BIG WEEK AHEAD FOR PSU: BOARD OF GOVERNORS VISITS; SPRING SEMESTER BEGINS

The Pembroke State University campus, relatively quiet during the past two weeks with students home for their Christmas vacations, will be booming with activity again in the week ahead.

Dormitories will reopen Sunday for the influx of returning students plus some new ones, and there will be registration for undergraduate, graduate, and evening college students during the time period from Jan. 5-8.

A special highlight of the week will be the visit by the full University of North Carolina Board of Governors Thursday and Friday, Jan. 8-9. Thirty-two Board members are expected, 8-10 spouses, and approximately 12 members of the UNC General Administration, including President and Mrs. William C. Friday.

A reception, hosted by PSU Chancellor and Mrs. Paul Givens for these guests and others, will be held at 5:30 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 8, in the Old Main building. This will be followed by a buffet dinner at 6:15 p.m. in the Lowry Student Center. The PSU Board of Trustees and their spouses and the PSU Chancellor's Club members and their spouses are invited to these festivities plus many other notables in the area. Three committee meetings of the Board of Governors will be held following the dinner in the Education Center.

On Friday, Jan. 9, the full Board of Governors will meet in rooms 222-223 of the PSU Education Center from 9:30 a.m. until noon. Luncheon will then be served in the Lowry Student Center. Following the luncheon, the Board of Governors will wind up their visit with a committee meeting in room 203 of the Education Center.

Coordinating arrangements for the visit is Walter Oxendine, director of resource development and alumni affairs at PSU.

REGISTRATION TIME SCHEDULES

Here is a breakdown of times to register at PSU for the spring semester.

Evening college registration is Monday, Jan. 5, from 6-7 p.m. in Sampson Hall.

Registration for regular undergraduate students is Tuesday, Jan. 6, from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m. in the Auxiliary Gymnasium of the Jones Health and Physical Education Center. Classes for undergraduate students begin Wednesday, Jan. 7.

Graduate school registration for those seeking a Master of Arts degree in Education is Thursday, Jan. 8, at 6 p.m. in Room 201 of the Business Administration Building. This building is being used because the Board of Governors will be using the Education Center. Classes for graduate students begin the same evening, Jan. 8, at 8 p.m.

During the fall semester, PSU had an enrollment of 2,301 students of which 2,125 were undergraduate students and 176 were graduate students.

ADOLPH DIAL: A MAN WITH MANY FRIENDS

Adolph Dial, chairman of the American Indian Studies Department at Pembroke State, has been mentioned prominently as a leading candidate for the state legislative position resigned by Horace Locklear.

Known all over the nation as an authority on the American Indian, Dial was the key force behind making the outdoor drama, "Strike At The Wind," a reality. A leader in the organization of the Lumbee Bank and chairman of the Robeson County Church and Community Center, Dial has the warm personality which enables him to get along with all three major races of Robeson County.

"I can do a lot for all of the people of Robeson County," he has indicated in the past. In serving on committees with Dial, we have been impressed by his ability to get things done.

DR. ANDRE NADEAU IS HOME

Dr. Andre Nadeau, professor of physical education at PSU who has done such splendid work with the mentally retarded and special olympics, is home from the Duke Medical Center after being examined and treated there since Dec. 19. Dr. Nadeau's many friends will want to write "Mr. Enthusiasm" at his residence at Rt. 2, Box 313, Laurinburg, N.C. 28352.

Pembroke State University has seen its share of serious illnesses during this school year. Billy Lee's son, Patrick, had brain surgery. Walter Oxendine had a slight stroke. Dr. Richard Pisano had open heart surgery. And now Dr. Nadeau has this strange illness. Prayfully, 1981 will be better "or all."

NICE NOTE ON PHIL DAVIS STORY

Phil Davis, who operates three Jimmy's Seafood restaurants in this area in Lumberton, Laurinburg and Southern Pines, was a 1974 cum laude graduate of Pembroke State. He was also the subject of a recent Christmas story by your correspondent about the way he epitomizes the spirit of Christmas by "doing for others."

Dr. Harold C. Herring of Fairmont, one of our favorite people, wrote the following letter which said in part: "I want to commend you on the fine article that you wrote concerning Phil Davis and his activities...It is really refreshing to read articles such as this."

It is nice to have people such as Phil Davis to write about.

JAN. 24 TO BE "SENIOR DAY" FOR MUSICIANS

Dr. Robert Romine, chairman of the PSU Music Department, is designating Saturday, Jan. 24, as "Senior Day" for high school musicians of the area. The schedule calls for the high school musicians to meet in the PSU Band Room of the Music Annex, then proceed as follows: 10 a.m.--Meet PSU music faculty members and music students; 10:30 a.m.--Explanation of PSU Music Degree program; 11 a.m.--Recital by PSU students; noon--Lunch, compliments of PSU Music Department; 1 p.m.--Tour of campus; and 1:45 p.m.--Optional performances by visiting students with comments by PSU faculty. The latter may serve as an audition for a music scholarship to PSU.

TICKETS TO HOMECOMING ON SALE

The New Year brings with it a reminder that PSU's homecoming is only two weeks away on Saturday, Jan. 17, and tickets can be purchased to all of the activities for $10 per person. These tickets cover the alumni banquet, both women's and men's basketball games, and the Braves Club Victory Party afterwards. Of the $10 purchase, $1 goes to the PSU athletic department and $1 to the Braves Club.

To obtain tickets, please write to PSU Alumni Office or telephone 521-4214, Ext. 213. Lucky ticket holders will have a chance to win a free chain saw at the alumni banquet. The chain saw is compliments of Jerry Lowry of Lowry's Chainsaw of Maxton.

OBVIOUS?

For many years, foods containing sugars were believed to be the major cause of cavities, but the more that was learned about the cavity-causing process the more complex it was found to be.

All sugars—whether from honey, fresh fruits, or processed foods—as well as many other carbohydrates, can be used by microorganisms in the mouth to produce decay-causing acid.

Sugar in liquids, such as soft drinks and juices, remains in the mouth for shorter periods of time than that in solid foods. Thus, such liquids are less prone to cause cavities than solid sticky foods. Professional thinking has changed considerably in recent years on the question of how to prevent cavities. For example, it is now known that fluoridated drinking water can reduce cavities up to 65% and, independent of sugar intake, proper techniques of brushing and flossing, when practiced on a continuing basis, can practically eliminate cavities altogether. You can reduce cavities by following each meal with a thorough brushing and by frequent flossing. Remember, "clean teeth don't decay."

SKInformation by Linda Allen Schoen

What is your skin type? Dry, normal, oily or combination? Even if you think you know yours, it's a good idea to check periodically. Skin types change from year to year, even season to season. And using the correct skin-care products is essential to having beautiful, healthy-looking skin.

Here is a simple test to determine your skin type: Before washing your face in the morning, tear a brown paper bag into small pieces. Rub cheeks, nose, chin and forehead with a separate piece for each area. If skin is normal, there will be a slight oily residue on the paper. If the paper becomes almost translucent, that area is too oily. If there is nothing at all on the paper, that area is too dry.

If the test shows that your skin is the same all over, you can follow a specific skin care regimen. If the test indicates a combination complexion, you must practice combination care. Select a skin care product that is closest to your skin type. Then use a combination of products to balance your skin. For example, use a skin care product that is specifically made for your skin type, whether it is dry, oily or combination.

Pembroke Jaycee of the Month

Kelvin Collins was chosen Jaycee of the Month for November by the Pembroke Jaycees. Kelvin has been with the Jaycees only two months and he is on his way to becoming a leader among this fellow Jaycees.

Involved with," Kelvin also stated that he was excited about the jaycee challenge and he is looking forward to 1981 for even a greater challenge to help make the community a better place to live.

Said Collins of the jaycees, "They are the best organization any young man could be involved with." Kelvin also stated that he was excited about the jaycee challenge and he is looking forward to 1981 for even a greater challenge to help make the community a better place to live.

Collins is self employed. He is married to the former D. Carol Jacobs and they reside at Route 2, Pembroke.

The Pembroke Jaycees are really excited about his membership into the organization and extend a hearty welcome to him.
