OPEN HOUSE HELD FOR SOUTH HOKE DAY CARE CENTER

by Lloyd M. Locklear
Public Relations Officer- LRDA

Monday night was another giant step for Lumbee Regional Development Association, Inc. (LRDA). This was the official opening of the South Hoke Day Care Center. The center is being housed in a community building that was built by a grant from the Housing and Urban Development (HUD) as a Community Development Project. This is another project for LRDA in its continuing effort to meet the needs of Indian people.

The new center is licensed to provide day care services for sixty (60) children from the ages, birth through five (5) years, and is open from 6:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. South Hoke Day Care Center is also an authorized center through the State of North Carolina which makes it possible for the local Department of Social Services to place children there and will pick up the cost themselves.

Mistress of Ceremonies was Ms. Lynneetah Jacobs, Community Development Day Care Director, General Community Program of LRDA. Her comments included many thanks to all the people who had a part in making available the community building for the purpose of the day care.

Rev. Elias Rogers, President of the Lumbee River Electric Membership Corporation and a member of the South Hoke Community, gave a prayer of dedication for the new facility.

Words of welcome were given by Mr. Earl H Oxendine, member of the LRDA Board of Directors. In his remarks, Mr. Oxendine recalled the many times that he had asked the residents of Hoke County to help and they did. He remarked to the parents and guests in attendance that they should be proud of having one of the finest day care centers in this area.

Ms. Francis Woods, the Center Director, and Mr. Gary Deese, the General Community Program Director.

ADVISORY COUNCIL SELECTION FOR PEMBROKE MIDDLE SCHOOL

by Connee Brayboy

Those persons currently serving as chairmen of advisory councils will compose an advisory council for Pembroke Middle School. The council will be composed of advisory council chairmen of the feeder schools to Pembroke Middle School. This matter was decided at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Robeson County Board of Education.

Upon the recommendation of Mrs. Lillian Fay Locklear, Rev. Elton Bryan was appointed to the Advisory Council of Pembroke Elementary School.

Other matters included a review of temperature control by J.C. Humphrey, assistant supt. He stated that the state board of education policy mandated that temperature controls be set at 68 degrees for grades k-6 and 65 degrees for grades 7-12.

Doug Yongue, assistant supt. reported on bus transportation. He reported on changes that had been made to improve the system and reminded board members of the needs that remain.

The board also approved some additional pay for some vocational teachers; and agreed to lease a building for the county's Indian Education Project. Plans are to lease the old building recently vacated by the Robeson County Church and Community Center. And they unanimously voted for Earl Musselwhite to serve on the Robeson Technical College's Board of Trustees. He will replace J.J. Williams who resigned that post to accept a state position on the board of community colleges. The board decided also to sell the principal's house at Orrum School which was recently vacated by Dewey Nye, principal. They agreed to sell the house at a public auction and to retain the property.

Mr. Kenneth R. Maynor, executive director of LRDA, gave compliments to the staff of the new center for the tremendous job they were doing at South Hoke. Mr. Maynor also thanked the community for letting LRDA be a part.

The program that makes this day care center possible is similar to the federal programs that served the citizens after the Great Depression. Mr. Adolph Dial, chairman of the LRDA Board of Directors, reminded the group that this center is possible through funds from both the state and federal governments. The center was designed to make available day care for low and medium income families. This will make it possible for mothers to work with the assurance that their children are receiving developmental child care.

Mr. James Martin, County Manager for Hoke County, told the group that he was glad to see the community building used for a day care center. Mr. James Hunt, vice chairman of the Hoke County Board of Commissioners, had similar remarks.

The Deputy Director of LRDA, Von Locklear, told the group that they had a center to be proud of. In his travels he has seen many day care centers, he said, and that LRDA operates some of the best he has seen.

Refreshments were served as Miriam Oxendine and Willie L. Lowery from the Lumbee River Native American Center for the Arts, provided music for the group.

This is the fifth day care center that LRDA is currently operating. The other four are: Gospel Tabernacle, Rex-Rennert, Union Chapel and Wakulla Day Care Centers.

Persons interested in enrolling children at the center may call 875-5777 (center) or apply in person at the center.
