POSITION VACANCY FOR EXPERIENCED ATTORNEY

Legal Services of North Carolina (LSNC), a statewide program, seeks an aggressive, experienced attorney to fulfill major responsibilities as a staff attorney for our Coordinated Representation Unit (CRU). CRU exists to significantly enhance the legal rights of poor people by undertaking centralized representation on critical statewide issues and by providing support to the field programs concerning their major representation needs. Deadline for receipt of applications is August 8, 1980. Finalists will be invited for interviews to be held in late August, a decision will be made immediately after the interviews, and we shall want the person chosen to begin by October 1.

What is LSNC-It is the central management program responsible for overseeing the delivery, through a confederation of multi-county field programs, of aggressive, tough-minded high-quality legal representation to most of North Carolina's almost 1.5 million poor persons. We believe in significant field and client input into policy making, state-wide coordination of major legal strategies and the establishment of programs with the resources to provide excellent service.

Duties of the CRU Staff Attorney-As a member of the Coordinated Representation Unit-composed of the LSNC directors of community education, legislation, litigation, public affairs, and training--the staff attorney would be responsible for working with the director of litigation in providing advice, information on new developments and training to field program attorneys and paralegals and for working with the members of the unit in developing interdisciplinary strategies to advance our clients' rights on a statewide basis. In the past year, members of the Coordinated Representation Unit and field program attorneys have aggressively represented clients before administrative bodies, the state legislature and the courts.

The CRU Staff Attorney will face substantial challenges, but the potential for improving the conditions of poor people in North Carolina is significant. Your responsibilities will include: (1) working with other members of the Coordinated Representation Unit in developing and implementing multi-disciplinary strategies on statewide issues; (2) advising field attorneys and paralegals in the planning, strategizing and implementation of major litigation, including federal litigation; (3) teaching inexperienced attorneys how best to practice law; (4) assisting the programs in analyzing legal issues and coordinating representation of clients with common problems, frequently through task forces comprised of experts in certain areas of law from the field programs; (5) acting as co-counsel in cases upon request; and (6) directly representing clients in various types of proceedings.

Qualifications for the Job-(1) An attorney admitted in North Carolina, however, applicants with pending county applications will be considered; (b) four or more years of experience in the practice of law; (c) expert in one or more major substantive areas of poverty law; (d) demonstrated ability in conducting major litigation in federal and state courts; (3) experience in representing clients in legislative and other non-judicial forums; (f) experience in evaluating lawyering skills and conducting lawyer training is desirable; (g) needless to say, a strong commitment to the attainment of justice for poor people; and (h) hardworking--the job will require considerable time and freedom to travel extensively throughout the State.

Salary--LSNC Salary Scale for Attorney III, $21,120 - $28,092. Depending on experience; Comprehensive Benefits Plan

Limited Term Appointment-Appointment to this position cannot be assured for more than one year; employment for longer than one year will be contingent on performance and the availability of funds.

by Joey Sasso
CONFIDENTIAL REPORT: Did Dusty do in Nasty? That's what my contact is saying. According to him, villainous J.R. Ewing of the 'Dallas' TV series, was shot by Dusty, the boyfriend of J.R.'s wife, Sue Ellen. 'As of now, the killer is definitely Dusty, but nobody around here will admit to it,' quoting a source at Lorimar Productions. But, says the source, 'None of the cast, including Larry Hagman (who plays J.R.), knows the gunman's identity.' ... Life on the set of Laverne and Shirley is just as zany as the hit TV show itself, says the girls' landlady Betty 'Edna Babish' Garrett. 'These two girls (Penny Marshall and Cindy Williams) are absolutely amazing. The directors go crazy just trying to get them on the set. It's organized chaos, that's exactly what it is.' Betty says she loves the kooky pair both personally and professionally. 'I guarantee that in, say five or ten years, a lot of the routines they do on their show will be remembered just like Laurel and Hardy are remembered,' she told me. 'They will be cult figures. Organized chaos seems to be the climate the girls need because out of it they do a lot of improvising.'

TV TICKER: Young Valerie Bertinelli may be living 'One Day At A Time,' but the co-star of the TV series is still very worried about her future. 'I'm running scared,' the 20-year-old actress admitted to me. 'I'm terribly afraid I'll never get another acting job after 'One Day At A Time' ends. I mean, I've been stereotyped. Everyone thinks of me as sweet, young 'Barbara Cooper.' No one knows I can act in other roles as well.' However, Valerie is quick to admit she's a lot like Barbara. 'Ninety percent of me is Barbara,' says Valerie, 'though I think I'm ten percent more mature than she is. And I have to admit I like her being sweet and innocent. Producers of the show have decided to keep Barbara pure and virginal and I'm glad.' ... Pernel Roberts, the moody star of TV's 'Trapper John, M.D.', keeps his weight just under 200 pounds by jogging three miles every day and eating fresh vegetables from his garden near the 'Trapper' set.

TV CLOSEUP: Andy Rooney, the resident wit of CBS' '60 Minutes,' gave us these appraisals of his colleagues: Mike Wallace--'Bright, brittle genius at what he does. He goes for the jugular vein like nobody in our business--not only goes for it, but cuts it. And for some reason, he does not seem to make all that many enemies.' Morley Safer--'Bright, easy-going, literate, good reporter. He has an inquisitive mind.' Dan Rether--'He did public-service reporting that exceeded that of perhaps any other television reporter during the years he covered the White House.' Harry Reasoner--'My closest friend of the four. He, in pure intellect, is the brightest correspondent in the business.' Andy Rooney--'He's the least intellectual of the lot. But a really sweet guy.' ... 'I love being a doctor, don't you?' actor Jack Klugman of TV's 'Quincy' asked the 119 graduates of New York's Mt. Sinai School of Medicine. Klugman, whose career was saved six years ago when a Mt. Sinai doctor removed a tumor from his throat, cautioned the new medics. 'If I ever walk into one of your offices... don't be so quick to put a stethoscope on me. Take a few minutes to listen to me. I might tell you what's wrong with me.'
