained about open tryouts. I don't think I would be drafted, even if I stayed for my senior year, but, you w, something like that is always in the back of your mind.

"I'M NOT a real big runner, but I do have good power. You might say I run with authority and I have good moves in the open," Friar assesses.

"I have no regrets in bypassing football. Since my junior year in high school, I've known what I wanted to be. I've been putting on the pads for 10 years. Maybe when I see the guys sweat and practice I'll miss it," he states.

"Who knows? Last year I waited until a week before the practice to make up my mind to play," Friar says.

Friar has already left the University of Chicago. He transferred and has put in a school-quarter of work at Sherman College of Chiropractic Medicine.

"NOW THAT I'm in, I'm glad because everything I study is career-oriented," he says. "At Chicago, when I put in five or six hours of lab work in chemistry or biology, I couldn't see the purpose. Now I can."

Why a chiropractor?

"When I was little, I sustained a back injury in a car accident," he explains. "And I hurt it again when I was long-jumping on the 8th grade track team. I had hoped to be the state champ in the long jump but the pain me to quit my sophomore and freshman years.

"Then I began to see Dr. (L.G.) Adams of Vermilion. I would go into his office at seven in the morning before a meet and not be able to lift my left leg. He would manipulate my spine and take the tension out and relieve the pain so I could go out and compete.

"After that, I began going to his office more and talking to his patients. That's how I became convinced of the value of it," Friar says. "Besides, I take regular treatments now and feel free of pain.

"I would like to work in sports medicine. Of course, I still have a lot to learn. But one of my ideas is to give talks to high school athletes and explain to them the dangers of back injuries and what a chiropractor can do for them," he states. "I see many unnecessary back operations."

AT AGE 21, Friar is full of the future, but he takes another moment to reflect upon his immediate and successful past.

"I had a love affair with football. It is, always was and always will be my favorite game."

Chicago's O'Hare airport, with 41.7 million in passenger traffic, is the world's busiest airport.
