

VISIT RIGHT TO READ CENTERS

Dr. Jeff Collins of the Pembroke Medical Clinic, Mr. Bill Price (shown above) of the Robeson County Sheriff's Department, and Mr. Ed K. Chavis of LRDA's Lumbee Enrollment Program visited with all three Right to Read Academies at the LRDA Annex on February 12, 1980. Dr. Collins, dentist, discussed oral hygiene. He concluded his discussion with a film presentation and entertained questions from the audience. The second speaker, Mr. Bill Price, spoke to the students about the Community Watch Program. He encouraged the group to take safety precautions to secure locks and valuable items. He answered questions the students had about their rights as homeowners and private citizens of Robeson County. Last, but not least, Mr. Ed K. Chavis encouraged the group to file the applications for Lumbee Enrollment. He thoroughly explained the purpose of the enrollment and the procedure of application. The students enjoyed the presentations and all feel they greatly benefited from each.

KIWANIANS HEAR ABOUT SAFETY EDUCATION

Pembroke Kiwanis Club met Tuesday evening at Sims Restaurant in Pembroke. Program Chairman, Bernard Lowry, introduced Club member Ken Johnson who spoke concerning the various aspects of Safety Education. Dr. Johnson is a member of the faculty at Pembroke State University in the Department of HPER. These laws are also applicable in adult life. If speeding results in a fine, the chances are that the driver will become more conscious of the speed at which he travels in the future. If the driver has a near accident, the resultant scare will prompt him to drive more prudently and carefully. In looking at school safety programs, the liability or legal tort laws are in effect and all school personnel should know these. A tort means twisted - a harm or wrong or injury has occurred. (1) Assumption of risk. This is voluntary involvement in a hazardous situation. A good example is playing football or attending a major league baseball game. You risk getting hurt - such as being hit by a foul ball. (2) Foreseeability. Because of the standard or care implied, we must be able to see hazards and prevent accidents by prudent action. (3) Invite. If you invite someone to your premises, you are responsible for his safety. A school student is an invitee, therefore, we, as teachers, are responsible for his safety. (4) Licensee. If someone comes to your house without being invited, you are not as responsible for his safety. He must accept things as they are. (5) In loco parentis. A relationship exists between the teacher and student. Therefore, you are responsible for his safety. (6) Respondeat Superior. The principal or Board of Education are not as responsible as the teacher. However a relationship does exist and demands a standard of care prudent in all matters. (7) Malfeasance. The wrongful performance of an illegal act. For example, spanking a child when corporal punishment is illegal. (8) Misfeasance. The wrongful performance of a legal act. Example, spanking too hard. (9) Nonfeasance. Failing to perform a legal duty. (10) Proximate Cause. In relation to something else. For example, falling asleep at the wheel caused the accident and not the fact that the car left the road. (11) Proprietary function. For example, when you charge admission for games, you are legally responsible for the safety of the spectators. (12) Negligence. Occurs when a person fails to exercise ordinary care to prevent an accident. A standard of care exists. (13) Last Clear Chance. Means there were many opportunities to avoid an accident, and prudent action was not taken. (14) Quasi Public Corporations. Entitles some schools to immunity to law suits. (15) Res Ipsa Loquitur. A self evident situation. The victim's own imprudence could cause the accident. (16) Safe Place Statutes. Laws requiring proper construction of buildings. (17) Save Harmless Statutes. Some states will recompense a teacher who is held liable for injuries. (18) State Decree. To look at former law suits. (19) Liability Areas - difficult areas; athletics, recreation, physical education; equipment facilities and supplies; injuries inflicted by students; athletic contests; laboratories and shops; field trips; student transportation; school patrols.

Legal Defenses - vis major - an act of God, an unavoidable accident. Assumption of risk; Contributory negligence; Protection through insurance. Presiding at the meeting was Gibson Gray, Club President. The invocation was given by Marshall Locklear and Lankford Godwin led the singing accompanied by Ira Pate Lowry, pianist.

Accidents stem from six major causes: (1) inadequate knowledge, (2) improper attitudes and habits, (3) insufficient skill, (4) unsafe behavior, (5) environmental hazards, (6) a variety of other causes, such as lack of supervision, lack of attention and concern, procrastination, etc.

During the childhood years, safety education in the school should be carefully planned to meet the needs and ability of the children to understand the various aspects of safety at the various age levels from kindergarten through high school. Laws of learning operate in safety education as well as in other areas of learning. For example, the law of effect - if children run when they have been cautioned to walk and as a result fall and skin their knees the resultant pain or discomfort will serve as a future deterrent. The law of recency - if such a mishap occurred today, tomorrow the child will be more apt to remember to be more careful.

Pembroke State University

LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE FOR WOMEN SET SATURDAY AT PSU

Women leaders of Robeson County will converge on the Pembroke State University campus this Saturday (April 12) for the Governor-sanctioned Robeson County Conference on Leadership Development for Women.

The one-day conference from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. will focus on workshops related to interests of women. It will be held in Moore Hall Auditorium. A luncheon will be served in the PSU Cafeteria.

Chancellor Paul R. Givens will give the welcome during the opening session beginning at 9 a.m. Others taking part in the opening ceremonies will be Debra Drake, a PSU music major graduate from Lumberton, and Henry McCoy, director of Advocacy Programs in the Office of the Governor.

Workshop topics will include: "Job Campaign Skills, Career Planning and Management," by Mrs. Diane Jones, director of Placement and Human Services at PSU; "Leadership Skills and Organizational Development," by Dr. Ray Von Beatty, PSU's director of Guidance and Testing; "Building A Positive Self-Image," by Mrs. Ruth Mundy of Lumberton, Christian leader in this area; and "Coping With Stress," by Dr. O.D. Cunningham, deputy director of the National Commission on the International Year of the Child, Washington, D.C.

On the luncheon program will be Mrs. Mary Alice Teets of Pembroke, a PSU graduate who is principal of Janie Hargrave School in Lumberton.

This is one of 100 such county conferences being held across the state. It is another way in which the facilities and talented people of Pembroke State University serve the area.

Career women, volunteers, government employees, home makers, and academicians in Robeson County are invited. It is under the auspices of the Governor's Conference on Leadership Development for Women of which Ruth Dial Woods of Pembroke is an official.

LUTHER HODGES, JR. TO SPEAK AT PSU

Luther Hodges, Jr., United States deputy secretary of commerce, will be the first speaker in the "Angus McLean Lecture Series" at Pembroke State University, announces Dr. Donald E. Kelley, chairman of the PSU Business Administration and Economics Department.

This series is funded through a gift to that department by the late Gov. McLean's family to PSU three years ago. Hodges will speak Friday, May 2, at a 12:30 p.m. luncheon in the Auxiliary Gymnasium of the Jones Health and Physical Education Center.

It will be a "Business Appreciation Luncheon" to which business leaders from three counties - Robeson, Scotland and Hoke - are being invited.

"We are sending out 520 formal invitations," says Dr.

Kelley," adding that members of the PSU faculty and staff are also invited.

Hodges' topic will be: "Changing U.S. Policy on World Trade and Its Effect on North Carolina."

ANOTHER OUTSTANDING RELIGION SPEAKER AT PSU

Dr. Eric Rust, another in the many outstanding religion speakers that are regularly brought to PSU, will speak next Thursday and Friday (April 17-18) in Educational Center 223. He is professor emeritus of Christian Philosophy at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Ky.

Dr. Rust has taught in his native England and in this country over a long and distinguished career. His books include: "Evolutionary Philosophies and Contemporary Theology" (Westminster Press) and "Science and Faith Toward A Theological Understanding of Nature" (Oxford University Press).

His speaking topics at PSU will be: Thursday, April 17 - 9:30 a.m., "Varieties of Existentialism;" 11 a.m., "Does Science Leave Room For God?" Friday, April 18 - 9 a.m., "Does Science Leave Room For God?;" and 11 a.m., "A Christian Understanding of Evolution."

ALPHONZO McRAE HEADS STATE MEETING IN RALEIGH

Famed for his skills as an honorable mention All-American in basketball at PSU in 1973-74, Alphonzo McRae, recruiter and counselor for the "Upward Bound" program and special services at PSU, is president of the N.C. Council of Educational Opportunity Programs.

In that role (he is concluding a two-year term), he will preside over the spring meeting of the NCEOP at N.C. State University in Raleigh May 13-14. The meeting there will be held at the Jane S. McKinnon Center.

His organization has programs at 35 different four-year and two-year institutions in the state.

"We want to set up a state-wide Scholars Bowl for students in financial need," he said. "It will be modeled after the 'College Bowl' scholastic competition on TV. The state winners would go to Atlanta next March for Southeastern United States competition."

DR. REISING ON SPECIAL COMMITTEE; BREWINGTON APPOINTED; OTHER NOTES

Dr. Bob Reising, professor of Communicative Arts at PSU, recently served on a visiting committee to Terry Sanford Senior High School in Fayetteville from the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. He was part of the N.C. State Committee on the Commission of Secondary Schools. His area of concentration during the visit was English, including drama.

Rev. Tony Brewington, director of missions for Burnt Swamp Baptist Association, attended PSU before earning his B.A. from Furman University and M.Div. from Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary at Wake Forest. He returns to Southeastern Seminary July 15-Aug. 8 to be the Fletcher Visiting Professor of Missions. He will teach a course entitled: "Missions to Native Americans."

Gary Spitzer, Pembroke State's hard-working sports information director, recently wrote the national NAIA Outdoor Track and Field Preview for the NAIA News. The cover photo for his PSU baseball brochure has also been used in "Collegiate Baseball," a national publication printed in Tucson, Ariz. Gary tells me he has also been invited to help do publicity work at the NAIA National Track and Field Championships in May at Abilene, Tex. Congratulations, Gary!

Received a nice note from Gail Allen, wife of Greg Allen who played in the recent "Old Timers Baseball Game" at PSU. She writes: "Just wanted to tell you how much Greg and I enjoy your column. It's always good to read about an old acquaintance or friend because it's hard to keep up with people who have moved on. Greg is really looking forward to next year's 'Old Timers' game. He heard from a friend, Elwood Baker, who wants to have his name added to the mailing list to receive information concerning the next one." The Allens live in Lumberton, and thanks to Gail for the nice message.

Youth for Christ News

by Violet Rose Wilkins

Pastor: Rev. Larue Barton.

Assistant pastor: W.T. Lowry. Sunday School begins at 10 a.m. Sunday worship service at 11 a.m. Youth service is every Monday night at 7:30 p.m. Bible Study is every Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. Radio program is every Sunday at 2:00 p.m. on WEWO.

Bro. Gerald Lowry opened Sunday School with a wonderful text taken from St. John, reading the entire chapter. He left verse 29 as "food for thought." "Jesus said, unto him, Thomas, because thou hast seen me, thou hast believed: blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed."

Rev. W.T. Lowry preached a wonderful text, taken from St. Matthew 3:11-12, taking text from the following verse: "I indeed baptize you with water. But there is coming one mightier than I who will baptize you with the Holy Ghost."

Mrs. Anna Mae Cooper was recognized for her 60th birthday, Elizabeth Barton, her 2nd, Ronnie Earl Locklear, his 9th, Sis. Rosie Bullard, her 60th, and Keshia Lowry, her 6th. May God bless them with many more.

Remember Sis. Pearl Lowry in your prayers. Also, keep praying for David Lowry who took sick in Church Sunday.

Rev. Larue Barton is scheduled to preach Sunday. Pray for him, that Jesus will send His anointing.

The young people will be having a get-together at Sis. Carolyn Barton's Saturday.

The Lord has blessed us with a wonderful, soul-winning revival this week. Rev. Bruford Caulder preached a wonderful sermon Sunday night, taking his text from St. John 20:14-17, naming his topic "Touching Jesus." There were 11 souls to confess Jesus as their savior Sunday night. We will never be able to thank Jesus for that glorious service.

The Lord gave us another wonderful service Monday night. Rev. Charlie Locklear preached a wonderful sermon, taking his text from St. John 4:12-13, naming his topic: "Come See A Man." We thank Jesus for the wonderful service. He blessed us abundantly. We praise Him for the soul that wonderfully accepted Him. And the two souls that received the blessing of sanctification.

Jesus is blessing us more than we can tell. Wednesday night He anointed Rev. Larue Barton who surrendered us a wonderful sermon. We thank him for the two souls that surrendered their life to Him. Come and see what God has in store for you.

Bob Scott visits Council Meeting

Pembroke - A surprise visitor to the Pembroke Council meeting Tuesday night was former governor Bob Scott, who is running for governor against incumbent Gov. Jim Hunt. Scott was on his way to speak to a gathering of supporters at Sim's Restaurant.

Saddletree Church of God News

by Lucy Jane Huggins

by Lucy Jane Huggins

Last Saturday the Youth of our church presented a great Easter program, He's Alive. They did an outstanding presentation of the life and death of Christ. Sister Lorraine Scott was the narrator. Sister Judy Jacobs was the director. One young man gave his heart to the Lord.

We had a large audience. On Sunday we had several visitors: Mrs. Sandy Locklear, Mrs. Brenda H. Lucches, Mary Frances Locklear, Gerildine Barton, Trina Joyd, Nellie Lloyd, Sylvia K. Butler, all of Lumberton, Darla Ann Woods, Mr. James C. Locklear of Pembroke, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hunt and daughter of Charlotte, NC, Mrs. Joyce Bell and daughter of Detroit, Mich. Mrs. Geraldine Lowry and children of Columbia, SC. Sister Judy Jacobs sang "He's Alive." Brother Sampson preached. Sunday night guest speaker was Rev. Ted Brooks of Pembroke, his sister, Mrs. Joyce Bell and daughter of Detroit, Mich. came to hear him. His message was "Unity in the Church."

We are all looking forward to Sunday, April 13 That will be Missionary Day. Rev. and Mrs. David Morgan, former members of our church who are serving as missionaries in Kenya, Africa, will be guests of honor. Saturday night we are having a covered dish supper for them at church. Sunday morning and Sunday afternoon during the monthly singing we will receive a free will offering for them.

Come worship with us if you can. Rev. Stanford Sampson is our pastor.
