Another thought that enters our mind is that Santa is busy at the North Pole. It is impossible for Lumbee

Regional Development Association to send all the children in their Lumbee to the North Pole, so the next best thing is to send them

North to Cross Creek Mall.

The Mall made arrangements

Back, Leg Pains Will Get Worse Before Better BY DR. ROGER R. ROFF

An estimated half million people will be disabled this year by spinal defects which cause low back and leg pain. What is being done to correct this problem?

Our research in-dicates that most low back pain and associated leg pains are caused by truly mechanical defects in the alignment of one or more segments of the lower spine.

These spinal segments may be displaced by a fall, accident or back strain. Another frequent cause is chronic posture decay.

It's reasonably simple. When a spinal segment is displaced, supporting muscles ligaments may be stretched or torn causing acute and disabling back pain: When a segment is displaced beyond a critical point it partly closes the nerve openings between adjacent segments. The result is excruciating pain, which needless to say, is anything but reasonable.

The spinal nerves which supply the legs pass through the openings between adjacent segments of the lower spine. You see, when one of the segments is displac-ed, the nerves to the legs might be pinched or irritated. This brings about the nerve pain that extends down the leg. What can be done for the person with low back and associated leg pain? Chiropractic experience shows that individuals with acute and chronic problems of this nature respond ex-tremely well. And, I might add, early detection of the problem adds to the effecfectiveness of care and prevention of progressive spinal defects.

Low back and leg pains often amount to needless suffering, in my view. If you suffer from these problems contact Dr. Hoff at 239-0693 and he will be happy to discuss your problem with you; or call 739-0693 for a convenient appointment.

Does Alcohol Control You?

By the loss of control, I do not mean that a person gets drunk everytime they drink, but that they drink more than they intend to. And they get drunk with increasing frequency. Anyone who "Just has to have a drink, no matter when, at time is in danger of becoming dependent upon alcohol." From dependence upon

It is true that the need for a "Morning Drink" is one of the symptoms of the crucial or chronic stages of alcoholism.

But simply because one does not crave a drink in the morning does not mean that they are free from the disease of alcoholism. Again, it is the loss of control that determines whether a person is an alcoholic or whether alcohol is causing him continuing trouble in some department of your life. In fact, if someone in your life is insiting that your drinking is excessive, that is one of the best signs that it really is a problem. And you ought to do something about it. Your trouble is never going to get better as long as you drink, it will only get worse.
